Probers Delve Into Beck's Dealings With Ward & Co.

Unionization Followed Help In Proxy Fight

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Senate probers were given an inside story today of how Dave Beck organized 52,000 employes of Montgomery Ward & Co. into the Teamsters union after supporting the management in a bitter proxy fight two years ago.

The story came from Alfons Landa of Washington, attorney for the Fruehauf Trailer Co. and a witness before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Landa testified the Teamsters Union, headed by Beck, held two million dollars worth of stock in the mail order house and had intended to vote it for financier Louis Wolfson in Wolfson's 1955 fight to wrest control from the Sewell Avery management.

Landa related he happened to encounter Beck aboard a Fruehauf Co. airplane and expressed "surprise" that the Teamsters would support "the raider" Wolfson.

"I said I was sure that if he would support the Montgomery Ward management he could have the opportunity of organizing Montgomery Ward into the Teamsters Union," the witness said.

Beck seized on this as "a good idea," Landa testified. He said Beck told him Avery had resisted all previous attempts by the Teamsters to unionize the mail order company.

Goldwater Indignant

Landa said he passed the word along to Montgomery Ward, the Teamsters voted against Wolfson, and subsequently the Teamsters organized the employes.

Expressing indignation at the story, Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) demanded of Landa:

"Do you think it's proper for unions to go into proxy fights and buy control of companies just so they can organize the workers regardless of the workers' wishes?"

Landa replied he had never thought of it that way. "I just made the suggestion to Mr. Beck that I thought it would overcome the resistance of Mr. Sewell Avery," the lawyer said.

Monopolistic union power over the lives of corporations or individuals, Goldwater barked back, "is one of the ultimate evils that we are seeing come out of these hearings.

"I should think you would be ashamed at contributing one small part to it."

The giant Teamsters Union, accused of being controlled by corrupt influences, is in danger of being expelled from the AFL-CIO unless it cleans house.

Meany-Teamster Parley

In this connection, a special committee of Teamsters officials asked today for a parley with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany turned down a proposal to discuss the status of Beck, but agreed to meet with the committee tomorrow to talk over "general problems" of the union.

It has been brought out before the Senate group that Landa was a co-signer of a $200,000 note intended to help Beck out of financial difficulties in 1954. He was also one of the negotiators of a 1½-million-dollar loan Beck made to the Fruehauf Co. earlier from union funds. It has been testified that both loans have now been repaid.

Earlier, Landa told of having offered Beck half the profits — more than $100,000 — resulting from the 1½-million-dollar Teamsters loan to Fruehauf. It has been testified the money was used to acquire and bolster Fruehauf stock in another proxy fight.

When Landa said Beck refused the offer, Sen. Goldwater exclaimed that this was "the first time in all the hearings I've heard Mr. Beck turning down anything."

Honeymooning In Their 80s

William S. Utley, 88, Evansville, Ind., and his bride, 84-year-old Ellen Belle, Mount Vernon, Ind., are honeymooning in Denver following an elopement. "Our children didn't like it when we started keeping company," Utley said. "They thought it was a lot of foolishness. But we decided to get married anyway." The ceremony was performed at Nashville, Ill., where the new Mrs. Utley has relatives. (AP Photofax)

Hoffa Indicted On Telephone Tapping Charge

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, was indicted today on charges of tapping telephones of the union's Detroit headquarters.

Hoffa allegedly dipped into the union's till for $8,429 to pay for the wiretaps. The government said he was able to sit in his private office and listen in on telephone calls elsewhere in the headquarters.

The purpose, a federal grand jury claimed, was to eavesdrop on union members who might be potential witnesses before a Senate Rackets Investigating Committee and a federal grand jury in Detroit.

Two Others Accused

Indicted with Hoffa were Bernard Brennan of Detroit, president of Teamsters Local 337; and Bernard Spindel, a professional New York wiretapper. Wiretapping is legal on the state level in New York with permission of the courts.

U. S. Dist. Judge Lawrence E. Walsh set the arraignment of the three for May 21. The conspiracy charge lodged against then carries a maximum year in prison upon conviction and a $10,000 fine each.

Heir-Apparent To Beck

The chunky, 44-year-old Hoffa came up through the rough-and-tumble of Michigan unionism to a post of power in the Teamsters at the age of 22. Later, he became the $21,000-a-year ninth vice president of the union.

Hoffa long has been regarded as behind-the-scenes boss of the Teamsters, although this was denied by union officials. He was heir-apparent to Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters, especially when Beck recently became embroiled with Senate rackets investigators.

U.S. Arms Of Atom Capability Might Be Sent To South Korea

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated tonight the United States is considering sending weapons of atomic capability to South Korea.

The defense chief was asked by newsmen about a statement earlier today by Secretary of State Dulles that this government is considering sending what Dulles called more modern, effective weapons to the two U. S. Army divisions and the South Korean units facing the modernized Communist forces across the truce line.

In replying, Wilson did not specify whether any arms shipments would go just to U. S. forces or to the 20 South Korean divisions as well. Newsmen got the impression, however, he was talking about equipment for U. S. units.

Wilson said the "exact list" of weapons would have to be decided a little later but he added:

"It is the same kind of thing we are talking about for Europe."

Weapons now in Europe include the Air Force's Matador guided missile, the Army's Corporal guided missile and the Honest John Rocket—all capable of carrying nuclear warheads.

Wilson told reporters the matter had been discussed at the National Security Council sessions. He said he hoped "there will be a prompt decision." He added that the fact Dulles discussed it in his news conference today indicates "a decision is not far off."

Plane Turns Back

HONOLULU, May 14 (AP)—A Pan American plane carrying actors Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball, their two children and 50 other passengers, returned to Honolulu today after turning back 900 miles at sea on its way to San Francisco.

A Pan American spokesman said the pilot feathered a propeller and shut off one of the four engines because of excessive oil consumption.

U.S. To Resume Sending Planes, Tanks To Tito

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The United States, with the approval of President Eisenhower, is resuming shipment to Yugoslavia of jet combat planes, tanks and other heavy military equipment.

This was announced today by the State Department, ending almost a year's suspension of major military aid to the independent Communist country.

The announcement said the decision to start arms moving again was based on a finding by the President that "Yugoslavia is and firmly intends to remain independent" and that "it is in the interest of the United States" to keep it free of Soviet domination.

The restored aid program will provide Yugoslavia with additional jet fighter planes in the immediate future. Some F86s and F84s released by this country's European allies have already been reconditioned and are on European fields awaiting delivery.

The military aid program, started about five years ago for Yugoslavia, was interrupted in mid-1956 except for spare parts for American military equipment which the Yugoslav forces had previously received.

The interruption was ordered by the President because of bitter objections in Congress to giving military equipment to a Communist country, particularly after Yugoslav President Tito had joined in efforts with Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev to improve Russian-Yugoslav relations.

In recent months, after the uprising against Communist rule in Hungary, relations between Moscow and Belgrade have cooled considerably.

Billy Graham Launches His New York Crusade

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Billy Graham takes over a new pulpit tomorrow night in the heart of Manhattan.

His parish: The city. His tabernacle: Madison Square Garden.

It will be Graham's largest bid to kindle faith among men, as the doors open on his long-planned New York crusade.

Of all his campaigns, he said, this one is his "most challenging and significant." It will run seven nights a week for at least six weeks.

Church backers hope that with a groundwell of new public religious interest, the crusade may go on weeks beyond that, perhaps moving to a baseball stadium for the summer.

Tonight, in a brief ceremony at the Garden, Graham offers a message and prayer dedicating the arena to God's service.

Traditionally, it's a place of sports and entertainment — of fights, games and circuses.

But Graham hopes to turn it into a wellspring of devotion to Christ that will spread across this city of millions.

The evangelist has drawn massive turnouts in many U. S. cities and in capitals of the world—in London, Paris, Berlin, Tokyo, Helsinki, Stockholm, Manila, Delhi and elsewhere.

But he sees as his "greatest opportunity and responsibility" his effort in New York—this so-called "Babylon on the Hudson."

By church statistics, New York is not very religious.

Nearly 60 per cent of its people are not actively connected with any church or synagogue.

Tito Calls For Ban On A-Weapon Tests

BELGRADE, May 14 (AP)—President Tito tonight called for cancellation of all nuclear weapons tests, a world wide cut in armament and peaceful settlement of all international issues. Tito said Yugoslavia was appealing to "all governments, public and scientific organizations, to all public workers and men of good will" to mobilize for a positive solution of these problems.

Dulles Favors "Open Skies" Test In Arctic

Secretary Says Other Agreements Bound To Follow

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he favors a limited arms inspection agreement with Russia covering sparsely populated arctic area such as Siberia, Alaska and Northern Canada.

Dulles said it would be easier to win Russian acceptance of such an arctic disarmament plan than one covering a heavily populated European zone where there are political complications.

The secretary told his news conference an arctic agreement would relax East-West tensions because it would include aerial inspection of "potential launching sites which might be used in an atomic war."

"Ice-Breaking" Pact

Dulles said it would make it "easier, almost inevitable that other East-West agreements would follow providing arms inspection in other areas of the world."

He suggested the arctic areas would be "an easier place to start" because only three governments, the United States, Russia and Canada, need be involved. Canada, he said, has already made clear it is "sympathetically disposed" to such a disarmament test.

Dulles did not rule out the possibility of agreeing with Russia on a similar aerial inspection zone in Europe, but, he noted, the difficulties in Europe are greater because more countries and people are involved.

New Arms To Korea

On other international problems Dulles said:

1. The United States is "considering introduction of more modern, more effective weapons" into South Korea to replace outdated equipment and to counter violations of the five-year armistice by Red China. The Chinese Reds, he said, have sent planes, new weapons and other supplies into Northern Korea.

2. This government would not oppose a move by Israel to send a "test ship" into the Egyptian-operated Suez Canal. It would, however, oppose any attempt by Israel "to settle the matter by force or acts of war."

Army Suspends Volunteer Plan

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Army today suspended until July 1 the enlistment of young men of predraft age for six months of military training.

Asst. Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton said the halt in recruiting of men with no prior military service was only temporary and that it was done to "unclog the pipeline" overloaded by a rush of men to join up in the last few months.

Milton, the Army's top manpower official, said the suspension would not apply to the National Guard, which is also enlisting recruits for six months of active military training.

He said the recent success of the reserve training program has "surpassed the Army's most optimistic expectations" and voiced the belief that the program, after a slow start nearly two years ago, has finally convinced the American people that it offers the best way for a young man to discharge his immediate military obligations with the least impact on his career.

British Government Ends Gas Rationing

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—Britain tonight ended gasoline rationing in a swift followup of its decision to use the Suez Canal again.

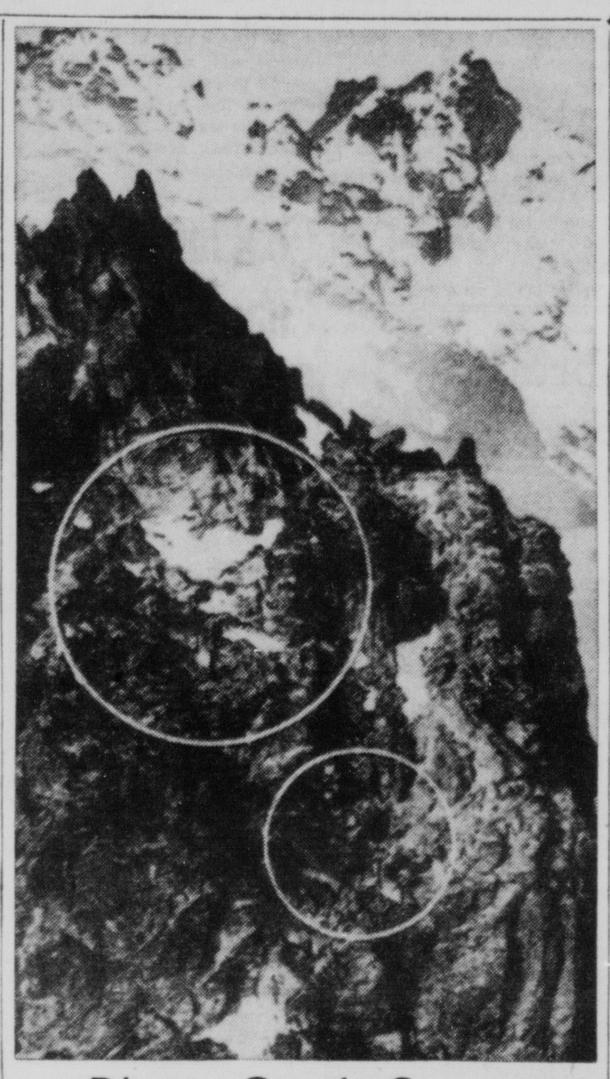

The Macmillan government's action appeared designed to mollify angry Tories who have bitterly denounced as a "capitulation" Britain's acceptance of Egypt's terms for running Suez.

Prime Minister Macmillan's Suez policies will face the test of an opposition Socialist censure motion in the House of Commons in a two-day debate beginning tomorrow.

Senate Group Deepens Slash In USIA Funds

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today outdid House budget cutters and made new reductions in a money bill to finance the State and Justice Departments and the U. S. Information Agency.

Completing action on the measure, the committee chopped almost 16 million dollars more from funds for USIA, which President Eisenhower has asked Congress to support generously.

The total amount of the bill, as recommended to the Senate by the committee, was $563,085,293. This was $102,564,509 less than Eisenhower had requested and $714,500 less than the House had voted earlier.

Unusual Action

Rarely does the Senate cut appropriations bills below the amount decided on by the House.

The Senate group voted to give USIA 90¼ millions to operate the Voice of America and other overseas information programs in the fiscal year starting July 1. The House had voted 106 million, which was nearly 38 million dollars less than the President asked.

USIA Curbs Proposed

The appropriations committee, besides cutting USIA funds, recommended that:

1. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee consider legislation to revoke USIA's independent status and put it back in the State Department.

2. USIA be denied the use of any part of its appropriations for any overseas activity unless director Arthur Larson finds the activity is not in competition with press associations or other private news enterprises.

Victim Of Plane Crash Reported Carrying $80,000

CHILLIWACK, B.C., May 14 (AP)—A mystery of a passenger's $80,000 was added today to the search for airliner wreckage and 62 bodies on a mountain near this southern British Columbia town.

The Trans - Canada Airlines plane crashed last Dec. 9. Pieces of wreckage were found Sunday and Monday, and ground parties were searching today for the main part of the plane and for the victim's bodies.

D. D. Murphy, district head of air regulations, told searchers a Chinese passenger was carrying $80,000 in a money belt around his waist.

The passenger was identified as Kwan Song, en route from the Orient to New York.

Girl May Have Known Slayer

BRISTOL, Conn., May 14 (AP)—Police were checking the possibility today that pretty, blonde 8-year-old Brenda Jane Doucette was strangled and stabbed 22 times by someone she knew.

Police Chief Thomas V. McCarthy said she was an honor student in her third grade class, "very intelligent," and "shy and bashful in the presence of strangers." That's why police feel she knew her slayer.

The child's body was found by bloodhounds last night in an isolated "lover's lane" area, three miles from the farmhouse where she resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Doucette.

The family came here two years ago from Bangor, Maine, where the body was to be taken tonight.

A Waterbury Hospital pathologist, Dr. Joseph O. Collins, said Brenda was stabbed with "a fine, rectangular instrument" which could have been a screw driver.

Rival Attorneys In Clash As Miller's Trial Opens

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Attorneys clashed in court today over whether playwright Arthur Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, had denied ever having been a Communist.

The dispute provided a highlight in the first day of Miller's trial in Federal District Court on contempt of Congress charges.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William Hitz said the House Committee on Un-American Activities had information that Miller had been a member of the party from 1943 until at least 1947.

And, Hitz said, so far as he knows Miller has never denied past party membership "in so many words."

"Mr. Miller denied that he had ever been a member of the Communist party and Mr. Hitz knows it," protested Joseph L. Rauh Jr., one of Miller's attorneys.

The two-count contempt indictment on which Miller is on trial grew out of his refusal to identify Communist writers with whom he said he attended five or six meetings in 1947 in New York.

Miller readily answered all questions concerning himself when he appeared before a subcommittee of the House committee last June 26, but balked at naming others.

He said "my conscience will not permit me to use the name of another person." He also said such questions were not pertinent to the subject of inquiry.

The subcommittee was looking into what Chairman Walter (D-Pa) called "fraudulent procurement and misuse" of American passports.

Slash Might Invite Attack, Nation Told

President Warns Reduction In Funds 'Needless Gamble'

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower told the nation tonight defense funds must not be slashed because Soviet despots will commit the "extreme folly" of attacking if they ever feel safe in doing so.

In a 30-minute talk by TV and radio from his White House office, the President sought to stem the appropriation-chopping wave in Congress and preserve his $71,800,000,000 budget without big cuts.

In his prepared text he said it would be "a fearful gamble" if defense funds, which compose by far the biggest share of the budget, were materially reduced.

But in his actual talk the President seemed to hesitate momentarily as he came to the phrase "fearful gamble," then changed it to "needless gamble."

Of the budget as a whole, the President said:

"No great reductions in it are possible unless Congress eliminates or curtails existing federal programs, or all of us demand less service from the government, or unless we are willing to gamble with the safety of our country."

Second Speech Next Tuesday

After Eisenhower's address, the White House announced his second nationwide TV-radio speech in defense of the administration's budget is scheduled for next Tuesday night.

In that talk the President plans to concentrate on his nearly four-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

Despite the President's plea, criticism of his budget continued in Congress tonight. Sen. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, seized upon Eisenhower's statement that the budget was pruned and 13 billion dollars in departmental requests eliminated before it was submitted to Congress.

Johnson said that if Eisenhower's "businessman's team overestimated its needs by 13 billion dollars" a further review may disclose places for further economies.

He said Eisenhower will "find plenty of willing hands" in his call on Congress for feasible ways of economizing to pave the way for future tax cuts.

In talking of the defense portions of the budget, Eisenhower stressed:

"Price Of Peace High"

"The plain truth is that the price of peace is high."

And he added that he sees no prospect for any immediate relaxation "of international tensions to provide the basis now" for substantial spending reductions.

Striving to stem the budget-cutting tide in Congress, Eisenhower pledged that his administration is "determined to search out ways

Hussein Won't Go To Baghdad

AMMAN, Jordan, May 14 (AP)—King Hussein has refused an invitation to an anti-Communist Arab "summit" conference in Baghdad.

A palace announcement of the young King's decision was made shortly after Foreign Minister Samir Rifai had told a news conference the invitation had been received from Hussein's cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, and King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

No reason was given for Hussein's decision. The wording of the palace statement hinted, however, that still unsettled conditions in Jordan prevented the King from leaving the country at present.

At his news conference, Rifai said present emergency measures in Jordan would be curtailed "when the government is convinced by the behavior of the citizens that the situation has become normal."

When Hussein stirred up a Middle East crisis on April 10, risking his throne and dismemberment of his country by dismissing the leftist and pro-Egyptian government of Suleiman Nabulsi, he was reported to have received promises of support from Saud.

France Won't Yield

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—France will continue to boycott the Suez Canal regardless of what other Western powers do, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said today. "The French government has not changed its position," the spokesman told a news conference.

U.S. To Resume Sending Planes, Tanks To Tito

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The United States, with the approval of President Eisenhower, is resuming shipment to Yugoslavia of jet combat planes, tanks and other heavy military equipment.

This was announced today by the State Department, ending almost a year's suspension of major military aid to the independent Communist country.

The announcement said the decision to start arms moving again was based on a finding by the President that "Yugoslavia is and firmly intends to remain independent" and that "it is in the interest of the United States" to keep it free of Soviet domination.

Tito Calls For Ban On A-Weapon Tests

BELGRADE, May 14 (AP)—President Tito tonight called for cancellation of all nuclear weapons tests, a world wide cut in armament and peaceful settlement of all international issues. Tito said Yugoslavia was appealing to "all governments, public and scientific organizations, to all public workers and men of good will" to mobilize for a positive solution of these problems.

Dulles Favors "Open Skies" Test In Arctic

Secretary Says Other Agreements Bound To Follow

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he favors a limited arms inspection agreement with Russia covering sparsely populated arctic area such as Siberia, Alaska and Northern Canada.

Dulles said it would be easier to win Russian acceptance of such an arctic disarmament plan than one covering a heavily populated European zone where there are political complications.

The secretary told his news conference an arctic agreement would relax East-West tensions because it would include aerial inspection of "potential launching sites which might be used in an atomic war."

"Ice-Breaking" Pact

Dulles said it would make it "easier, almost inevitable that other East-West agreements would follow providing arms inspection in other areas of the world."

He suggested the arctic areas would be "an easier place to start" because only three governments, the United States, Russia and Canada, need be involved. Canada, he said, has already made clear it is "sympathetically disposed" to such a disarmament test.

Dulles did not rule out the possibility of agreeing with Russia on a similar aerial inspection zone in Europe, but, he noted, the difficulties in Europe are greater because more countries and people are involved.

New Arms To Korea

On other international problems Dulles said:

1. The United States is "considering introduction of more modern, more effective weapons" into South Korea to replace outdated equipment and to counter violations of the five-year armistice by Red China. The Chinese Reds, he said, have sent planes, new weapons and other supplies into Northern Korea.

2. This government would not oppose a move by Israel to send a "test ship" into the Egyptian-operated Suez Canal. It would, however, oppose any attempt by Israel "to settle the matter by force or acts of war."

Army Suspends Volunteer Plan

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Army today suspended until July 1 the enlistment of young men of predraft age for six months of military training.

Asst. Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton said the halt in recruiting of men with no prior military service was only temporary and that it was done to "unclog the pipeline" overloaded by a rush of men to join up in the last few months.

Milton, the Army's top manpower official, said the suspension would not apply to the National Guard, which is also enlisting recruits for six months of active military training.

He said the recent success of the reserve training program has "surpassed the Army's most optimistic expectations" and voiced the belief that the program, after a slow start nearly two years ago, has finally convinced the American people that it offers the best way for a young man to discharge his immediate military obligations with the least impact on his career.

British Government Ends Gas Rationing

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—Britain tonight ended gasoline rationing in a swift followup of its decision to use the Suez Canal again.

The Macmillan government's action appeared designed to mollify angry Tories who have bitterly denounced as a "capitulation" Britain's acceptance of Egypt's terms for running Suez.

Prime Minister Macmillan's Suez policies will face the test of an opposition Socialist censure motion in the House of Commons in a two-day debate beginning tomorrow.

Senate Group Deepens Slash In USIA Funds

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today outdid House budget cutters and made new reductions in a money bill to finance the State and Justice Departments and the U. S. Information Agency.

Completing action on the measure, the committee chopped almost 16 million dollars more from funds for USIA, which President Eisenhower has asked Congress to support generously.

The total amount of the bill, as recommended to the Senate by the committee, was $563,085,293. This was $102,564,509 less than Eisenhower had requested and $714,500 less than the House had voted earlier.

Unusual Action

Rarely does the Senate cut appropriations bills below the amount decided on by the House.

The Senate group voted to give USIA 90¼ millions to operate the Voice of America and other overseas information programs in the fiscal year starting July 1. The House had voted 106 million, which was nearly 38 million dollars less than the President asked.

USIA Curbs Proposed

The appropriations committee, besides cutting USIA funds, recommended that:

1. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee consider legislation to revoke USIA's independent status and put it back in the State Department.

2. USIA be denied the use of any part of its appropriations for any overseas activity unless director Arthur Larson finds the activity is not in competition with press associations or other private news enterprises.

Victim Of Plane Crash Reported Carrying $80,000

CHILLIWACK, B.C., May 14 (AP)—A mystery of a passenger's $80,000 was added today to the search for airliner wreckage and 62 bodies on a mountain near this southern British Columbia town.

The Trans - Canada Airlines plane crashed last Dec. 9. Pieces of wreckage were found Sunday and Monday, and ground parties were searching today for the main part of the plane and for the victim's bodies.

D. D. Murphy, district head of air regulations, told searchers a Chinese passenger was carrying $80,000 in a money belt around his waist.

The passenger was identified as Kwan Song, en route from the Orient to New York.

Girl May Have Known Slayer

BRISTOL, Conn., May 14 (AP)—Police were checking the possibility today that pretty, blonde 8-year-old Brenda Jane Doucette was strangled and stabbed 22 times by someone she knew.

Police Chief Thomas V. McCarthy said she was an honor student in her third grade class, "very intelligent," and "shy and bashful in the presence of strangers." That's why police feel she knew her slayer.

The child's body was found by bloodhounds last night in an isolated "lover's lane" area, three miles from the farmhouse where she resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Doucette.

The family came here two years ago from Bangor, Maine, where the body was to be taken tonight.

A Waterbury Hospital pathologist, Dr. Joseph O. Collins, said Brenda was stabbed with "a fine, rectangular instrument" which could have been a screw driver.

Billy Graham Launches His New York Crusade

His parish: The city. His tabernacle: Madison Square Garden.

It will be Graham's largest bid to kindle faith among men, as the doors open on his long-planned New York crusade.

Of all his campaigns, he said, this one is his "most challenging and significant." It will run seven nights a week for at least six weeks.

Church backers hope that with a groundwell of new public religious interest, the crusade may go on weeks beyond that, perhaps moving to a baseball stadium for the summer.

Tonight, in a brief ceremony at the Garden, Graham offers a message and prayer dedicating the arena to God's service.

Traditionally, it's a place of sports and entertainment — of fights, games and circuses.

But Graham hopes to turn it into a wellspring of devotion to Christ that will spread across this city of millions.

The evangelist has drawn massive turnouts in many U. S. cities and in capitals of the world—in London, Paris, Berlin, Tokyo, Helsinki, Stockholm, Manila, Delhi and elsewhere.

But he sees as his "greatest opportunity and responsibility" his effort in New York—this so-called "Babylon on the Hudson."

By church statistics, New York is not very religious.

Nearly 60 per cent of its people are not actively connected with any church or synagogue.

Rival Attorneys In Clash As Miller's Trial Opens

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Attorneys clashed in court today over whether playwright Arthur Miller, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe, had denied ever having been a Communist.

The dispute provided a highlight in the first day of Miller's trial in Federal District Court on contempt of Congress charges.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William Hitz said the House Committee on Un-American Activities had information that Miller had been a member of the party from 1943 until at least 1947.

And, Hitz said, so far as he knows Miller has never denied past party membership "in so many words."

"Mr. Miller denied that he had ever been a member of the Communist party and Mr. Hitz knows it," protested Joseph L. Rauh Jr., one of Miller's attorneys.

The two-count contempt indictment on which Miller is on trial grew out of his refusal to identify Communist writers with whom he said he attended five or six meetings in 1947 in New York.

Miller readily answered all questions concerning himself when he appeared before a subcommittee of the House committee last June 26, but balked at naming others.

He said "my conscience will not permit me to use the name of another person." He also said such questions were not pertinent to the subject of inquiry.

The subcommittee was looking into what Chairman Walter (D-Pa) called "fraudulent procurement and misuse" of American passports.

Slash Might Invite Attack, Nation Told

President Warns Reduction In Funds 'Needless Gamble'

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower told the nation tonight defense funds must not be slashed because Soviet despots will commit the "extreme folly" of attacking if they ever feel safe in doing so.

In a 30-minute talk by TV and radio from his White House office, the President sought to stem the appropriation-chopping wave in Congress and preserve his $71,800,000,000 budget without big cuts.

In his prepared text he said it would be "a fearful gamble" if defense funds, which compose by far the biggest share of the budget, were materially reduced.

But in his actual talk the President seemed to hesitate momentarily as he came to the phrase "fearful gamble," then changed it to "needless gamble."

Of the budget as a whole, the President said:

"No great reductions in it are possible unless Congress eliminates or curtails existing federal programs, or all of us demand less service from the government, or unless we are willing to gamble with the safety of our country."

Second Speech Next Tuesday

After Eisenhower's address, the White House announced his second nationwide TV-radio speech in defense of the administration's budget is scheduled for next Tuesday night.

In that talk the President plans to concentrate on his nearly four-billion-dollar foreign aid program.

Despite the President's plea, criticism of his budget continued in Congress tonight. Sen. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, seized upon Eisenhower's statement that the budget was pruned and 13 billion dollars in departmental requests eliminated before it was submitted to Congress.

Johnson said that if Eisenhower's "businessman's team overestimated its needs by 13 billion dollars" a further review may disclose places for further economies.

He said Eisenhower will "find plenty of willing hands" in his call on Congress for feasible ways of economizing to pave the way for future tax cuts.

In talking of the defense portions of the budget, Eisenhower stressed:

"Price Of Peace High"

"The plain truth is that the price of peace is high."

And he added that he sees no prospect for any immediate relaxation "of international tensions to provide the basis now" for substantial spending reductions.

Striving to stem the budget-cutting tide in Congress, Eisenhower pledged that his administration is "determined to search out ways

Hussein Won't Go To Baghdad

AMMAN, Jordan, May 14 (AP)—King Hussein has refused an invitation to an anti-Communist Arab "summit" conference in Baghdad.

A palace announcement of the young King's decision was made shortly after Foreign Minister Samir Rifai had told a news conference the invitation had been received from Hussein's cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, and King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

No reason was given for Hussein's decision. The wording of the palace statement hinted, however, that still unsettled conditions in Jordan prevented the King from leaving the country at present.

At his news conference, Rifai said present emergency measures in Jordan would be curtailed "when the government is convinced by the behavior of the citizens that the situation has become normal."

When Hussein stirred up a Middle East crisis on April 10, risking his throne and dismemberment of his country by dismissing the leftist and pro-Egyptian government of Suleiman Nabulsi, he was reported to have received promises of support from Saud.

France Won't Yield

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—France will continue to boycott the Suez Canal regardless of what other Western powers do, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said today. "The French government has not changed its position," the spokesman told a news conference.

Haitians Arm Selves, Join In Strike Amid Charges Elections Are Rigged

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 14 (AP)—Haiti's ruling council today battled a rising tide of rebellion that threatened at any moment to explode into a shooting war.

A wave of general strikes and anti-government demonstrations swept this Negro Caribbean republic. Police raided radio stations in the capital carrying broadcasts urging the people to rebel.

Critics charged that the seven-man council, which inherited political unrest that has ousted President Paul Magloire and three provisional chiefs of state since last December, is rigging in its own interests a general election set for June 16. They demanded that the council resign. They impeded the registration of voters scheduled to start today.

Thousands of Haitians, largely illiterate, sharpened machetes and armed themselves with catapults and other weapons for possible showdown fights with police and the army, newly swelled by reserves to 5,500 men.

Haitians from Cap Haitien in the north to the farming centers of Jeremie and Cayes in the far southwest staged demonstrations under the banner cry: "Down with the government!" They closed schools, stores, market places and public buildings. Political arsonists were reported to have set big fires in Jermie.

Reinforcements were rushed to Jeremie and Cayes, about 100 miles from this capital city.

At the seaport of Gonaives, 80 miles northwest of Port au Prince, Haitians gathered huge supplies of stones for hurling in catapult-type devices resembling slingshots.

Police broke up a noisy demonstration involving tens of thousands who barricaded the streets to prevent government bureaus from registering voters in Gonaives.

Reports from nearly every section of the country outside Port au Prince indicated the arrangements for registering the 800,000 eligible voters were at a standstill. The people refused to register or kept the bureaus closed.

In Port au Prince, troops and police raided and silenced a half dozen radio stations urging the people to revolt. Despite a government ban on political broadcasts, the stations had been sending out fiery appeals for "democracy and liberty."

Dulles Raises New Issues In Press Dispute

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told his news conference today it would be all right for American news agencies to send foreigners as their reporters to Communist China.

He also conceded his offer to let a limited number of American newsmen have passports to get into Red China might lack complete logic.

"But there are some cases where pure logic has to give away before a measure of compromise," he said.

Dulles already is under heavy fire for what he has been saying to justify his ban on American newsmen going to Red China, with which the United States has no diplomatic relations.

For example, he told Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of the New York Times, in a letter two weeks ago, that the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press is not all-inclusive. He said it "relates to publication, and not to the gathering of news."

That brought protests which boiled over at today's news conference. In reply to a barrage of questions, Dulles raised two new issues—that foreigners could report abroad for the U.S. press and radio - TV, and that logic might give way under pressure.

Dulles defended his constitutional argument by saying a number of Supreme Court decisions had ruled press freedom related to publication, not to gathering the news. He promised to give reporters the specific citations of each decision.

Coal Industry Charges AEC Pushes "Myth"

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — A spokesman for the coal industry today accused the Atomic Energy Commission of concealing for years the high costs of producing nuclear power.

Tom Pickett, executive vice president of the National Coal Assn., said some commission members "have promoted the myth of future low-cost atomic electricity." But, he predicted in a statement:

"Electricity is now produced so cheaply from coal that it will be at least 30 to 40 years in America before atomic reactors can be built capable of competing with even the most costly to operate coal-fired steam electric generators.

"Because of America's 1,000 years' supply of economically recoverable coal and economical, modern coal burning techniques which are constantly become more efficient, for the foreseeable future, atomic - sourced electricity will not be competitive with coal in the U.S. power markets.

"When nuclear generated electricity is marketed in the United States, it will be used only as a supplementary energy source in those geographical areas where transportation charges boost the delivered price of coal high enough to make the use of reactors feasible."

"Spy Ring" Broken

VIENNA, May 14 (AP)— Radio Prague today said an "American spy ring" involving a high ranking official in the Foreign Trade Ministry has been broken up in Czechoslovakia. The radio identified the official as Miroslav Jurny. Prague said he agreed to "spy for the United States" in 1955.

Boy Admits Killing Child, Burying Body

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—Juvenile authorities today held a 14-year-old boy who police say admits strangling a 3-year-old girl yesterday and burying her nude body under the front porch of an apartment house.

Lawrence Madsen, described as a seventh grade problem pupil, was quoted as saying he knotted a necktie around little Lise Jorgensen's neck and watched her die.

A habeas corpus hearing is scheduled tomorrow for the Madsen boy, who told Asst. State's Atty. William McGah, "I don't know why I did it. I just wanted wanted to kill her. I got an urge."

Boy "Critical" After Touching Power Line

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — Josept J. Ferrarra, 9, of Baltimore, severely burned when he touched a power line, was in "very critical" condition tonight in Mercy Hospital.

Police said the boy had climbed atop a standing Pennsylvania Railroad freight train today and accidentally touched a wire above the train. The wire carried 11,000 volts of electricity and all the boy's clothes were burned off his body.

Soviet Boss To Be Seen On U. S. TV

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Republican Policy Committee today Russia's Nikita Khrushchev soon will be seen on a U.S. television program.

Bridges, who heads the policy group, said Dulles mentioned arrangements for a showing of a filmed news conference with the Soviet leader.

"The secretary said he was disturbed by the broad peace offensive undertaken by the Russians," Bridges said. "He made it clear that we are all for peace but cautioned against our being deluded by Russian propaganda."

Bridges said Dulles told the Republican senators in a closed meeting that the CBS program "Face the Nation" had made arrangements to film a conference with American reporters questioning Khrushchev. No time for showing of the film was specified.

Hooky-Playing Youth Drowns

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — It was hot in Baltimore today so Edward L. Smith and four of his friends played hooky from school to take a swim.

It was 1 p.m. when the 15-year-old Negro youngster slipped into the oily, cool water of Baltimore Harbor. He dog-paddled out a few feet and returned to his friends, shivering.

It felt so good, he went in again. This time, he had trouble and sank below the surface. He yelled to his friends.

Raymond Fitzhugh, 13, thought Eddie was joking, but the boys threw him a rope anyway. Eddie couldn't reach it. Raymond jumped into the water for him but Eddie had disappeared.

Eddie's body was recovered by a police boat about 4 p.m. The other boys had delayed reporting the incident for fear their truancy would be discovered.

to save money and manpower so that government does not further add to the inflationary pressure on the economy."

And he said that if the public will "join us in this determination, we can look forward to sufficient excess of income over expenses to justify future tax reduction as we continue paying down on the public debt."

Eisenhower conceded that the budget "is huge" but he called it necessary to help wage peace and prevent war.

Speaking from his White House office, Eisenhower noted that more than seven billion dollars in the budget is earmarked for payment of interest on the national debt.

Referring to it as an obligation which must be met, the President went on to say:

"Ours is not like the Soviet government, which recently told its people it would no longer pay the interest on its government savings bonds."

Repeating what he has said several times the last few weeks, Eisenhower said of the budget:

"No great reductions in it are possible unless Congress eliminates or curtails existing federal programs, or all of us demand less service from the government, or unless we are willing to gamble with the safety of our country."

Earlier Eisenhower was described as concerned over the possibility Congress might cut deeply into his spending proposals for aircraft and guided missiles.

Mitchell's Son Asks Air Force To Clear Name

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—In a room echoing the sounds of air traffic overhead, the son of the late Brig. Gen. Billy Mitchell appealed to the Air Force today to erase the court-martial conviction of his father for outspoken advocacy of military air power.

William Mitchell Jr., appearing before the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records, asked that the record of the court-martial and the punishment given his father for insubordination be declared "null and void."

There has been no indication when a decision on the appeal will be made.

The elder Mitchell, who died in 1936 before World War II proved his air power theories, was tried in 1925. The verdict of the nine generals who heard the case was approved at the time by President Calvin Coolidge.

Supporting the son's plea were officials of the Air Force Assn., a private group interested in that branch of service. They argued that Gen. Mitchell's record should be cleared to remove the "stigma that the court-martial attaches to the name of Mitchell."

Gen. Mitchell was found guilty of insubordination in publicly accusing his superiors of incompetence, criminal negligence and "almost treasonable conduct" in not putting more stress on air power.

Then chief of the Army air service, he was stripped of his rank, command and duties for a five-year period and put on half pay. He held the permanent rank of Colonel at the time.

Because Coolidge took final action in the case, some Pentagon officials said any decision to erase the record would have to be laid before President Eisenhower.

Some Air Force officials and the younger Mitchell contend Secretary of the Air Force James Douglas has power to act in the matter. It is to Douglas that the Air Force board which held today's hearing will report its recommendations.

William Mitchell Jr., appearing before the Air Force Board for Correction of Military Records, asked that the record of the court-martial and the punishment given his father for insubordination be declared "null and void."

There has been no indication when a decision on the appeal will be made.

The elder Mitchell, who died in 1936 before World War II proved his air power theories, was tried in 1925. The verdict of the nine generals who heard the case was approved at the time by President Calvin Coolidge.

Supporting the son's plea were officials of the Air Force Assn., a private group interested in that branch of service. They argued that Gen. Mitchell's record should be cleared to remove the "stigma that the court-martial attaches to the name of Mitchell."

Gen. Mitchell was found guilty of insubordination in publicly accusing his superiors of incompetence, criminal negligence and "almost treasonable conduct" in not putting more stress on air power.

Then chief of the Army air service, he was stripped of his rank, command and duties for a five-year period and put on half pay. He held the permanent rank of Colonel at the time.

Because Coolidge took final action in the case, some Pentagon officials said any decision to erase the record would have to be laid before President Eisenhower.

Some Air Force officials and the younger Mitchell contend Secretary of the Air Force James Douglas has power to act in the matter. It is to Douglas that the Air Force board which held today's hearing will report its recommendations.

NEW YORK, May 14 (INS)—Lots of people wonder why Frank Costello, 66 and possibly cancerous, chose to take a 30-day rap, after all the time he has spent in the can, rather than tell the police what they wanted to know about a slip of paper in his pocket. It had to do with a $600,000 casino play .

Apparently, the New York cops gave up on trying to find out from Costello who might have ordered him shot recently. There's every reason to believe him when he husked that "some punk" creased his skull with the single shot. The bloke who shot Costello probably wasn't important enough ever to have met him socially. He was probably some poor miserable, godless skunk hired to do the job for maybe $500, with the understanding that if anything went wrong he'd be on his own. They wouldn't tell him the rest.

He missed from ten feet, with nobody pushing him. By now he probably is dead even as he would have been if he had scored a direct hit. Alive, the fumbler would represent a potential embarrassment to his employers. He might get drunk and spill the story to a girl or, worse, to a reporter .

If he had killed Costello, he most certainly would have been rubbed out, a simple track-covering detail, just as the bum who threw the acid into Victor Riesel's eyes and made the mistake of spilling a bit on himself was shot like a fish in a bowl by the people who hired him.

Costello probably has a clear idea of which new or conceivably old group or syndicate tried to cancel him. But this man was raised in a curious, unmoral world where there are certain rules and dogma—variously enforced—which sometimes take on the durability of the Constitution of the U. S. The cops will beat up a punk who tries to live up to the code. They wouldn't lay a hand on Costello. Indeed, there is a completely lawless and grudging respect within the law for a well-heeled scoff-law who won't tell.

Costello is probably a millionaire. He made an utter mint as a bootlegger: Had one boat in his rum-running flotilla which, alone, could invade with 50,000 cases. He probably had a piece of Frank Erickson's colossal pre-Kefauver bookmaking business. He got his slot machines into Louisiana through Huey Long, was a partner of Phil Kastel around New Orleans, the Lanksys in Dade County, Florida, and Benny Siegal in Las Vegas. He and a couple of associates bought control of one of the world's great distilleries of Scotch whisky, after importing shiploads of it during prohibition. He owns a hunk of Wall Street.

As a student of the phenomenon of Costello, it is not too difficult to comprehend why he'd still have the mysterious markings of a gambling tally in his pocket even though he must have known he was either watched by police or trailed in jungle fashion by those who want him done away with. Here may be a clue.

The top bookmaker of Washington, D. C., now dying in jail serving one of those endless tax raps, was out on parole a few years ago and returned to his old haunts on Ninth Street, or some other honky path of that nature. All Washington cops not assigned to chasing starlings or protecting drunk diplomats had him under surveillance. Some poor government clerk spotted him and asked him to book a two-buck bet. The bookie, with more clear money than the U. S. government, took the soiled deuce and put it in his kick, to the horror of a mutual friend, who said, "For two bucks you'd risk going back to jail?"

"It ain't that," Sam said. "If a guy wants to play, I feel I gotta be around to accommodate him, if I ain't, somebody else will be."

The probable truth about Costello is that, like a ham, he can't or won't get off.

Too Much Dust

Couple Seeks Injunction Against Road Builders

HAGERSTOWN, May 14 (AP) — A suburban Hagerstown couple who say they are just sick and tired of all the dirt and dust today asked the court for an injunction which possibly could halt work on the U.S. 11 bypass of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newkirk filed a petition for an injunction against Lorain Construction Co., Inc., Eastern Contractors Inc. and Wright Contracting Co., all of Baltimore.

Judge D. K. McLaughlin gave the defendants until next Monday to show why they should not be enjoined from maintaining an excavating and hauling operation along the Williamsport - Greencastle Pike in such manner as to constitute a nuisance.

The Newkirks live directly across the street from a 50-acre site owned by the Lorain firm. The couple contends that excavation and hauling of dirt, gravel, shale and other material for the U.S. 11 bypass has caused great clouds of dust to rise on their property and has made it impossible to enter or leave the front of the house.

The Newkirks also claim the water in their well has been made unusable by the dirt and dust.

And finally, the Newkirks complained, they have learned the construction firms have scheduled night operations to begin in a few days. And when they begin, the couple says, they won't be able to open their doors and windows even at night.

They scored 16.2 per cent higher than the national average of 58.1 per cent in the spring testing program of the American Institute of Accountants.

Thirty-three and one-third per cent of the Maryland students scored in the top 10 per cent of the national average.

The comparison period covered the years 1954-56 and involved 3,377 students all together.

Funds To Implement Ober Law Requested

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) —The Baltimore City Council has asked that the governor and the Board of Public Works make "immediate restoration" of funds in the State budget for anti-subversive work.

A resolution passed unanimously by the council suggested the $5,125 be restored to the attorney general's budget to implement the Ober Law. It was cut out of the budget by the General Assembly earlier this year.

Road Opening Set

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — A new section of U.S. Route 1 will be opened May 31 with Gov. McKeldin doing the ribbon snipping.

The four-mile strip which will bypass the town of Rising Sun, will run from west of that community to the Pennsylvania line.

Fireman Accused Of Turning In False Alarm Suspended

GLEN BURNIE, Md., May 14 (AP)—Fire Lt. Charles F. Micciche of the Glen Burnie Volunteer Fire Co. last night was demoted and suspended pending a special hearing on charges of turning in a false alarm.

It was reported the fireman stopped three boys on a bridge over Marley Creek Sunday and told them a man had just jumped into the water. The boys summoned firemen who dragged the creek but found no body.

On a description of the informer provided by the boys, Lt. Micciche was called on the carpet. A special trial board will hear the case May 22.

Micciche could be reprimanded, given extra duty, suspended or expelled from the fire company.

Conscientious Objector Is Sentenced To Prison

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—William E. Underwood, 25-year-old conscientious objector, was sentenced to two and a half years in prison today for failing to accept a civilian work assignment in lieu of two years military service.

Underwood, a pioneer minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, had been classified a conscientious objector by his draft board. The government claimed he violated the Universal Military Training and Service Act by failing to report for civilian work at Crownsville State Hospital last July as ordered by his draft board.

He said in court he refused the work order because it would have curtailed his work as a fulltime minister of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, in sentencing Underwood, said the defendant was sincere in his objection to military service almost to the point of "conceit."

But the judge said he felt if he let the defendant get by, it might stimulate claims of persons with less sincerity.

Luther Burbank, the naturalist, developed the white blackberry.

Two Killed In Crash

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) —Two persons died when a station wagon and a Baltimore Transit Co. bus collided at Curtis Bay last night.

Police identified them as Mrs. Drucilla M. Nelson, 27, and Roy R. Merrill, 34, both Negroes. They were passengers in the station wagon, which was in a head-on smashup with BTC vehicle.

Miles Named General Counsel Of Martin Co.

George M. Bunker, president of the aircraft firm, said Miles will have offices at the Martin plant in suburban Middle River. Miles is head of the Baltimore law firm of Miles and Stockbridge.

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — Lady Shriners are cutting a few capers in Baltimore today.

They're members of the Ladies' Oriental Shrine of North America some 2,500 strong expected from as far away as Hawaii.

"So far the men are paying more attention to our costumes than the ladies," said Mrs. Goldie M. Phillips of Baltimore, cochairman of the convention that attracted delegates decked out in colorful Oriental costumes.

Funds To Implement Ober Law Requested

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) —The Baltimore City Council has asked that the governor and the Board of Public Works make "immediate restoration" of funds in the State budget for anti-subversive work.

A resolution passed unanimously by the council suggested the $5,125 be restored to the attorney general's budget to implement the Ober Law. It was cut out of the budget by the General Assembly earlier this year.

Fireman Accused Of Turning In False Alarm Suspended

GLEN BURNIE, Md., May 14 (AP)—Fire Lt. Charles F. Micciche of the Glen Burnie Volunteer Fire Co. last night was demoted and suspended pending a special hearing on charges of turning in a false alarm.

It was reported the fireman stopped three boys on a bridge over Marley Creek Sunday and told them a man had just jumped into the water. The boys summoned firemen who dragged the creek but found no body.

On a description of the informer provided by the boys, Lt. Micciche was called on the carpet. A special trial board will hear the case May 22.

Micciche could be reprimanded, given extra duty, suspended or expelled from the fire company.

Conscientious Objector Is Sentenced To Prison

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—William E. Underwood, 25-year-old conscientious objector, was sentenced to two and a half years in prison today for failing to accept a civilian work assignment in lieu of two years military service.

Underwood, a pioneer minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, had been classified a conscientious objector by his draft board. The government claimed he violated the Universal Military Training and Service Act by failing to report for civilian work at Crownsville State Hospital last July as ordered by his draft board.

He said in court he refused the work order because it would have curtailed his work as a fulltime minister of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, in sentencing Underwood, said the defendant was sincere in his objection to military service almost to the point of "conceit." But the judge said he felt if he let the defendant get by, it might stimulate claims of persons with less sincerity.

Luther Burbank, the naturalist, developed the white blackberry.

Police identified them as Mrs. Drucilla M. Nelson, 27, and Roy R. Merrill, 34, both Negroes. They were passengers in the station wagon, which was in a head-on smashup with BTC vehicle.

George M. Bunker, president of the aircraft firm, said Miles will have offices at the Martin plant in suburban Middle River. Miles is head of the Baltimore law firm of Miles and Stockbridge.

Newsmen Get First Peak At Atom Plant Workings

RICHLAND, Wash., May 14 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today lifted lightly the secrecy lid of its plutonium production plant. It also disclosed a variety of operations designed to protect the 600-square mile Hanford area and adjacent territory against radio activity.

Laboratories where scientists check samples of water, fish, animal and plant life and the atmosphere were opened for the first time to newsmen. Reporters, however, were not admitted to the big reactors which produce plutonium for the A-bomb.

Measures for preventing contamination of the Columbia River, whose waters are used to cool the giant reactors,were stressed.

A possible new danger about which little is known also was disclosed. This hazard lies in breathing tiny radioactive particles which body fluid will not dissolve, and which may remain in the body for a long time, giving off intense radiation.

Uranium fission, the underlying process for producing plutonium, creates scores of kinds of radioactive particles, many of which are insoluble. If they are inhaled they may lodge in the lungs and stay there.

Plutonium particles introduced into the lungs of mice have produced lung cancer, said Dr. Leo Bustad. Other animals are being tested for the effect of radioactive ruthenium, another fission product.

Dr. Rubin Borasky, of the biology laboratory, reported experiments showing that plutonium combines with collagen, one of the constituents of animal tissue, and forms an unnatural complex.

Pieces of cow's hide subjected to a plutonium solution picked up the bomb material and Dr. Borasky made photographs under a microscope showing how the combination formed a new kind of giant molecule.

Whether this would happen in living animals or in man remains to be seen. If it does, it still must be determined whether the combination is dangerous to life or health. These experiments also could lead to ways of "decontaminating" the tissues of a person with plutonium in his system, Dr. Borasky said.

Laboratory workers catch fish in the Columbia River regularly from Hanford to Portland and check them for radioactivity. Mainly they look for radioactive iodine, which is one of the big waste products of plutonium and which can produce cancer.

Since 1943 when the Hanford plant first took form, there has been no serious accident involving radioactivity, said F. W. Albaugh, acting laboratory manager at Hanford for the General Electric Co., which operates the installation.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Value Of Friendship

I questioned one of the Powers Girls this morning about a mutual acquaintance. "How is your friend Phyllis?" I asked.

"Oh, Mr. Powers, she's not a real friend!" was the quick response.

Well, that was the beginning of quite a discussion. What is a friend, I asked several models. And how do you define friendship? The answers were most enlightening.

Requisites Of Friendship

The adjectives that came into play most often in our session were "sincere" and "considerate" and "dependable" and "generous." On the list of requisites, too, were "willingness to cooperate" and "ability to be tactful." All of these qualities are the qualities of a true friend.

If you honestly like someone, you want to know you can rely on that someone for help, advice, and comradeship. You want that friend to maintain the same attitude towards you, too, whether you are seeking her to share your elation or to ease your disappointments. You want her to regard your secrets as her secrets, your interests as her interests.

In return, you must live up to these same criteria, or you yourself cannot be considered a true friend.

A Friendly Mistake

Friendship can, of course, be prevailed upon to unfair extent. Allowing yourself to make excuses for anyone, time after time, is allowing that friend to take advantage of you. When such a situation exists, it is sincere friendliness for you to point out her inability to cope with events and help her to eliminate the necessity for any little white lies.

Always do unto a friend as you would have a friend do unto you!

High Court Decides Gas-Driven Rail Track Car Is "Locomotive"

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The Supreme Court decided 5-4 today that a gasoline-driven railroad track car—successor to the familiar hand car of years ago—is a "locomotive."

And by the same vote, the court ruled that a push truck is a "car" and that when the two are combined you have a "train."

The question before the court was whether railroad safety appliance acts apply to these small vehicles used by section crews.

Daniel T. Jackson, a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad section foreman, was injured near Gaithersburg, Md. three years ago when a track car-push car combination struck a dog and was derailed, throwing him into a ditch.

Jackson brought suit under a federal employees liability act which gives railroad workers a liberalized right of recovery for on the job injuries.

When the case was tried in Federal District Court here, Judge Mathew F. McGuire, told the jury the safety appliance acts required the railroad to equip track cars with a train brake and push trucks with a hand brake and that the railroad was liable if its failure to furnish this equipment contributed to the accident.

Newsmen Get First Peak At Atom Plant Workings

RICHLAND, Wash., May 14 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today lifted lightly the secrecy lid of its plutonium production plant. It also disclosed a variety of operations designed to protect the 600-square mile Hanford area and adjacent territory against radio activity.

Laboratories where scientists check samples of water, fish, animal and plant life and the atmosphere were opened for the first time to newsmen. Reporters, however, were not admitted to the big reactors which produce plutonium for the A-bomb.

Measures for preventing contamination of the Columbia River, whose waters are used to cool the giant reactors,were stressed.

A possible new danger about which little is known also was disclosed. This hazard lies in breathing tiny radioactive particles which body fluid will not dissolve, and which may remain in the body for a long time, giving off intense radiation.

Wildlife Federation Backs Hast For Humane Officer

The Western Maryland Wildlife Federation yesterday recommended the appointment of Merwin R. Hast, RD 2, Union Grove, as humane officer under the new county dog law.

A letter citing qualifications for a humane officer was sent along with the recommendation to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. It was signed by Herbert L. Knepp, president of the federation, which is comprised of 17 sports groups.

Knepp said the humane officer should know the value of various dogs, be able to determine physical condition, know how to handle animals, be of high moral character and have a personality to enable him to cooperate with the public in handling his duties.

A letter was also received from Hast in which he applied for the position.

When the minutes of last Friday's session of the board were read, Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he wanted it placed in the record that he was opposed to the purchase of two dump trucks by the county as they are "not needed." Wilkinson was absent at the Friday meeting. The county had asked bids on the trucks and ordered advertisements placed in local newspapers asking for bids. Two old trucks in use will be traded in the transaction.

A letter of appreciation was read in which Angela Senkbeil, secretary of the Western Maryland Coin Club, thanked the commissioners for their resolution recognizing National Coin Week of May 6 to 12.

Joint Funeral Services Set Tomorrow For Three In Family Who Drowned

Services for three persons of one family who were drowned Monday evening in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Green Spring, W. Va., will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the George Funeral Home.

Rev. Joseph L. Hoopengardner, pastor of Bowman's Addition Church of the Nazarene, will officiate and burial will be in Davis Memorial Cemetery.

Victims of the triple tragedy were Virgil (Buzz) Mongold; Diana Lee Mongold, 11, and Sandra Kay Mongold, 9, of Bowman's Addition.

Although the incident took the lives of three persons, it also produced a hero in the person of Harry A. Mallow, 22, who saved his little sister, Vada Ann Mallow, from the water.

In an interview yesterday Mallow reviewed the tragedy which claimed the life of his brother-in-law, and the two little girls.

Mallow said his brother-in-law had received his pay from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Monday and purchased a new fishing rod.

Mongold phoned Mallow and the family decided to spend the evening at the cabin of Raymond Duckworth, where they visited frequently.

Mongold and his two daughters, Diana Lee and Sandra Kay, and Vada Ann Mallow and a friend, Miss Bobby Aldender, went to the river bank. Mallow, his sister, Rosalie Mongold (the victim's wife) and their mother, Mrs. Della M. Mallow, stayed at the cabin. The Mongolds' infant daughter, Vickie Lynn, was also at the cabin.

Mallow said shortly after Mongold and the children went to the river bank he heard them screaming for help. The young man raced to the river, where his friend, Miss Aldender, told him the children and Mongold were drowning.

Miss Aldender had attempted to grab one of the youngsters, but suffered a cramp and had to leave the water.

Mallow said at first he couldn't see anything but the calm water, and then suddenly noticed a head bobbing up and down in the water near the opposite shore.

The youth started swimming toward the head, and when he reached it recognized that it was his 10-year-old sister, Vada Ann.

Mallow battled the little girl for almost a half hour before he was able to get her ashore. He couldn't remember how many times he went under water. Several times, he said, he felt like giving up, but something forced him to keep fighting.

Mallow said that when he reached Vada Ann his arms and legs were "paralyzed" from swimming, and that by the time he pulled her from the river he was exhausted.

By this time, Mongold's wife, Rosalie Mongold, had reached the river bank and started swimming towards the opposite shore. Mallow was so tired that he couldn't swim back. He walked to Mongold's boat and started out, but the boat dipped and he was forced to get another.

Shortly after he was on the river, Mallow noticed the three bodies of the victims. He fished out Diana Lee, but his arms were so useless that he returned to shore.

Two other youths, who were in the area, went into the river and brought out Mongold and Sandra Kay.

The youths laid the bodies side by side, and Mallow kept going from one body to another blowing air into their lungs.

Mallow said Mongold was blue when he reached shore, but the little girls retained some of their pink color. Mallow worked more than an hour and a half trying to bring the victims back to life by applying artificial respiration.

Mallow said his sister and his mother kept going back into the water, and both were in a hysterical condition. Mrs. Mongold was taken to Memorial Hospital here by ambulance where she was released shortly before noon yesterday.

Mallow said his brother-in-law was an excellent swimmer, and he couldn't figure out what happened. The family frequently visited the Duckworth cabin, but Mallow said Mongold was not too familiar with the river.

Mallow said neither Sandra Kay, Diana Lee nor Vada Ann could swim.

The children were wading in the water while Mongold was working on his boat and fishing gear.

Assisting Mallow with applying artificial respiration were James Shrout and Robert Rannells, both of Green Spring, members of the Romney and Fort Ashby volunteer fire companies, and West Virginia and Maryland State Police.

Dr. J. I. Armstrong of Paw Paw, and Hampshire County Coroner A. L. Russell, were both on the scene.

Witnesses said the water was from six to eight feet deep at the point of the drownings, but that the water was not swift and had very little undercurrent.

Mongold, a native of Petersburg, W. Va., was employed as a brakeman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He was a son of Seymour and Rose (Nelson) Mongold.

The bodies are at the George Funeral Home.

Mr. Mongold was formerly employed for the Cumberland Contracting Company and Wagner's Service Station.

Members of Mt. Division 267, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will conduct a memorial service today at 7:30 p. m. at the funeral home.

Remonstrance Hearing Is Postponed Until May 21

The hearing on a remonstrance against issuance of an on and off sale beer and wine license to Kathleen Seaders and Thomas O'Toole for premises in the 1000-block of Oldtown Road has been postponed until May 28 at 10:30 a. m.

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners had originally set the date for May 21 but attorneys for the two applicants asked for a week's delay.

About 100 residents of the neighborhood signed a remonstrance against the permit. They said the establishment would not have suitable parking place and that there are several licensed establishments in the neighborhood.

The premises were formerly used by the Allegany Instrument Company.

Local 568, Ironworkers Union, will conduct its annual election at the Labor Temple Saturday, June 1, from 6 p. m. to 10 p. m., according to George E. Clark, business agent. The union has about 200 members.

Joint Funeral Services Set Tomorrow For Three In Family Who Drowned

Services for three persons of one family who were drowned Monday evening in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Green Spring, W. Va., will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the George Funeral Home.

Rev. Joseph L. Hoopengardner, pastor of Bowman's Addition Church of the Nazarene, will officiate and burial will be in Davis Memorial Cemetery.

Victims of the triple tragedy were Virgil (Buzz) Mongold; Diana Lee Mongold, 11, and Sandra Kay Mongold, 9, of Bowman's Addition.

Although the incident took the lives of three persons, it also produced a hero in the person of Harry A. Mallow, 22, who saved his little sister, Vada Ann Mallow, from the water.

In an interview yesterday Mallow reviewed the tragedy which claimed the life of his brother-in-law, and the two little girls.

Mallow said his brother-in-law had received his pay from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Monday and purchased a new fishing rod.

Mongold phoned Mallow and the family decided to spend the evening at the cabin of Raymond Duckworth, where they visited frequently.

Mongold and his two daughters, Diana Lee and Sandra Kay, and Vada Ann Mallow and a friend, Miss Bobby Aldender, went to the river bank. Mallow, his sister, Rosalie Mongold (the victim's wife) and their mother, Mrs. Della M. Mallow, stayed at the cabin. The Mongolds' infant daughter, Vickie Lynn, was also at the cabin.

Mallow said shortly after Mongold and the children went to the river bank he heard them screaming for help. The young man raced to the river, where his friend, Miss Aldender, told him the children and Mongold were drowning.

Miss Aldender had attempted to grab one of the youngsters, but suffered a cramp and had to leave the water.

Mallow said at first he couldn't see anything but the calm water, and then suddenly noticed a head bobbing up and down in the water near the opposite shore.

The youth started swimming toward the head, and when he reached it recognized that it was his 10-year-old sister, Vada Ann.

Mallow battled the little girl for almost a half hour before he was able to get her ashore. He couldn't remember how many times he went under water. Several times, he said, he felt like giving up, but something forced him to keep fighting.

Mallow said that when he reached Vada Ann his arms and legs were "paralyzed" from swimming, and that by the time he pulled her from the river he was exhausted.

By this time, Mongold's wife, Rosalie Mongold, had reached the river bank and started swimming towards the opposite shore. Mallow was so tired that he couldn't swim back. He walked to Mongold's boat and started out, but the boat dipped and he was forced to get another.

Shortly after he was on the river, Mallow noticed the three bodies of the victims. He fished out Diana Lee, but his arms were so useless that he returned to shore.

Two other youths, who were in the area, went into the river and brought out Mongold and Sandra Kay.

The youths laid the bodies side by side, and Mallow kept going from one body to another blowing air into their lungs.

Mallow said Mongold was blue when he reached shore, but the little girls retained some of their pink color. Mallow worked more than an hour and a half trying to bring the victims back to life by applying artificial respiration.

Mallow said his sister and his mother kept going back into the water, and both were in a hysterical condition. Mrs. Mongold was taken to Memorial Hospital here by ambulance where she was released shortly before noon yesterday.

Mallow said his brother-in-law was an excellent swimmer, and he couldn't figure out what happened. The family frequently visited the Duckworth cabin, but Mallow said Mongold was not too familiar with the river.

Mallow said neither Sandra Kay, Diana Lee nor Vada Ann could swim.

The children were wading in the water while Mongold was working on his boat and fishing gear.

Assisting Mallow with applying artificial respiration were James Shrout and Robert Rannells, both of Green Spring, members of the Romney and Fort Ashby volunteer fire companies, and West Virginia and Maryland State Police.

Dr. J. I. Armstrong of Paw Paw, and Hampshire County Coroner A. L. Russell, were both on the scene.

Witnesses said the water was from six to eight feet deep at the point of the drownings, but that the water was not swift and had very little undercurrent.

Mongold, a native of Petersburg, W. Va., was employed as a brakeman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He was a son of Seymour and Rose (Nelson) Mongold.

The bodies are at the George Funeral Home.

Mr. Mongold was formerly employed for the Cumberland Contracting Company and Wagner's Service Station.

Members of Mt. Division 267, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will conduct a memorial service today at 7:30 p. m. at the funeral home.

Remonstrance Hearing Is Postponed Until May 21

The hearing on a remonstrance against issuance of an on and off sale beer and wine license to Kathleen Seaders and Thomas O'Toole for premises in the 1000-block of Oldtown Road has been postponed until May 28 at 10:30 a. m.

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners had originally set the date for May 21 but attorneys for the two applicants asked for a week's delay.

About 100 residents of the neighborhood signed a remonstrance against the permit. They said the establishment would not have suitable parking place and that there are several licensed establishments in the neighborhood.

The premises were formerly used by the Allegany Instrument Company.

Union Plans Election

Local 568, Ironworkers Union, will conduct its annual election at the Labor Temple Saturday, June 1, from 6 p. m. to 10 p. m., according to George E. Clark, business agent. The union has about 200 members.

Mayor Eves Issues Statement On City's Proposal To Raise Tax Limit

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday a city proposal to increase the tax limitation is not a lump sum hike in the tax rate and "there is nothing mandatory about it."

The tax limitation plan, he added, merely established a new limit for the city in providing for funds if needed. On the other hand, he continued, if the city gets unexpected revenue or its expenses are reduced, the present tax rate could conceivably be reduced.

The proposal which the city has made would up the present tax limitation from $1.25 to $1.50, providing a 25-cent "cushion" for taxation should the necessity arise. Until all requests are in and a budget set in August, the tax rate cannot be determined. Without authority to raise taxes over the $1.25 limitation, an emergency could result if operating expenses for the next fiscal year exceed expectable revenue.

In any event, it was pointed out, it is unlikely any increase would take the entire 25 cents which would be granted by approval of the tax limitation proposal.

Petitions are being circulated calling for a referendum on the plan. And The South Cumberland Business Men's Association has voiced opposition to what it termed an increase in the "tax rate."

Mayor Eves took note of the South End group's statement yesterday.

He said that an article under the South End group's authorship was "so worded as to create the impression that the operating expenses of the City of Cumberland in the year 1950 were $578,700 and for the year 1956 were $911,020, representing an increase of 57 per cent. These calculations apparently did not take into consideration other sources of revenue received by the city, other than ad valorem property taxes, which may be properly used for operating expenses. As a matter of fact the city could not have begun to render the municipal services required in our city on an operating budget of $578,700 in the year 1950, or for some years prior thereto. The operating budget for the year 1950, and the actual operating revenues appropriated in 1950 amounted to $1,002,690, or almost double the amount used in last Friday's article by the South End Business Men's Association.

"In an effort to set the record straight, and the public certainly is entitled to an accurate picture, the following represents the appropriations for operating expenses for the years 1950 to July 1, 1957, inclusive, which may be verified from the reports of the annual audit of the city.

1951-52	1,012,254
1952-53	1,084,875
1953-54	1,101,320
1954-55	1,197,881
1955-56	1,297,324
1956-57 (estimated)	1,404,825

"This represents an increase in seven years of 40 per cent rather than the figure of 57 per cent which appeared in Friday's article.

"Most of this 40 per cent increase, as was emphasized in a recent article by city auditor Arthur B. Gibson, represents the cost to the City Employes Retirement Plan, Social Security, which has recently been put into effect for municipal employes, wage increases and cost of maintenance of that portion of the flood control project already accepted. These increases are in line with similar expenses in private business and industry, and the pay of most city employes at present is under that received in cities of the same population bracket.

"When the total city budget, which includes both operating expenses and debt service, are compared between the years 1950 to July 1, 1957 it will be noted that there has been an overall increase of 23 per cent.

"I commend private citizens and groups who are vigilant regarding public expenditures; however, such groups when endeavoring to affect public opinion, have a duty to present the whole picture, otherwise a public disservice can be rendered in a matter of serious public concern," Eves said.

Who Would Get Tax Exemptions?

Much of the talk about lower taxes centers around raising the personal exemption in the income tax—say from the present $600 to $700 per individual. The move would be especially popular among the many small taxpayers who would thereby be relieved from paying any federal income tax whatsoever. (Several years ago it was estimated that a $100 higher exemption would take four million or so income tax payers off the rolls.)

However, the point would undoubtedly be made that on an absolute basis a hike of $100 in the personal exemption would save more dollars for the big taxpayer than for the small one. That would be because the tax rate on the last $100 of taxable income is of course higher as the income gets higher.

For instance, the rate is 20 per cent on the first $2,000 of income per individual, rises to 43 per cent on the amount of income between $12,000 and $14,000, becomes 65 per cent on the income between $32,000 and $38,000. So the saving would be $20 or less per person covered in the smallest returns, $65 or more in the largest ones.

It might be politically more popular to allow an exemption rise only on the smaller incomes, not on the larger. The history of personal income taxation in the United States affords precedents for any such arrangement.

In the first 20 years of the tax, from 1913 to 1933, the personal exemption applied only to the normal tax, could not be claimed in computing the surtaxes. (Today the distinction between the normal and surtax has been eliminated.) And when the revenue act of 1921, applicable to the calendar years 1921, 1922, and 1923, raised the normal tax exemption for a married man to $2,500 from $2,000, the $500 increase was restricted to those with incomes below $5,000, denied to those whose incomes were over $5,000.

St. Paul And Billy

Undoubtedly Saul of Tarsus, a Pharisee who changed his name to Paul, was the most competent propagandist for an idea that the world has ever known. Coming out of Palestine, a poor country then, as it is today, he moved upon the Roman Empire and by a series of letters which go in the New Testament as Epistles, and by orations and an unerring capacity to grasp that the problems of his age were not military or political but moral, he laid the foundation for the eventual conquest of the Roman world by Christianity.

Associated with Paul were equally simple men, mostly Jews and Syrians. None of them possessed wealth or power or even good family names. Certainly they had no organization that compared with the governmental power of Rome. Such men as Peter or Barnabas possessed great faith but no centurions.

Nevertheless in 300 years, the Roman Empire was theirs, without firing a shot, without spending huge sums of money, without the brilliance of IBM electric typewriters and Univacs to measure each night's take.

Different times, of course, produce different methods, but whenever I read of the vast preparations which are being made to have New Yorkers hit the saw-dust trail in Madison Square Garden under the ministering of Billy Graham, I cannot help but think of St. Paul and the unerring simplicity of his thought and his organization. St. Paul found a small monotheistic church among the Jews in Palestine with a doctrine that was several thousand years in the making, a doctrine whose basis was the Moral Law as revealed by God to Moses and as developed by rabbis and scholars among the Jews. This doctrine included the moral concepts of Hammurabi, the Babylonian, and of Ikhnaton, the Egyptian, but basically it was Semitic.

To this doctrine, just prior to the time of Paul, was added the teachings of Jesus as stated by His Apostles. The early Christians were Jews who worshipped in the same synagogues as other Jews, except that those who followed the teachings of Jesus believed that the Messiah had arrived and the others did not. The word, Christ, is from the Greek and means Messiah. Therefore a Christian was one who believed in the Messiah—that is, that He had come and that He was Jesus.

Paul went a step further. He believed that the Moral Law, the Old and New Testaments, but principally the teachings of Jesus, should be given to all the world; that they were not for Jews alone but for Gentiles as well. And he set out to do it at a time when Rome, plagued by moral degeneracy and a high standard of living that was brazenly materialistic, was decaying from within.

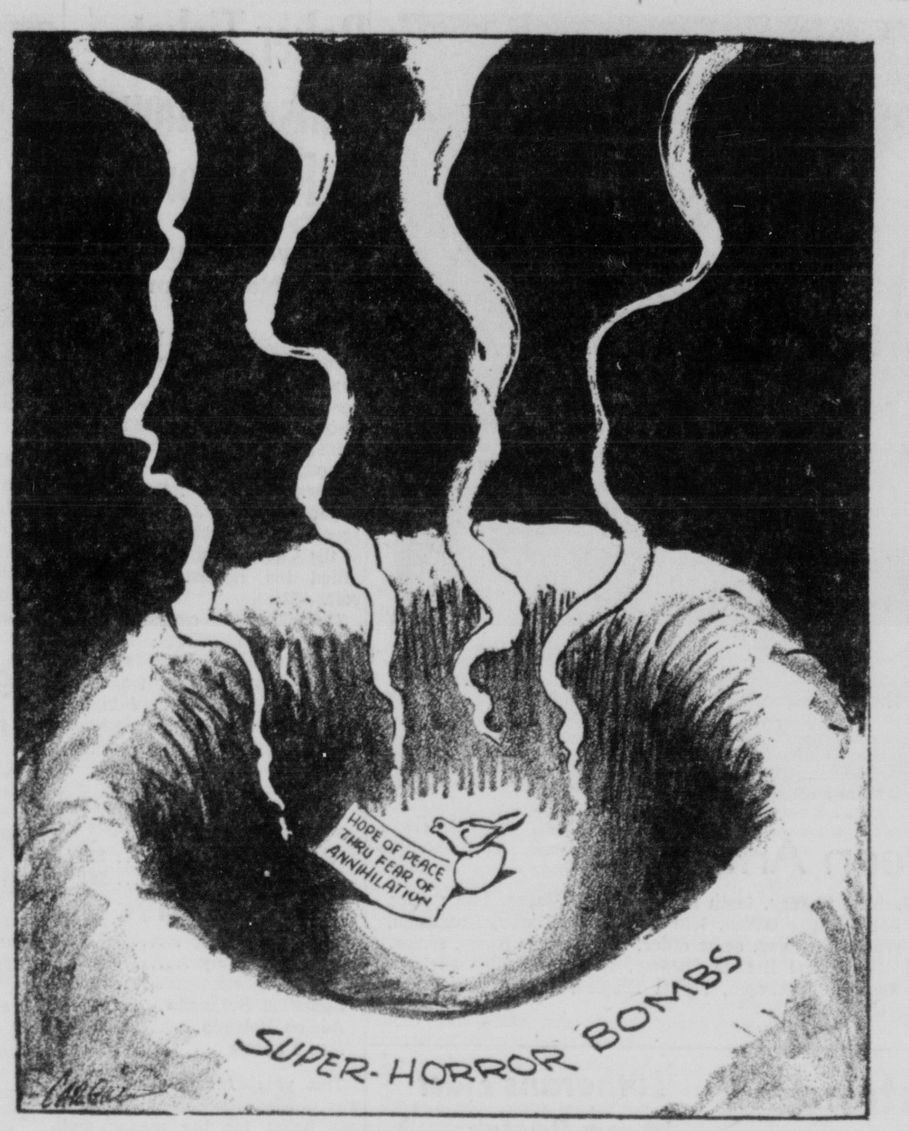

In many respects, Billy Graham faces the same problem in the Western world and when he opens in New York, he will be dealing with as complex a society as any evangelist has ever known. The real danger to Billy's mission is that sophisticated New York will regard him as another show, a live act that has had good billing and a splendid advance build-up. "Variety" will report the attendance and each night's take and it might even make a fuss over those who admit sin and seek conversion.

But none of that can be an evangelist's mission. His function is to change society by changing individual human beings. Billy Sunday was unbelievably successful as a show but he laid an egg as a changer of men. He left no mark upon our society. Crime increased. Homosexuality increased. Juvenile delinquency increased. Respect for parents and teachers decreased. The statistics of our society after the advent of Billy Sunday indicate that while interest in his mission was enormous, his influence upon society was trifling. And yet, in another era, such a man as John Wesley did move mountains with song and word.

This is the test that Billy Graham faces as he comes into New York, a city of mixed moral and social concepts. He pitches his tent in Madison Square Garden in a district where prostitutes, male as well as female, openly vie for customers. In Christian doctrine, if he succeeds in converting a single sinner to a moral life, Billy Graham has accomplished much. But for that one needs enormous faith not an ever-present efficient organization.

Interest Problems Reflect Supply-Demand Law

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Money is still "tight" and there's no sign that inflation is abating. In fact the government may have to pay higher interest rates to attract lenders and this in turn may force the whole level of interest rates in America up another few points.

The Treasury has just tested out the market with its offer to exchange four billion dollars of notes that it borrowed in 1954 at 1⅝ per cent. It made two offerings last week — four month notes at 3½ per cent and notes for four years and nine months paying 3⅝ per cent interest.

The holders of the 1954 notes subscribed to about 72 per cent of the new offering. The Treasury now has to put up cash for the other 28 per cent which amounts to about $1,167,000,000. This poses no problem because the government has a big cash reserve. But it does raise some interesting questions for the future.

First of all, why did the holders of nearly a third of the 1954 notes decline to accept the Treasury's offer? The answer is that most of the holders were corporations. They needed cash either for their own capital requirements or found other investments in today's market more attractive than what the Treasury was offering.

One reason is that many good corporations lately have been offering in the money market to pay interest rates to investors ranging from 4½ per cent to 4.3 per cent. States and cities whose securities are exempt from federal income taxes have been offering bonds at 3½ per cent and some even as much as four per cent. This puts the federal government at a disadvantage in its borrowings but that's the law of supply and demand and nothing can be done about it in the way of artificial support without weakening the whole financial structure.

Under the New Deal and the Fair Deal the Treasury never had to worry about whether its new issues would be undersubscribed. The Federal Reserve Board, being dominated by the Treasury at the time, simply held the rates down knowing that the Treasury with the cooperation of the banks would merely "print some more money," as it was often described, and buy up the available bonds. By supplying an abundance of credit, money rates were kept low.

In the closing days, however, of the Truman Administration, there began a policy which has been materially strengthened under the Eisenhower Administration whereby money rates are honest rates and the federal government no longer uses its "printing presses" to hold interest rates at artificially low levels.

The Treasury now must test out the market just as any other borrower does. Last week when the treasury offered its new notes, officials knew in advance that a quarter to a third of them would not be accepted for exchange. This was because in the first four months of 1957 two billion dollars more securities were sold by corporations, states and cities than for the same period of last year — a record at that time. All these securities were bought by the lenders at rates far higher than what the Treasury has been offering.

The Treasury may be forced to put its rates up to attract borrowers but it is disinclined to do so because, once the federal government goes up a point or two, it pushes upward the whole range of interest rates in America. It could be that the situation is temporary but, if it isn't, the Treasury will have no choice but to follow the procession.

It may be asked how long the inflationary trend will continue and why interest rates keep on going up? It should not be forgotten that corporations aren't really getting four per cent when the government offers them a bond at that rate. This income is subject to a federal corporation tax of more than half. So money in such a case is really being loaned by corporations at a net return of something less than 2 per cent. As for individuals they, too, in many instances, aren't receiving the net income they used to get in the 1930s when interest rates were lower than they are today.

If members of Congress enact a tax reduction without a big drop in spending it may paradoxically enough make matters worse. For the inflationary trend isn't halted merely by cutting "appropriations." The government actually has available to spend — due to overhang from previous years — nearly twice as much each year as any appropriations voted for that year. The addition of more purchasing power through a reduction in individual income taxes may result in an even bigger demand for the available consumer goods and hence bring about higher prices all along the line.

Unless both spending and appropriations are materially cut by the government — and especially in the defense category, which seems unlikely — the inflationary trend will not be arrested and money rates will stay high. It's a condition and not a theory that faces the American people. With everybody pushing for higher wages and with higher prices consequently being forced on everything, including money rates, it is apparent that the inflation has far from run its course. Moscow, of course, is the root of it all.

Baering Down On The News

Looks like our War Department is a branch of the Travelers' Aid Society. It's just three menus to the minute steak since Winsome Churchill switched 80,000 troops from Suez to the Threadneedle - Downing Streets parallel.

Westward, the star of homburgs wends its way. Winsome has eked out of the picture like the sword-swallower who took a bow in the middle of his act.

From now on it's a problem in statistics, mathematics and refunds on bottles. Napoleon's orders to Grouchy at Waterloo read, "March toward the sound of Univacs."

When Churchill took those 80,000 troops out of the Near East he opened the doors on the monkey house. That was Nasser's cue to throw his weight around like a tied calf in a Texas twister.

If Downing Street whistles its NATO troops home from West Germany we've pulled another badger. We've married into a circus family and we had to join the act.

The Mayflower is on its way with homburgs, second guesses, alternative plans and sweet talk. In 1620 Plymouth Rock was first base. Now it's home plate.

Nickerson Memo Shows Big Firms Battle Over Missile Development

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—If you read the full text of the Colonel John Nickerson secret memo on guided missiles you can easily understand why his court martial has been postponed and why he may never be brought to trial.

The Defense Department has the same kind of a bear by the tail that Herbert Hoover had when he ordered the court martial of General Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps for criticising Mussolini. The Butler court martial would have developed into a trial of Mussolini and was finally dropped.

Likewise, the court martial of Colonel Nickerson is certain to develop into a trial of Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson and his former firm, General Motors, together with Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and his former firm, Bell Telephone.

What Nickerson does, in effect, is accuse them of favoring their own companies by putting guided missile development in the hands of the Air Force, plus General Motors, Bell Telephone, and Douglas Aircraft, at the same time boycotting the Army which does business with General Motors' rival, Chrysler.

Colonel Nickerson also argued that lumping guided missile development under the Air Force in Southern California put too many defense plants in that key area as a target to Russian bombers. The Army's work near Huntsville, Ala., where he is a top executive, he claimed, was less accessible to enemy bombers.

Big Business vs. Government

The Nickerson memo, which came into my hands but was seized by the Defense Department when we did them the courtesy of asking for security guidance, contains these significant passages regarding the battle of big business to control development of the intermediate range missile—the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor:

"A.C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors has the inertial guidance responsibility for Thor. The development of the Jupiter guidance system is done by ABMA (Army Ballistic Missile Agency) at Huntsville. Production of guidance components is by the Ford Instrument Division of Sperry-Rand."

"The Army radio-guidance system developed by JP (jet propulsion laboratory of Army) is also superior to that being developed by the Bell Telephone laboratories for Thor."

There follows some technical information which I have censored for fear it might aid a potential enemy.

"Discontiuance of the Army missile" continues the secret memo, "will result in the concentration of the following programs in the Bell-Douglas combination—Nike I, Nike II, IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile of 1500 miles), and ICBM (Intercontinental Ballistic Missile of 5000 miles range). This is too much missile concentration in one combination. Should one add the Sage and Cesar programs at Bell and the Navy and Air Forces aircraft contracts at Douglas—the over-concentration is obviously serious.

"Furthermore, discontinuance of the Army IRBM would result in an even greater concentration of development in Southern California. This concentration is already a source of considerable worry from a defense standpoint. The Southeastern United States, on the other hand, is strategically a sound location of a missile program.

"It should be noted that the aircraft industry and particularly the Douglas Aircraft Company openly oppose the development of any missile by a government agency. High officials of the Douglas Company have stated that Douglas is paying particular attention of the possibilities of killing off the operation at Huntsville, Alabama.

"It is expected that the Wilson memorandum (which killed the Army's missile work) has been heavily influenced by lobbying by this company and by the Bell Telephone Company. It is noted that both competing missiles to this combination, i.e., Jupiter and Talos, are jeopardized by the Wilson memorandum."

Army Out In Cold

"It seems that no service is going to permit the Army to develop for that service a weapon system of the importance of Jupiter. This fact, coupled with the power of the aircraft industry influence on Air Force policy and the absence of Army operational responsibility, will insure serious attrition of the von Braun team at Huntsville, Alabama."

Colonel Nickerson was referring to the German scientist who developed the first guided missile for Hitler, who has been working since the war for the Army.

"The loss of the Jupiter program would destroy the basis for the leadership of the Army ballistic missile agency by removing the challanging development work required to keep their development team together under civil service conditions.

"The key scientists of the ABMA team can generally command double their current salaries with indsutry. They remain with the Army because the Army has provided challenging work which has permitted them to lead the ballistic missile field and thus enhance their reputations.

"These facts mean that the denial to the Army on an operational requirement for intermediate range ballistic missiles will result in serious attrition to the best ballistic missile team in the United States at a time when the development of a ballistic missile is of the utmost national urgency."

Further revelations from the guided missile report and the debate inside the armed services will be published in the near future.

Presidents & Budgets

By Stewart Alsop

President Eisenhower's belated last stand against the fierce attack on his budget suggests a somewhat surprising question. Did Congress trust Harry S. Truman and Dean G. Acheson more than it trusts Dwight Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles, in the field of foreign policy?

Consider the contrast. Despite the President's intention of "going to the people," most observers agree that the chances are still high that the Congress will cut the liver and lights out of the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign program, carving great hunks out of the foreign aid program, the foreign information program, and the State Department budget.

It will be considered a miracle if the President holds the foreign aid program, originally budgeted at $4.4 billion, at much over $3 billion. Now look at the Truman-Acheson record on foreign aid.

In 1948-49 the Truman administration asked for $6.8 billion in foreign aid and got $6.4 billion; in 1950 for $5.5 billion and got $5.2 billion; in 1951 for $7.8 billion and got $7.4 billion; in 1952 for $7.5 billion and got $7.3. In short, the Truman-Acheson programs were cut by the small, manageable percentage points — around 5 per cent — a budget-maker always allows for, while the Eisenhower-Dulles program was cut by almost a quarter last year, and may be cut by a third this year.

The Eisenhower-Dulles foreign aid program is lower than the Truman-Acheson programs by from one to three billion dollars. Truman, moreover, was very far from a universally popular President in the period of "Korea, Communism, and corruption." As for Acheson he was the main political target of the Republicans, and he found precious few defenders among the Democrats.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was reelected only six months ago by the second largest majority in history, and he is still phenomenally popular. His Secretary of State is not universally well-liked, but he has never become a central political target, and he has had an infinitely more kindly press than his predecessor. Yet Truman and Acheson always, without exception, got essentially what they wanted out of Congress, in matters affecting foreign policy, while Eisenhower and Dulles will be lucky to save the bare bones of their foreign program. Why the contrast?

As usual, there are all sorts of reasons. There is the new budget-consciousness among the voters, which has awed the whole Congress. There is the growing economic isolationism of the South, one of the most important political phenomena of the Eisenhower years. There is the fact that foreign aid has been with us for a long time now, and the save-the-world fervor of the early Marshall Plan era is all gone now.

But it is also true that the President and his Secretary of State have been hoist on their own petards. Petard number one was the "peace" propaganda of the 1956 campaign. It was undoubtedly effective politics. But it also persuaded a lot of voters that the time had come to sink back happily into what Time magazine has called "the new normalcy," and stop worrying about all those bothersome foreigners.

Petard number two is the way the foreign aid program was managed in the first Eisenhower administration. In the early Eisenhower years the program was cut way down to close to the $3 billion mark, in the name of "economy." But these "savings" were largely phoney — it was a process of living off fat in the form of accumulated previous appropriations. Where the fat is almost all gone, the Administration was forced to ask for a sudden sharp increase in foreign aid, which was both irritating and inexplicable to Congress and the country.

But there is another reason too. President Truman's partisan belligerency often did harm. But it had its uses. He defended his budget, for example, with the instinctive ferocity of a mother bear defending her cub. But when Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey said that "there are a lot of places in this budget that can be cut," President Eisenhower at first blandly agreed with him.

At that precise moment (though he did not know it at the time) the President pulled the trap door on his foreign aid program, and other important items in his program as well. He is now trying to replace the trap door. But it will be uphill work. The betting still is that Congress will do to the popular Eisenhower what it never dared do to the unpopular Truman — hack away at his whole foreign policy program with a meat-axe all along the line.

Not Every Rash Means A Case Of Measles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Not long ago I overheard a woman say, "My child has had all kinds of measles at least four or five times." She backed down a bit when questioned in more detail because there are only two types of measles — regular (rubeola) and German (rubella). Such statements perpetuate the misconception that there are many kinds of measles and that they can be contracted over and over again like the common cold.

The rose rash of infancy (roseola infantum) frequently is misdiagnosed as measles. This condition is most prevalent among children from 6 months to 3 years of age. It begins abruptly with high fever and occasionally a convulsion. The temperature remains elevated for several days and everyone is puzzled because there are no other findings to give a clew.

On the third or fourth day, fever subsides suddenly and a bright red rash breaks out over the entire body. This eruption suggests measles but the course of the illness is different as well as the distribution of the lesions. In both types of measles, the rash occurs while fever is present and it breaks out initially on the face and hair margin and then spreads over the trunk and extremities.

Regular measles occurs in epidemic proportions every two to four years in the late winter or early spring. This is a measles year. The disease is highly contagious and few escape. Preliminary symptoms resemble a cold and may last several days before the eruption appears. The initial fever continues a day or so and is associated with a running nose.

When fever abates the mother may send the child to school, thinking him well. It is at this time that he passes the disease to all his susceptible classmates. The reprieve is short and with 24 to 48 hours his temperature rises. The tot coughs and has redness of the eyes and a nasal discharge.

During this period white specks (Koplik's spots) develop inside the mouth. They look like dots or grains of salt on a red base and are most numerous in the pouch between gums and cheek.

During this part of the illness the type tries to avoid bright lights. This led to the erroneous belief that the victim of measles should be confined to a dark room. Discomfort stems from irritation of the eyes and is more uncomfortable than harmful. The youngster can watch television—a good way to ease household tension.

THE ESKIMO'S ARTERIES

A. M. writes: Has there ever been a study of arteriosclerosis among the Eskimos? If it is true that the bulk of their diet is made up of blubber, doesn't the fat-cholesterol theory account for a high percentage of their deaths?

REPLY

There is more to arteriosclerosis than a high fat diet. In addition, the Eskimo eats more than blubber, and the amount of cholesterol deposited in the walls of the arteries depends upon the combination of saturated and unsaturated fatty acids, exercise, weight, and the circulating hormones.

TOMORROW: Structure and function of the nose.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

The boss of one of America's most successful restaurants journeyed to Vienna to see his birthplace, and tried to find some of his friends of yesteryear. In the course of his wanderings, he encountered a dishwasher at a big hotel who looked so discouraged and down-and-out that the American spent ten minutes trying to cheer him up. "Faith, man! Courage!" he exclaimed. "Look what happened to me. When I landed in New York, I was a dishwasher, too. Today I own a big restaurant."

"Sure, that's America," sighed the other. "In Vienna, it's the opposite. I started out owning this hotel. Now I'm the dishwasher!"

One bum met another on Skid Row and reported, "I ran into poor old Okie Bozo the other day and he sure had a pinched look." "Too bad," sighed the other. "What do you think was the cause?"

"Well, for one thing," explained the first, "he was handcuffed to a cop."

Nickerson Memo Shows Big Firms Battle Over Missile Development

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—If you read the full text of the Colonel John Nickerson secret memo on guided missiles you can easily understand why his court martial has been postponed and why he may never be brought to trial.

The Defense Department has the same kind of a bear by the tail that Herbert Hoover had when he ordered the court martial of General Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps for criticising Mussolini. The Butler court martial would have developed into a trial of Mussolini and was finally dropped.

Likewise, the court martial of Colonel Nickerson is certain to develop into a trial of Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson and his former firm, General Motors, together with Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and his former firm, Bell Telephone.

What Nickerson does, in effect, is accuse them of favoring their own companies by putting guided missile development in the hands of the Air Force, plus General Motors, Bell Telephone, and Douglas Aircraft, at the same time boycotting the Army which does business with General Motors' rival, Chrysler.

Colonel Nickerson also argued that lumping guided missile development under the Air Force in Southern California put too many defense plants in that key area as a target to Russian bombers. The Army's work near Huntsville, Ala., where he is a top executive, he claimed, was less accessible to enemy bombers.

Big Business vs. Government

The Nickerson memo, which came into my hands but was seized by the Defense Department when we did them the courtesy of asking for security guidance, contains these significant passages regarding the battle of big business to control development of the intermediate range missile—the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force's Thor:

"A.C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors has the inertial guidance responsibility for Thor. The development of the Jupiter guidance system is done by ABMA (Army Ballistic Missile Agency) at Huntsville. Production of guidance components is by the Ford Instrument Division of Sperry-Rand."

"The Army radio-guidance system developed by JP (jet propulsion laboratory of Army) is also superior to that being developed by the Bell Telephone laboratories for Thor."

There follows some technical information which I have censored for fear it might aid a potential enemy.

"Discontiuance of the Army missile" continues the secret memo, "will result in the concentration of the following programs in the Bell-Douglas combination—Nike I, Nike II, IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile of 1500 miles), and ICBM (Intercontinental Ballistic Missile of 5000 miles range). This is too much missile concentration in one combination. Should one add the Sage and Cesar programs at Bell and the Navy and Air Forces aircraft contracts at Douglas—the over-concentration is obviously serious.

"Furthermore, discontinuance of the Army IRBM would result in an even greater concentration of development in Southern California. This concentration is already a source of considerable worry from a defense standpoint. The Southeastern United States, on the other hand, is strategically a sound location of a missile program.

"It should be noted that the aircraft industry and particularly the Douglas Aircraft Company openly oppose the development of any missile by a government agency. High officials of the Douglas Company have stated that Douglas is paying particular attention of the possibilities of killing off the operation at Huntsville, Alabama.

"It is expected that the Wilson memorandum (which killed the Army's missile work) has been heavily influenced by lobbying by this company and by the Bell Telephone Company. It is noted that both competing missiles to this combination, i.e., Jupiter and Talos, are jeopardized by the Wilson memorandum."

Army Out In Cold

"It seems that no service is going to permit the Army to develop for that service a weapon system of the importance of Jupiter. This fact, coupled with the power of the aircraft industry influence on Air Force policy and the absence of Army operational responsibility, will insure serious attrition of the von Braun team at Huntsville, Alabama."

Colonel Nickerson was referring to the German scientist who developed the first guided missile for Hitler, who has been working since the war for the Army.

"The loss of the Jupiter program would destroy the basis for the leadership of the Army ballistic missile agency by removing the challanging development work required to keep their development team together under civil service conditions.

"The key scientists of the ABMA team can generally command double their current salaries with indsutry. They remain with the Army because the Army has provided challenging work which has permitted them to lead the ballistic missile field and thus enhance their reputations.

"These facts mean that the denial to the Army on an operational requirement for intermediate range ballistic missiles will result in serious attrition to the best ballistic missile team in the United States at a time when the development of a ballistic missile is of the utmost national urgency."

Further revelations from the guided missile report and the debate inside the armed services will be published in the near future.

Interest Problems Reflect Supply-Demand Law

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Money is still "tight" and there's no sign that inflation is abating. In fact the government may have to pay higher interest rates to attract lenders and this in turn may force the whole level of interest rates in America up another few points.

The Treasury has just tested out the market with its offer to exchange four billion dollars of notes that it borrowed in 1954 at 1⅝ per cent. It made two offerings last week — four month notes at 3½ per cent and notes for four years and nine months paying 3⅝ per cent interest.

The holders of the 1954 notes subscribed to about 72 per cent of the new offering. The Treasury now has to put up cash for the other 28 per cent which amounts to about $1,167,000,000. This poses no problem because the government has a big cash reserve. But it does raise some interesting questions for the future.

First of all, why did the holders of nearly a third of the 1954 notes decline to accept the Treasury's offer? The answer is that most of the holders were corporations. They needed cash either for their own capital requirements or found other investments in today's market more attractive than what the Treasury was offering.

One reason is that many good corporations lately have been offering in the money market to pay interest rates to investors ranging from 4½ per cent to 4.3 per cent. States and cities whose securities are exempt from federal income taxes have been offering bonds at 3½ per cent and some even as much as four per cent. This puts the federal government at a disadvantage in its borrowings but that's the law of supply and demand and nothing can be done about it in the way of artificial support without weakening the whole financial structure.

Under the New Deal and the Fair Deal the Treasury never had to worry about whether its new issues would be undersubscribed. The Federal Reserve Board, being dominated by the Treasury at the time, simply held the rates down knowing that the Treasury with the cooperation of the banks would merely "print some more money," as it was often described, and buy up the available bonds. By supplying an abundance of credit, money rates were kept low.

In the closing days, however, of the Truman Administration, there began a policy which has been materially strengthened under the Eisenhower Administration whereby money rates are honest rates and the federal government no longer uses its "printing presses" to hold interest rates at artificially low levels.

The Treasury now must test out the market just as any other borrower does. Last week when the treasury offered its new notes, officials knew in advance that a quarter to a third of them would not be accepted for exchange. This was because in the first four months of 1957 two billion dollars more securities were sold by corporations, states and cities than for the same period of last year — a record at that time. All these securities were bought by the lenders at rates far higher than what the Treasury has been offering.

The Treasury may be forced to put its rates up to attract borrowers but it is disinclined to do so because, once the federal government goes up a point or two, it pushes upward the whole range of interest rates in America. It could be that the situation is temporary but, if it isn't, the Treasury will have no choice but to follow the procession.

It may be asked how long the inflationary trend will continue and why interest rates keep on going up? It should not be forgotten that corporations aren't really getting four per cent when the government offers them a bond at that rate. This income is subject to a federal corporation tax of more than half. So money in such a case is really being loaned by corporations at a net return of something less than 2 per cent. As for individuals they, too, in many instances, aren't receiving the net income they used to get in the 1930s when interest rates were lower than they are today.

If members of Congress enact a tax reduction without a big drop in spending it may paradoxically enough make matters worse. For the inflationary trend isn't halted merely by cutting "appropriations." The government actually has available to spend — due to overhang from previous years — nearly twice as much each year as any appropriations voted for that year. The addition of more purchasing power through a reduction in individual income taxes may result in an even bigger demand for the available consumer goods and hence bring about higher prices all along the line.

Unless both spending and appropriations are materially cut by the government — and especially in the defense category, which seems unlikely — the inflationary trend will not be arrested and money rates will stay high. It's a condition and not a theory that faces the American people. With everybody pushing for higher wages and with higher prices consequently being forced on everything, including money rates, it is apparent that the inflation has far from run its course. Moscow, of course, is the root of it all.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Looks like our War Department is a branch of the Travelers' Aid Society. It's just three menus to the minute steak since Winsome Churchill switched 80,000 troops from Suez to the Threadneedle - Downing Streets parallel.

Westward, the star of homburgs wends its way. Winsome has eked out of the picture like the sword-swallower who took a bow in the middle of his act.

From now on it's a problem in statistics, mathematics and refunds on bottles. Napoleon's orders to Grouchy at Waterloo read, "March toward the sound of Univacs."

When Churchill took those 80,000 troops out of the Near East he opened the doors on the monkey house. That was Nasser's cue to throw his weight around like a tied calf in a Texas twister.

If Downing Street whistles its NATO troops home from West Germany we've pulled another badger. We've married into a circus family and we had to join the act.

The Mayflower is on its way with homburgs, second guesses, alternative plans and sweet talk. In 1620 Plymouth Rock was first base. Now it's home plate.

Winsome taught Hussein from the answers in back of the book. Hussein accepted our ten million dollars like a tune on Tara's Harp. No strings.

It's what our 10,000 government lawyers call a jug-handled contract. Hussein gets the cabbage and we keep the rabbit.

Presidents & Budgets

By Stewart Alsop

President Eisenhower's belated last stand against the fierce attack on his budget suggests a somewhat surprising question. Did Congress trust Harry S. Truman and Dean G. Acheson more than it trusts Dwight Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles, in the field of foreign policy?

Consider the contrast. Despite the President's intention of "going to the people," most observers agree that the chances are still high that the Congress will cut the liver and lights out of the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign program, carving great hunks out of the foreign aid program, the foreign information program, and the State Department budget.

It will be considered a miracle if the President holds the foreign aid program, originally budgeted at $4.4 billion, at much over $3 billion. Now look at the Truman-Acheson record on foreign aid.

In 1948-49 the Truman administration asked for $6.8 billion in foreign aid and got $6.4 billion; in 1950 for $5.5 billion and got $5.2 billion; in 1951 for $7.8 billion and got $7.4 billion; in 1952 for $7.5 billion and got $7.3. In short, the Truman-Acheson programs were cut by the small, manageable percentage points — around 5 per cent — a budget-maker always allows for, while the Eisenhower-Dulles program was cut by almost a quarter last year, and may be cut by a third this year.

The Eisenhower-Dulles foreign aid program is lower than the Truman-Acheson programs by from one to three billion dollars. Truman, moreover, was very far from a universally popular President in the period of "Korea, Communism, and corruption." As for Acheson he was the main political target of the Republicans, and he found precious few defenders among the Democrats.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was reelected only six months ago by the second largest majority in history, and he is still phenomenally popular. His Secretary of State is not universally well-liked, but he has never become a central political target, and he has had an infinitely more kindly press than his predecessor. Yet Truman and Acheson always, without exception, got essentially what they wanted out of Congress, in matters affecting foreign policy, while Eisenhower and Dulles will be lucky to save the bare bones of their foreign program. Why the contrast?

As usual, there are all sorts of reasons. There is the new budget-consciousness among the voters, which has awed the whole Congress. There is the growing economic isolationism of the South, one of the most important political phenomena of the Eisenhower years. There is the fact that foreign aid has been with us for a long time now, and the save-the-world fervor of the early Marshall Plan era is all gone now.

But it is also true that the President and his Secretary of State have been hoist on their own petards. Petard number one was the "peace" propaganda of the 1956 campaign. It was undoubtedly effective politics. But it also persuaded a lot of voters that the time had come to sink back happily into what Time magazine has called "the new normalcy," and stop worrying about all those bothersome foreigners.

Petard number two is the way the foreign aid program was managed in the first Eisenhower administration. In the early Eisenhower years the program was cut way down to close to the $3 billion mark, in the name of "economy." But these "savings" were largely phoney — it was a process of living off fat in the form of accumulated previous appropriations. Where the fat is almost all gone, the Administration was forced to ask for a sudden sharp increase in foreign aid, which was both irritating and inexplicable to Congress and the country.

But there is another reason too. President Truman's partisan belligerency often did harm. But it had its uses. He defended his budget, for example, with the instinctive ferocity of a mother bear defending her cub. But when Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey said that "there are a lot of places in this budget that can be cut," President Eisenhower at first blandly agreed with him.

At that precise moment (though he did not know it at the time) the President pulled the trap door on his foreign aid program, and other important items in his program as well. He is now trying to replace the trap door. But it will be uphill work. The betting still is that Congress will do to the popular Eisenhower what it never dared do to the unpopular Truman — hack away at his whole foreign policy program with a meat-axe all along the line.

Not Every Rash Means A Case Of Measles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Not long ago I overheard a woman say, "My child has had all kinds of measles at least four or five times." She backed down a bit when questioned in more detail because there are only two types of measles — regular (rubeola) and German (rubella). Such statements perpetuate the misconception that there are many kinds of measles and that they can be contracted over and over again like the common cold.

The rose rash of infancy (roseola infantum) frequently is misdiagnosed as measles. This condition is most prevalent among children from 6 months to 3 years of age. It begins abruptly with high fever and occasionally a convulsion. The temperature remains elevated for several days and everyone is puzzled because there are no other findings to give a clew.

On the third or fourth day, fever subsides suddenly and a bright red rash breaks out over the entire body. This eruption suggests measles but the course of the illness is different as well as the distribution of the lesions. In both types of measles, the rash occurs while fever is present and it breaks out initially on the face and hair margin and then spreads over the trunk and extremities.

Regular measles occurs in epidemic proportions every two to four years in the late winter or early spring. This is a measles year. The disease is highly contagious and few escape. Preliminary symptoms resemble a cold and may last several days before the eruption appears. The initial fever continues a day or so and is associated with a running nose.

When fever abates the mother may send the child to school, thinking him well. It is at this time that he passes the disease to all his susceptible classmates. The reprieve is short and with 24 to 48 hours his temperature rises. The tot coughs and has redness of the eyes and a nasal discharge.

During this period white specks (Koplik's spots) develop inside the mouth. They look like dots or grains of salt on a red base and are most numerous in the pouch between gums and cheek.

During this part of the illness the type tries to avoid bright lights. This led to the erroneous belief that the victim of measles should be confined to a dark room. Discomfort stems from irritation of the eyes and is more uncomfortable than harmful. The youngster can watch television—a good way to ease household tension.

THE ESKIMO'S ARTERIES

A. M. writes: Has there ever been a study of arteriosclerosis among the Eskimos? If it is true that the bulk of their diet is made up of blubber, doesn't the fat-cholesterol theory account for a high percentage of their deaths?

REPLY

There is more to arteriosclerosis than a high fat diet. In addition, the Eskimo eats more than blubber, and the amount of cholesterol deposited in the walls of the arteries depends upon the combination of saturated and unsaturated fatty acids, exercise, weight, and the circulating hormones.

TOMORROW: Structure and function of the nose.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The boss of one of America's most successful restaurants journeyed to Vienna to see his birthplace, and tried to find some of his friends of yesteryear. In the course of his wanderings, he encountered a dishwasher at a big hotel who looked so discouraged and down-and-out that the American spent ten minutes trying to cheer him up. "Faith, man! Courage!" he exclaimed. "Look what happened to me. When I landed in New York, I was a dishwasher, too. Today I own a big restaurant."

"Sure, that's America," sighed the other. "In Vienna, it's the opposite. I started out owning this hotel. Now I'm the dishwasher!"

One bum met another on Skid Row and reported, "I ran into poor old Okie Bozo the other day and he sure had a pinched look."

"Too bad," sighed the other. "What do you think was the cause?"

Home From Hospital

LONACONING — George Eichhorn has returned to his home on East Main Street from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Announce Birth

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, of here, announce the birth of a son yesterday in Miners Hospital.

Gas Line Will Extend Into Garrett County

A six-mile gas line will be run to the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company plant at Jennings from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's main three miles north of Grantsville.

The six-inch pipe line, in addition to serving the big brick plant, will give residents of Grantsville an increased supply of natural gas.

C. O. Robbins, district manager for the C&A Gas Company, said here yesterday that the start of the project is awaiting approval of the Federal Power Commission.

Contract Awarded

The contract will be handled by the Baughman Contracting Company of LaVale, he added.

There will be a measuring station at the main pipe line, which runs along the Mason-Dixon line, one at Grantsville and another at the Jennings plant.

An official of the Harbison-Walker Company in Pittsburgh said yesterday the firm is changing from producer gas to natural gas at its Jennings plant.

Producer gas is made by converting coal in a process at the plant. It is harder to handle than natural gas, the spokesman added.

The natural gas is expected to improve the quality of the bricks produced by the company, he added.

Other Improvements

The conversion to natural gas is another step in the wide-scale improvement of the Garrett County refractory.

The grinding and tunnel kilns have been modernized, the main building has been rewired and has been given a new roof, along with other general overhauling projects.

Robbins said the six-inch main will give Grantsville customers improved service. The town has been supplied by a two-inch line for many years.

The utility had plans for replacing this line. By servicing the brick plant it will be able to accomplish the replacement and supply the brick plant.

Frostburg VFW Will Meet Tonight

FROSTBURG — Curtis Green, commander of John R. Fairgrieve Post 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced that a meeting of the group will be held at the post home today at 8 p. m.

Baker Ticket Wins Election In Piedmont

Mayor Renamed For New Term

PIEDMONT—Official returns in Piedmont biennial election Monday gave Mayor Rodney Baker his second term in office. He defeated Robert Wills by 252 votes.

Joseph Maybury and James Bissett, incumbent councilmen, also were re-elected. A newcomer to politics, Elmer J. Shaver, manager of the Piedmont Exchange of the C&P Telephone Company, polled the highest number of votes—515.

The victorious candidates ran on the Citizens Ticket. Election officials said there were 786 votes cast, a slight decrease from two years ago when 841 went to the polls. There are approximately 1,350 registered voters in Piedmont.

The official returns:

For Mayor

Rodney Baker	513
Robert Wills	261

For Council

Elmer J. Shaver	515
Joseph Maybury	494
James Bissett	460
Sebastian Barbarito	303
Adolph Hokamp	255
Rex Chilcote	170

This year's municipal election was divided into two phases with one ballot for the mayor and councilmen and the second for votes on a three-year increased tax levy which must be approved by 60 per cent of the voters for endorsement. The levy is for a new city water line.

For the tax levy were 615; against 125 with 46 not voting.

Piedmont's mayor is elected for two years. The two candidates for council receiving the highest number of votes are elected for four-year terms while the third councilman serves a two-year term.

Holdover councilmen not up for election are Kingsley Skidmore and W. Garland Cheshire. Mervin High, who completed two four-year terms on the council, was not a candidate for re-election.

Baker Ticket Wins Election In Piedmont

Mayor Renamed For New Term

PIEDMONT—Official returns in Piedmont biennial election Monday gave Mayor Rodney Baker his second term in office. He defeated Robert Wills by 252 votes.

Joseph Maybury and James Bissett, incumbent councilmen, also were re-elected. A newcomer to politics, Elmer J. Shaver, manager of the Piedmont Exchange of the C&P Telephone Company, polled the highest number of votes—515.

The victorious candidates ran on the Citizens Ticket. Election officials said there were 786 votes cast, a slight decrease from two years ago when 841 went to the polls. There are approximately 1,350 registered voters in Piedmont.

The official returns:

For Mayor

Rodney Baker	513
Robert Wills	261

For Council

Elmer J. Shaver	515
Joseph Maybury	494
James Bissett	460
Sebastian Barbarito	303
Adolph Hokamp	255
Rex Chilcote	170

This year's municipal election was divided into two phases with one ballot for the mayor and councilmen and the second for votes on a three-year increased tax levy which must be approved by 60 per cent of the voters for endorsement. The levy is for a new city water line.

For the tax levy were 615, against 125 with 46 not voting.

Piedmont's mayor is elected for two years. The two candidates for council receiving the highest number of votes are elected for four-year terms while the third councilman serves a two-year term.

Holdover councilmen not up for election are Kingsley Skidmore and W. Garland Cheshire. Mervin High, who completed two four-year terms on the council, was not a candidate for re-election.

Announce Birth

FROSTBURG — Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, of here, announce the birth of a son yesterday in Miners Hospital.

Gas Line Will Extend Into Garrett County

A six-mile gas line will be run to the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company plant at Jennings from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's main three miles north of Grantsville.

The six-inch pipe line, in addition to serving the big brick plant, will give residents of Grantsville an increased supply of natural gas.

C. O. Robbins, district manager for the C&A Gas Company, said here yesterday that the start of the project is awaiting approval of the Federal Power Commission.

Contract Awarded

The contract will be handled by the Baughman Contracting Company of LaVale, he added.

There will be a measuring station at the main pipe line, which runs along the Mason-Dixon line, one at Grantsville and another at the Jennings plant.

An official of the Harbison-Walker Company in Pittsburgh said yesterday the firm is changing from producer gas to natural gas at its Jennings plant.

Producer gas is made by converting coal in a process at the plant. It is harder to handle than natural gas, the spokesman added.

The natural gas is expected to improve the quality of the bricks produced by the company, he added.

Other Improvements

The conversion to natural gas is another step in the wide-scale improvement of the Garrett County refractory.

The grinding and tunnel kilns have been modernized, the main building has been rewired and has been given a new roof, along with other general overhauling projects.

Robbins said the six-inch main will give Grantsville customers improved service. The town has been supplied by a two-inch line for many years.

The utility had plans for replacing this line. By servicing the brick plant it will be able to accomplish the replacement and supply the brick plant.

Phils Snap Cincinnati's 12-Game Win String, 10-8

Ed Bouchee's Homer In 9th Wins Game

Loss Knocks Cinci Out Of 1st Place Tie With Braves

CINCINNATI, O., May 14 — (INS)—Rookie Ed Bouchee's two-run homer in the ninth inning earned the Philadelphia Phillies a 10 to 8 victory tonight and snapped a 12-game win streak of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Redlegs fell a full game behind the Milwaukee braves in the tight battle for the leadership in the National League as a result of the defeat and the Braves' win over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The game was a slugfest most of the way ,with the Phillies bashing out 12 hits and redlegs 10.

Rookie Harry Anderson homered for the Phillies in the third inning.

Bob Thurman clouted a round-tripper for the Redlegs in the fifth with two men on.

Dick Farrell, the second of four Phillies pitchers, was the winner and Raul Sanchez, the third of five Redlegs hurlers, was the loser.

SPORTS GRILL

NEW YORK, May 14 (INS)—The fight racket appears to be in a more complicated mess than usual.

Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champion, who could use a few bucks, is willing to fight but can't because his strutting manager, Cus D'Amato won't even talk to promoter Jim Norris.

Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champion, who at 206 weighs 20 pounds more than the heavyweight champion, wants a guarantee of $100,000 before attempting to shed all that extra suet to defend his title.

Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight boss, wants a cool night in September before defending his title against Carmen Basilio, the welter champion. Norris can guarantee the purse for Robinson, but not the weather.

Cherif Hamia, a French citizen, is willing to fight Kid Bassey for the vacated featherweight title, but since Hamia is an Arab, he is having trouble getting his family out of their home in Algiers.

All this reminds us that our boxing commissions would do well to adopt the European system in getting champions to defend their titles by a certain date.

Let's take France as an example. Let's say a middleweight wants to challenge for the European title. he must produce 12 copies of his record which the French commission will send to other European commissions asking (1) their approval of the challenger and (2) if they have a more suitable contender.

Let's say the challenger is accepted. Then a date is set, and the champion is told to be ready to fight on that date or have his title forfeited.

What about the gate? That doesn't matter to the commission. What about the champion getting sick? That doesn't bother the commission. Why? Because the commission has found that champions unwilling to fight always have been able to find a doctor to give them a certificate of unfitness. If the fighter actually is sick, that's just too bad —he'll lose his title.

Under that system Sugar Ray Robinson would never have been able to run out on so many scheduled fights.

Get this: European commissions take the position that a boxing title belongs to the public and not, repeat not, to the fighter. It is his to hold on lend-lease only so long as he is able to defend it.

In this country all champions have operated on the idea that the championship is theirs to hold, even if they never defend it. You may point out flaws in the European system but you have to admit it is effective.

Legion Loop Shrinks Keller Homers Win

By C. V. BURNS

WEST VIRGINIA'S Region Four baseball tournament could be a repeat of the 1956 season with the three top teams of last year in the running again.

Moorefield and Martinsburg are 10-0 and Elk Garden is 9-0 at the present time.

In 1956, Moorefield (10-0) won the regional by beating Elk Garden, 7-1, and Martinsburg 3-1, but lost out in the state quarter-final round at Parkersburg to Stoco, 4-2.

Harold Mongold, Moorefield's mound ace of 1956, was graduated last June, and the Yellowjackets must rely on Harry Fitzwater (5-0) and Lester Hyre (5-0).

Dewaine Murphy, who has won 10 out of 13 games for Elk Garden in three seasons, is going strong and Steve "Lefty" Everhart is back as a consistent winner for Martinsburg.

In the regional finals last year, Mongold came up with a no-hitter to beat Everhart.

IF Moorefield and Elk Garden go through the P.V.C. undefeated they'll be recognized as co-champions even though one team should win more games than the other. The Jackets play a schedule of 11 games and Elk Garden is billed to play ten.

ALBERT J. BOYLE, who hopes to sell his Charles Town (W. Va.) race track to a group of Texans, headed by Clint W. Murchison, wealthy oilman, for $4,000,000, was born near Frederick, Md., and was foreman on the construction job when the Charles Town track was built in the early 1930s.

Albert and his brother Joseph were the chief investors in the project. The first meeting was held in 1933 but was so bad most of the stockholders dropped out. Albert then gained control of the track and it has been highly successful since 1934.

DEER HUNTERS now can determine live and dressed weight of deer, according to the Department of Research and Education.

Data answering this long standing question was gathered during the 1956 deer season at Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

Fifty-seven deer were weighed before and after being dressed out.

Live weight can be determined by multiplying dressed weight by 1.44. Dressed weight can be predicted by dividing the live weight by 1.44.

GEORGE ZEGLES, baseball chairman of junior baseball for Mountain District, American Legion, believes only two posts will place teams in the field next month when the season gets under way.

It looks like Midland Post No. 169 and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 will be the only entries and if they are they'll battle it out in a best-of-seven games series for district honors.

Frostburg and Oakland, the other teams in the 1956 league, have tossed in the sponge, according to Zegles.

In 1952, the last time only two teams were entered, Midland Post won four games in a row in what was to have been a best-of-seven series with Fort Cumberland Post.

Cumberland teams have won the league title for the past four years.

CHARLIE KELLER, JR., whose pop used to hit the long ball for the New York Yankees, is also a home run belter.

Twice within a week his circuit belts helped bring about the undoing of Hagerstown high school teams. He hit a pair of four-baggers as Frederick High's Cadets snapped South Hagerstown's 5-game winning streak, 7-5, and he and his brother Don slammed round-trippers during a 4-run uprising in the 7th inning as the Cadets trimmed North Hagerstown, 13-11.

RALPH EDWARD "RED" KAVE, 39, who died recently in Baltimore, boxed for Bobby Shrout in the 1930s when the latter was promoting shows here.

Floyd Patterson To Defend Title

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the almost forgotten heavyweight champion, finally will defend his title, but the place and opponent won't be known until tomorrow.

Yankees-K.C. Game Reset For Thursday

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — A steady rain forced the postponement of tonight's scheduled game between New York and Kansas City at Yankee Stadium. The game immediately was re-scheduled for Thursday night, originally an off day for both teams.

The rain was a break for Yankee third baseman Andy Carey, who had reported to the park under the weather and did not even take part in batting practice. Manager Casey Stengel made a last minute switch, moving Gil McDougald from short to third and sending Tony Kubek, his promising rookie to shortstop. Kubek, who played shortstop in the minors, has been used excluseively in left field by the Yankees this season.

Sauer Wallops Two Home Runs As Giants Win

New Yorkers Defeat St. Louis Cards, 5-3

ST. LOUIS, May 14 (AP) — Al Worthington saved the game for starter Ruben Gomez in the ninth and Hank Sauer banged two home runs as the New York Giants dropped the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 5-3.

In the ninth with one out and Cardinals on first and second, Worthington got Don Blasingame and Al Dark on foul pops to the catcher.

The nifty relief job meant the fifth victory of the season for Gomez against one defeat.

Behind 2-1, the Giants tallied three times in the fourth inning. All the runs were unearned.

Red Schoendienst doubled in the winning fourth with one out and went to third on a fly ball.

Ken Boyer fumbled Willie Mays' ground ball and Schoendienst scored.

Mays, the leading base stealer in the major leagues, stole second. He also stole third and when Boyer let catcher Hal Smith's throw go through him, Mays tallied the tie-breaking run.

Italy Halts Road Races For Rest Of Year

Action Is Taken After 13 Deaths

ROME, May 14 (AP)—Italy's automobile and motorcycle federations tonight announced the suspension of all open road races for the rest of the year as a result of the 13 deaths in Sunday's Mille Miglia.

The two federations informed the government of their decision 24 hours after a half dozen deputies and senators had said they would demand a parliamentary ban on such races.

Despite safety precautions which have been tightened each year, both auto and motorcycle road races have taken a steady toll of life along Italy's narrow, twisting highways.

Three drivers and ten spectators, including five children, were killed in Sunday's 1,000 mile classic—last of the great European open road races.

The decision by the automobile and motorcycle federations affects half a dozen regional road races scheduled for the rest of the year —none on the grand scale of the Mille Miglia.

The nationally televised and broadcast 10 rounder (9 p.m. EST, ABC) marks the third start of 23-year-old Boyd since Joey Giardello floored him three times and broke his jaw in scoring a five round TKO at Cleveland eight months ago.

Boyd, ranked No. 2 contender at that time, was able to return to the boxing business March 26 and defeated Frank Szusina in 10 at Miami Beach, Fla. He did the same to Eddy Demars at Providence, R.I. April 15.

B.P.O. Elks defeated Celanese, 10-2, the Outdoor Club swamped Pittsburgh Plate Glass, 12-0 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars downed the Knights of Columbus, 8-5, yesterday to remain undefeated in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The Loyal Order of Moose crashed the win column for the first time this season at the expense of Ritter's Social Club, which suffered its third straight setback, 12-1.

Klavuhn Wins Third

Dick Klavuhn scored his third straight win of the campaign as the Elks trimmed the Silkmen at Celanese Field.

Klavuhn also headed the Elks' 12 hit assault with two doubles and a pair of singles while Bob Pence had a two-bagger and single. Jack Kauffman collected three of the losers' eight hits.

The Outdoor Club, which walloped Celanese last week by the score of 17-0, routed Pittsburgh Plate Glass yesterday for its third straight league triumph.

Outdoor Gets 16 Blows

While "Pete" Elliott was limiting the Glassmen to three hits, two of which were credited to Lawrence, the ODC clubbers were pounding the offerings of Bill Thompson and "Bud" Law for 16 blows. Mil Dean banged a pair of doubles and a single while Elliott, Ronnie Cage, "Bub" Porter and Van Johnson had two hits each. Elliott smacked a triple and Van Johnson had a two-bagger. Porter turned in a nice running catch in right field and Johnson excelled at the hot corner for the 1956 league champions. Manager Clay Ingram starred at short for Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

Rain Helps Vets Win

The Knights of Columbus rallied for four runs in the top of the 6th inning but rain nullified the tallies, the score reverted to the fifth inning and the V.F.W. scored their second straight win of the season.

"Chug" Aman was returned the victor over Gene Scaletta in this one.

Jack Martin accounted for two of the Vets' five hits while doubles by Mickey Clark and Scaletta were among the Casey's five safeties.

Niland Hurls 5-Hitter

Joe Niland came up with a five-hitter as the Moose tossers won their first game of the season at the expense of Ritter's.

The winners racked up 13 hits with Frank Williams getting three-for-three and Pete Cecil and Herman Lewis garnered two bingles each. Ace Comer had two of the five hits yielded by Niland. Rain halted hostilities in the top of the seventh inning. The scores:

Ed Bouchee's Homer In 9th Wins Game

Loss Knocks Cinci Out Of 1st Place Tie With Braves

CINCINNATI, O., May 14 — (INS)—Rookie Ed Bouchee's two-run homer in the ninth inning earned the Philadelphia Phillies a 10 to 8 victory tonight and snapped a 12-game win streak of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Redlegs fell a full game behind the Milwaukee braves in the tight battle for the leadership in the National League as a result of the defeat and the Braves' win over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The game was a slugfest most of the way ,with the Phillies bashing out 12 hits and redlegs 10.

Rookie Harry Anderson homered for the Phillies in the third inning.

Bob Thurman clouted a round-tripper for the Redlegs in the fifth with two men on.

Dick Farrell, the second of four Phillies pitchers, was the winner and Raul Sanchez, the third of five Redlegs hurlers, was the loser.

SPORTS GRILL

NEW YORK, May 14 (INS)—The fight racket appears to be in a more complicated mess than usual.

Floyd Patterson, the heavyweight champion, who could use a few bucks, is willing to fight but can't because his strutting manager, Cus D'Amato won't even talk to promoter Jim Norris.

Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champion, who at 206 weighs 20 pounds more than the heavyweight champion, wants a guarantee of $100,000 before attempting to shed all that extra suet to defend his title.

Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight boss, wants a cool night in September before defending his title against Carmen Basilio, the welter champion. Norris can guarantee the purse for Robinson, but not the weather.

Cherif Hamia, a French citizen, is willing to fight Kid Bassey for the vacated featherweight title, but since Hamia is an Arab, he is having trouble getting his family out of their home in Algiers.

All this reminds us that our boxing commissions would do well to adopt the European system in getting champions to defend their titles by a certain date.

Let's take France as an example. Let's say a middleweight wants to challenge for the European title. he must produce 12 copies of his record which the French commission will send to other European commissions asking (1) their approval of the challenger and (2) if they have a more suitable contender.

Let's say the challenger is accepted. Then a date is set, and the champion is told to be ready to fight on that date or have his title forfeited.

What about the gate? That doesn't matter to the commission. What about the champion getting sick? That doesn't bother the commission. Why? Because the commission has found that champions unwilling to fight always have been able to find a doctor to give them a certificate of unfitness. If the fighter actually is sick, that's just too bad —he'll lose his title.

Under that system Sugar Ray Robinson would never have been able to run out on so many scheduled fights.

Get this: European commissions take the position that a boxing title belongs to the public and not, repeat not, to the fighter. It is his to hold on lend-lease only so long as he is able to defend it.

In this country all champions have operated on the idea that the championship is theirs to hold, even if they never defend it. You may point out flaws in the European system but you have to admit it is effective.

Legion Loop Shrinks — Keller Homers Win

By C. V. BURNS

WEST VIRGINIA'S Region Four baseball tournament could be a repeat of the 1956 season with the three top teams of last year in the running again.

Moorefield and Martinsburg are 10-0 and Elk Garden is 9-0 at the present time.

In 1956, Moorefield (10-0) won the regional by beating Elk Garden, 7-1, and Martinsburg 3-1, but lost out in the state quarter-final round at Parkersburg to Stoco, 4-2.

Harold Mongold, Moorefield's mound ace of 1956, was graduated last June, and the Yellowjackets must rely on Harry Fitzwater (5-0) and Lester Hyre (5-0).

Dewaine Murphy, who has won 10 out of 13 games for Elk Garden in three seasons, is going strong and Steve "Lefty" Everhart is back as a consistent winner for Martinsburg.

In the regional finals last year, Mongold came up with a no-hitter to beat Everhart.

IF Moorefield and Elk Garden go through the P.V.C. undefeated they'll be recognized as co-champions even though one team should win more games than the other. The Jackets play a schedule of 11 games and Elk Garden is billed to play ten.

ALBERT J. BOYLE, who hopes to sell his Charles Town (W. Va.) race track to a group of Texans, headed by Clint W. Murchison, wealthy oilman, for $4,000,000, was born near Frederick, Md., and was foreman on the construction job when the Charles Town track was built in the early 1930s.

Albert and his brother Joseph were the chief investors in the project. The first meeting was held in 1933 but was so bad most of the stockholders dropped out. Albert then gained control of the track and it has been highly successful since 1934.

DEER HUNTERS now can determine live and dressed weight of deer, according to the Department of Research and Education.

Data answering this long standing question was gathered during the 1956 deer season at Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

Fifty-seven deer were weighed before and after being dressed out.

Live weight can be determined by multiplying dressed weight by 1.44. Dressed weight can be predicted by dividing the live weight by 1.44.

GEORGE ZEGLES, baseball chairman of junior baseball for Mountain District, American Legion, believes only two posts will place teams in the field next month when the season gets under way.

It looks like Midland Post No. 169 and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 will be the only entries and if they are they'll battle it out in a best-of-seven games series for district honors.

Frostburg and Oakland, the other teams in the 1956 league, have tossed in the sponge, according to Zegles.

In 1952, the last time only two teams were entered, Midland Post won four games in a row in what was to have been a best-of-seven series with Fort Cumberland Post.

Cumberland teams have won the league title for the past four years.

CHARLIE KELLER, JR., whose pop used to hit the long ball for the New York Yankees, is also a home run belter.

Twice within a week his circuit belts helped bring about the undoing of Hagerstown high school teams. He hit a pair of four-baggers as Frederick High's Cadets snapped South Hagerstown's 5-game winning streak, 7-5, and he and his brother Don slammed round-trippers during a 4-run uprising in the 7th inning as the Cadets trimmed North Hagerstown, 13-11.

Italy Halts Road Races For Rest Of Year

Action Is Taken After 13 Deaths

ROME, May 14 (AP)—Italy's automobile and motorcycle federations tonight announced the suspension of all open road races for the rest of the year as a result of the 13 deaths in Sunday's Mille Miglia.

The two federations informed the government of their decision 24 hours after a half dozen deputies and senators had said they would demand a parliamentary ban on such races.

Despite safety precautions which have been tightened each year, both auto and motorcycle road races have taken a steady toll of life along Italy's narrow, twisting highways.

Three drivers and ten spectators, including five children, were killed in Sunday's 1,000 mile classic—last of the great European open road races.

The decision by the automobile and motorcycle federations affects half a dozen regional road races scheduled for the rest of the year —none on the grand scale of the Mille Miglia.

Boyd And Vaughn Clash At Chicago

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP) — Bobby Boyd of Chicago, one-time top ranking middleweight contender, will continue his comeback against Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The nationally televised and broadcast 10 rounder (9 p.m. EST, ABC) marks the third start of 23-year-old Boyd since Joey Giardello floored him three times and broke his jaw in scoring a five round TKO at Cleveland eight months ago.

Boyd, ranked No. 2 contender at that time, was able to return to the boxing business March 26 and defeated Frank Szusina in 10 at Miami Beach, Fla. He did the same to Eddy Demars at Providence, R.I. April 15.

B.P.O. Elks defeated Celanese, 10-2, the Outdoor Club swamped Pittsburgh Plate Glass, 12-0 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars downed the Knights of Columbus, 8-5, yesterday to remain undefeated in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The Loyal Order of Moose crashed the win column for the first time this season at the expense of Ritter's Social Club, which suffered its third straight setback, 12-1.

Klavuhn Wins Third

Dick Klavuhn scored his third straight win of the campaign as the Elks trimmed the Silkmen at Celanese Field.

Klavuhn also headed the Elks' 12 hit assault with two doubles and a pair of singles while Bob Pence had a two-bagger and single. Jack Kauffman collected three of the losers' eight hits.

The Outdoor Club, which walloped Celanese last week by the score of 17-0, routed Pittsburgh Plate Glass yesterday for its third straight league triumph.

Outdoor Gets 16 Blows

While "Pete" Elliott was limiting the Glassmen to three hits, two of which were credited to Lawrence, the ODC clubbers were pounding the offerings of Bill Thompson and "Bud" Law for 16 blows. Mil Dean banged a pair of doubles and a single while Elliott, Ronnie Cage, "Bub" Porter and Van Johnson had two hits each. Elliott smacked a triple and Van Johnson had a two-bagger. Porter turned in a nice running catch in right field and Johnson excelled at the hot corner for the 1956 league champions. Manager Clay Ingram starred at short for Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

Rain Helps Vets Win

The Knights of Columbus rallied for four runs in the top of the 6th inning but rain nullified the tallies, the score reverted to the fifth inning and the V.F.W. scored their second straight win of the season.

"Chug" Aman was returned the victor over Gene Scaletta in this one.

Jack Martin accounted for two of the Vets' five hits while doubles by Mickey Clark and Scaletta were among the Casey's five safeties.

Niland Huris 5-Hitter

Joe Niland came up with a five-hitter as the Moose tossers won their first game of the season at the expense of Ritter's.

The winners racked up 13 hits with Frank Williams getting three-for-three and Pete Cecil and Herman Lewis garnered two bingles each. Ace Comer had two of the five hits yielded by Niland. Rain halted hostilities in the top of the seventh inning. The scores:

Fort Hill Beats LaSalle, 5-2, Retains Half Game Lead

Campers Belt Aggies, 12-0, Trail Leaders

Beall 2-1 Winner At Valley; Bruce Tops Indians, 7-4

COUNTY LEAGUE

Fort Hill	7	1	Beall	4	4
Allegany	7	2	LaSalle	3	6
Valley	5	2	Flintstone	2	7
Bruce	5	4	Mt. Savage	1	8

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels retained their half game lead in the Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League by defeating LaSalle High's Explorers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 5-2.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels exploded for three runs in the sixth inning at the expense of Matt Mullaney to break a 2-2 deadlock and win their seventh game in eight starts in the eight school circuit.

Tom Shaw's single, Thurl Roy's double and Gary Wolford's triple scored two runs and Walter Hillegas' sacrifice fly sent over the third Fort Hill tally in the big sixth.

Wolford was the batting star with two triples and a two-bagger in four times at bat.

Jesse Markley kept LaSalle's seven blows well spaced, fired the third strike past 13 batsmen and made his season record 4-1. The Fort Hill ace has whiffed 64 this season.

Murray and McGreevy shared four of LaSalle's seven blows.

Allegany leads the city race with a 2-0 mark. Fort Hill is 2-1 and LaSalle 0-3.

Campers Rout Aggies

Allegany High School's Campers clobbered the Flintstone Aggies at Flintstone to the tune of 12-0 and took over the runner-up spot with a 7-2 record while Valley was being spilled by Beall High's Mountaineers.

Allegany rapped the offerings of five Flintstone pitchers—Boggs, Smith, Hoffman, Clingerman and Mann—for 14 hits. Mike Lease sparked the attack with three singles while Ronnie Diehl and Bill Brode had two safeties each.

Lefty Gene Cave held the Aggies to two hits, singles by Clingerman and Allison, fanned six and registered his third win of the campaign against one loss. Boggs was the loser.

Beall Halts Valley

Beall High School cracked the three-game winning streak of the Valley High Black Knights, winning at Barton by the score of 2-1 with Marshall Winters gaining the decision over Clifford Preston.

It was the fifth straight game decided by one run in which Valley had participated. The Knights have won three and lost two of the close ones.

Beall and Valley battled to a 3-3 draw in eight innings in their initial meeting.

In notching his third win against a single loss, Winters held Valley to four hits and fanned six. Preston tossed a three-hitter and whiffed a half dozen.

George Lauder's triple and Marvin Metz's double produced the Valley score in the second inning but Beall won the game in the fifth by scoring two runs on Winters' walk, a fielder's choice and two miscus by Shortstop Warnick.

Zane Fatkin, Beall centerfielder, and Louis Llewellyn, second baseman, were badly shaken up in the fifth inning when they collided going after a fly ball. Fatkin was taken to the hospital for examination but Llewellyn remained in the game.

Wilkinson Is Victor

Donnie Wilkinson outpitched Wayne "Lefty" Fleegle as Bruce High School's Bulldogs whipped the Mt. Savage High School Indians at Westernport by the score of 7-4.

Wilkinson made his season record 3-3, holding Mt. Savage to six scattered hits while his strikeouts totaled nine. He has whiffed 50 batsmen this season. The Bruce twirler's 4-year record in the league is 17 wins, 10 losses.

Paul Iser, Bruce High left fielder, boosted his batting average to .531 by collecting three hits for a perfect day at the plate. For the season he has smacked 17 hits in 32 official at bats. Wilkinson connected for a triple and double. Leroy Morris and Bill Burkett shared four of Mt. Savage's six safeties.

Baltimore Leads, 2-0, Rain Comes In Second

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Steady showers washed out the Cleveland-Baltimore game tonight with the Orioles leading, 2-0, in the second inning.

Rain began falling at 8:48 p.m. and it was still coming down an hour later when the game was called.

Baltimore scored in the first when Bob Nieman singled Billy Gardner home after veteran Cleveland pitcher Mike Garcia hit Gardner with a pitched ball, walked Bob Boyd and Al Pilarcik hit a sacrifice fly.

Tito Francona scored in the second when Jim Busby threw the ball over Chico Carrasquel's head for an error after Jim Brideweser had singled. Baltimore had loaded the bases and Andy Tomanek had relieved Garcia when the rains came.

Forty Niners Trade With Detroit Lions

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 —(INS)—The San Francisco 49ers today traded John Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh, Calif., veteran offensive halfback and fullback, to the Detroit Lions. Both teams are in the Western Conference of the National Football League.

In exchange, the 49ers received Bill Stits of Lomita, Calif., defensive halfback and fullback, and Bill Bowman of Birmingham, Ala., offensive back, from Detroit.

The trade will be completed next January when Detroit exercises an undisclosed draft on a second player now with the 49ers.

Capon Bridge's McCauley Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Game

Beats Warriors, 8-0, Ties Berkeley High In Sectional Race

John McCauley pitched the first no-run, no-hit game of the season in the Potomac Valley Conference today when he twirled Capon Bridge High School to an 8-0 triumph over Wardensville High School's Warriors.

It was the ninth win in 12 starts for Coach Arno Hott's team in the conference.

The victory enabled Capon Bridge to tie Berkeley Springs for first place in Section 14, thus necessitating a playoff game for the title Friday at 2 p. m., on the field of the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney. Capon Bridge and Berkeley Springs have 4-2 records in Section 13, which also includes Paw Paw and Wardensville. Berkeley Springs and Capon Bridge have split even during the current season.

McCauley faced only 24 batsmen in today's seven inning game. He fanned 15 to run his season's total to 101 victims, hit two batsmen, Bruce Orndorff and Walker, and failed to issue a base on balls. McCauley is the winningest pitcher in the conference with a 7-2 record. He also figured on the attack by belting a home run in the fifth inning with a teammate aboard.

In addition to McCauley's circuit belt, Danny Cooper and Roomsburg larruped doubles and Dave Poland and Cunningham smacked triples.

Heavy Downpours Stop Sox, Senators

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)-Heavy downpours washed out the Chicago-Washington baseball game after 1½ scoreless innings at Griffith Stadium tonight but the White Sox stayed on top of the American League.

Camilo Pascual, Senators' right-hander, struck out four of the eight Chicago batters he faced but the drenching thunderstorms frustrated his fast start.

One shower halted the contest for 13 minutes after the first inning and a cloudburst stopped it again after Chicago's turn in the second. Umpire Frank Umont called it off 45 minutes later, with the rain still coming down.

The White Sox retained their half-game lead as rain also wiped out the second-place New York Yankees' game with Kansas City at Yankee Stadium.

Mrs. Nixon Will Present Winner Woodlawn Vase

Governor Will Miss Preakness

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice president, will present the historic Woodlawn Vase to the winner of the 81st running of the Pimlico Preakness here Saturday, track officials announced today.

The symbol of victory in the Preakness traditionally is presented by Maryland's governor, but Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin is touring Europe and the vice president was invited to assume the presentation role this year.

Nixon wired Pimlico General Manager Louis Pondfield he thought it was "very thoughtful" of the management and he and Mrs. Nixon would "be glad to accept."

The vice president said Mrs. Nixon would make the actual presentation and he would be with her in the winner's circle to congratulate the victorious owner, trainer and jockey.

CAPTIVE-AIR SAFETY TIRE
by GOODYEAR

Proved by dramatic Boston to New York test!
231 miles on four blown-out tires without a mishap or tire change!

Now you don't have to change a tire along the road. Not you, your wife nor your children!

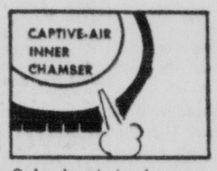

Only Goodyear has the Captive-Air because only Goodyear has a tire body made with triple-tempered 3-T Nylon Cord. The brawny nylon built-in "spare" carries you safely and comfortably until you can stop and have the tire repaired after a blowout or puncture. This means that the hazards of tire failure in heavy traffic, on super highways, on crowded bridges and in narrow tunnels as well as costly towing and road repairs have all but been eliminated by Goodyear's all Nylon Cord Captive-Air Safety Tire.

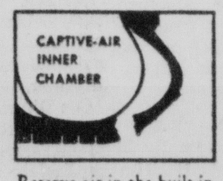

A few moments ago, we blew out all four tires with a knife. Now we're moving through Boston's busy Copley Square. This sudden stop-and-start city driving is no tea party for tires . . . and remember, all four of ours have been blown out! But the tough multi-ply nylon "inner tires" take the punishment in stride . . . make us feel certain we'll reach New York without a tire change.

Here's how Captive-Air works to save you time and trouble!

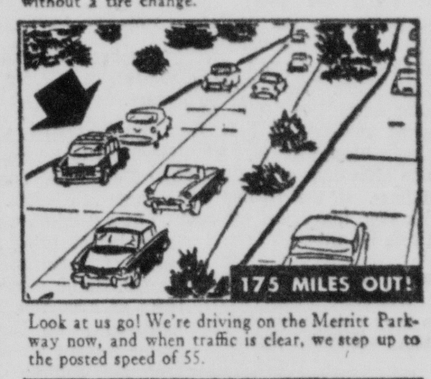

Only the air in the outer chamber escapes when the tire is cut, torn, punctured, or blown out.

Reserve air in the built-in "spare" lets you drive on for 100 miles or more!

See our demonstration!

Look at us go! We're driving on the Merritt Parkway now, and when traffic is clear, we step up to the posted speed of 55.

Fort Hill Beats LaSalle, 5-2, Retains Half Game Lead

Beall 2-1 Winner At Valley; Bruce Tops Indians, 7-4

COUNTY LEAGUE

Allegany	7	2	LaSalle	3	6
Valley	5	2	Flintstone	2	7
Bruce	5	4	Mt. Savage	1	8

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels retained their half game lead in the Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League by defeating LaSalle High's Explorers yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 5-2.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels exploded for three runs in the sixth inning at the expense of Matt Mullaney to break a 2-2 deadlock and win their seventh game in eight starts in the eight school circuit.

Tom Shaw's single, Thurl Roy's double and Gary Wolford's triple scored two runs and Walter Hillegas' sacrifice fly sent over the third Fort Hill tally in the big sixth.

Wolford was the batting star with two triples and a two-bagger in four times at bat.

Jesse Markley kept LaSalle's seven blows well spaced, fired the third strike past 13 batsmen and made his season record 4-1. The Fort Hill ace has whiffed 64 this season.

Murray and McGreevy shared four of LaSalle's seven blows.

Allegany leads the city race with a 2-0 mark. Fort Hill is 2-1 and LaSalle 0-3.

Campers Rout Aggies

Allegany High School's Campers clobbered the Flintstone Aggies at Flintstone to the tune of 12-0 and took over the runner-up spot with a 7-2 record while Valley was being spilled by Beall High's Mountaineers.

Allegany rapped the offerings of five Flintstone pitchers—Boggs, Smith, Hoffman, Clingerman and Mann—for 14 hits. Mike Lease sparked the attack with three singles while Ronnie Diehl and Bill Brode had two safeties each.

Lefty Gene Cave held the Aggies to two hits, singles by Clingerman and Allison, fanned six and registered his third win of the campaign against one loss. Boggs was the loser.

Beall Halts Valley

Beall High School cracked the three-game winning streak of the Valley High Black Knights, winning at Barton by the score of 2-1 with Marshall Winters gaining the decision over Clifford Preston.

It was the fifth straight game decided by one run in which Valley had participated. The Knights have won three and lost two of the close ones.

Beall and Valley battled to a 3-3 draw in eight innings in their initial meeting.

In notching his third win against a single loss, Winters held Valley to four hits and fanned six. Preston tossed a three-hitter and whiffed a half dozen.

George Lauder's triple and Marvin Metz's double produced the Valley score in the second inning but Beall won the game in the fifth by scoring two runs on Winters' walk, a fielder's choice and two miscus by Shortstop Warnick.

Zane Fatkin, Beall centerfielder, and Louis Llewellyn, second baseman, were badly shaken up in the fifth inning when they collided going after a fly ball. Fatkin was taken to the hospital for examination but Llewellyn remained in the game.

Wilkinson Is Victor

Donnie Wilkinson outpitched Wayne "Lefty" Fleegle as Bruce High School's Bulldogs whipped the Mt. Savage High School Indians at Westernport by the score of 7-4.

Wilkinson made his season record 3-3, holding Mt. Savage to six scattered hits while his strikeouts totaled nine. He has whiffed 50 batsmen this season. The Bruce twirler's 4-year record in the league is 17 wins, 10 losses.

Paul Iser, Bruce High left fielder, boosted his batting average to .531 by collecting three hits for a perfect day at the plate. For the season he has smacked 17 hits in 32 official at bats. Wilkinson connected for a triple and double. Leroy Morris and Bill Burkett shared four of Mt. Savage's six safeties.

Baltimore Leads, 2-0, Rain Comes In Second

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Steady showers washed out the Cleveland-Baltimore game tonight with the Orioles leading, 2-0, in the second inning.

Rain began falling at 8:48 p.m. and it was still coming down an hour later when the game was called.

Baltimore scored in the first when Bob Nieman singled Billy Gardner home after veteran Cleveland pitcher Mike Garcia hit Gardner with a pitched ball, walked Bob Boyd and Al Pilarcik hit a sacrifice fly.

Tito Francona scored in the second when Jim Busby threw the ball over Chico Carrasquel's head for an error after Jim Brideweser had singled. Baltimore had loaded the bases and Andy Tomanek had relieved Garcia when the rains came.

Forty Niners Trade With Detroit Lions

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 — (INS)—The San Francisco 49ers today traded John Henry Johnson of Pittsburgh, Calif., veteran offensive halfback and fullback, to the Detroit Lions. Both teams are in the Western Conference of the National Football League.

In exchange, the 49ers received Bill Stits of Lomita, Calif., defensive halfback and fullback, and Bill Bowman of Birmingham, Ala., offensive back, from Detroit.

The trade will be completed next January when Detroit exercises an undisclosed draft on a second player now with the 49ers.

Capon Bridge's McCauley Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Game

Beats Warriors, 8-0, Ties Berkeley High In Sectional Race

John McCauley pitched the first no-run, no-hit game of the season in the Potomac Valley Conference today when he twirled Capon Bridge High School to an 8-0 triumph over Wardensville High School's Warriors.

It was the ninth win in 12 starts for Coach Arno Hott's team in the conference.

The victory enabled Capon Bridge to tie Berkeley Springs for first place in Section 14, thus necessitating a playoff game for the title Friday at 2 p. m., on the field of the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney. Capon Bridge and Berkeley Springs have 4-2 records in Section 13, which also includes Paw Paw and Wardensville. Berkeley Springs and Capon Bridge have split even during the current season.

McCauley faced only 24 batsmen in today's seven inning game. He fanned 15 to run his season's total to 101 victims, hit two batsmen, Bruce Orndorff and Walker, and failed to issue a base on balls. McCauley is the winningest pitcher in the conference with a 7-2 record. He also figured on the attack by belting a home run in the fifth inning with a teammate aboard.

In addition to McCauley's circuit belt, Danny Cooper and Roomsburg larruped doubles and Dave Poland and Cunningham smacked triples.

Heavy Downpours Stop Sox, Senators

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Heavy downpours washed out the Chicago-Washington baseball game after 1½ scoreless innings at Griffith Stadium tonight but the White Sox stayed on top of the American League.

Camilo Pascual, Senators' right-hander, struck out four of the eight Chicago batters he faced but the drenching thunderstorms frustrated his fast start.

One shower halted the contest for 13 minutes after the first inning and a cloudburst stopped it again after Chicago's turn in the second. Umpire Frank Umont called it off 45 minutes later, with the rain still coming down.

The White Sox retained their half-game lead as rain also wiped out the second-place New York Yankees' game with Kansas City at Yankee Stadium.

Mrs. Nixon Will Present Winner Woodlawn Vase

Governor Will Miss Preakness

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice president, will present the historic Woodlawn Vase to the winner of the 81st running of the Pimlico Preakness here Saturday, track officials announced today.

The symbol of victory in the Preakness traditionally is presented by Maryland's governor, but Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin is touring Europe and the vice president was invited to assume the presentation role this year.

Nixon wired Pimlico General Manager Louis Pondfield he thought it was "very thoughtful" of the management and he and Mrs. Nixon would "be glad to accept."

The vice president said Mrs. Nixon would make the actual presentation and he would be with her in the winner's circle to congratulate the victorious owner, trainer and jockey.

Federal Hill Impresses In Pimlico Test

May Be Dark Horse In The Preakness

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Federal Hill, the Kentucky horse with the name of a Baltimore landmark, indicated today he may be harder for favored Iron Liege to catch in Saturday's Preakness than he was in the Derby back home 10 days ago.

The brown son of Cosmic Bomb-Ariel Beauty went a mile on the Pimlico strip in his first extended prep for the $100,000-added Preakness and helped answer a big question for his handlers.

Stanley Reiser, who trains Federal Hill for owner Clifford Lussky, said he was pleased with the workout.

The minute, 39 seconds it took Federal Hill to cover the mile was satisfactory, but what impressed Reiser even more was the manner in which he negotiated Pimlico's sharp turns.

"He stayed in fine," said the trainer, "he didn't go out an inch all the way."

Federal Hill, the early leader in the Derby until he was collared by Calumet's Iron Liege at the top of the stretch and finished fifth, had exhibited a tendency to go wide on the turns.

Besides costing him valuable ground, this trait also could enable challengers to get through along the rail by taking the shorter route around the bend. Willie Hartack almost did it aboard Iron Liege in the Derby, but was shut off and won even though he had to take up and go to the outside.

Potomac State Tossers To Play Shepherd Today

Potomac State College will be angling for win No. 10 today when it meets Shepherd College's Rams at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 3 p. m.

Coach John Fox's Catamounts have won nine out of 12 games to date and one of the losses came at the hands of Shepherd early in the season by the score of 14-10.

Potomac State has lost two of seven games in the conference and avenged one of the losses when it won a return game from Davis-Elkins College, 4-1.

Shepherd's mentor is Cletus Lowe who is rounding out his 24th year of coaching.

Akins And Sandy Fight At Capital

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Promoter Goldie Ahearn has matched Virgil Akins, St. Louis welterweight, against Randy Sandy, New York middleweight, for a 10-round bout in Capitol Arena here Friday night.

The bout is a substitute for a lightweight 10-rounder previously scheduled between Paolo Rosi of Italy and Joey Lopes of Oakland, Calif.

Rosi hurt his left hand in San Francisco last week when he fought to a draw with Leo Alonzo of the Philippines.

Nick Shuk Scores With Jet Comet In Pimlico Seventh

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Jockey Nick Shuk brought William L. Huntley's Jet Comet home six lengths in front of the field in the featured seventh race at Pimlico race course today.

Jet Comet was the third winner of the day to be saddled by Don Yates, veteran Baltimore trainer. Shuk brought his mount into the lead at the start and dashed five-and-a-half furlongs in 1:06 3/5 to finish ahead of Alan T. Clarke's Brighton Dam, who was a length and a half in front of Mrs. Eben H. Ellison Jr.'s Sunny Kim.

Jet Comet was never passed over the short route despite a 121 pound impost. Sunny's Kim was the even money favorite.

Jet Comet paid $10.00, $4.20 and $2.80; Brighton Dam $3.60 and $2.80; Sunny Kim $2.20.

Pirates Beat Chicago, 8-6

Game Is Marked By Five Homers

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP) — Lefty Luis Arroyo struck out nine in a hot-and-cold relief job which aided the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

Arroyo struck out Walt Moryn with the bases loaded in the fourth as reliefer for starter Ron Kline and mowed down the Cubs in order until Cal Neeman's two-out homer in the eighth. Then Arroyo was touched for a two-run homer by Jim Bolger in the ninth.

The Pirates crashed two homers—by Hank Foiles and Frank Thomas—and four doubles in an 11-hit attack against four Cub pitchers.

The Cubs thus failed in a try for their first home triumph in seven starts.

Ex-Pirate Dale Long smashed a two-run homer for the Cubs in the first inning. Two newcomers made their Cub debut. Second baseman Bobby Morgan, purchased from the Phils, collected two singles in five trips. Jack Littrell took over at shortstop and went hitless in four trips.

Black-Eyed Susan Stakes Set Today

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — A stellar field of 15 fillies, headed by Hal Price Headley's Pillow talk and Dhuvarren Farm's Cousin, was entered today for Pimlico's $20,000-added Black-Eyed Susan Stakes.

The mile-and-sixteenth event for three-year-olds tomorrow will be one of the major attractions building up to Saturday's $100,000-added Preakness for colts of the same age.

Maas Hurls Five-Hitter, Tigers Beat Bosox, 2-0

Sullivan Is Loser; Bertoia Hits Homer

BOSTON, May 14 (AP) — Detroit's Duke Maas, a slender righthander who couldn't win a game for the Tigers in 1956, posted his fifth triumph today by blanking the Boston Red Sox, 2-0, on a sparkling five-hitter.

The 26-year old Maas, struck out six and walked only one while allowing only one Boston runner to reach second base.

Rene Bertoia, the Tigers' brilliant young infielder, scored the first run on Bill Tuttle's sacrifice fly and then accounted for the second tally with his first homer of the year in the seventh.

Frank Sullivan, Boston's 6-7 righthander, was outpitched by Maas in a fine hurling duel. Sullivan allowed only four hits in eight innings while suffering his third defeat. He has won two.

Maas, who has lost only one game in becoming an ace of the Detroit pitching staff, baffled the Red Sox with his blazing speed and tricky curves.

He hurled hitless ball until Billy Klaus reached first on a slow tap to second to lead off the fourth. Mickey Vernon lined a single to right in the same inning after Ted Williams grounded into a double play.

The only other hits off Maas were Jackie Jensen's single to center in the seventh, pinchhitter Gene Stephens liner to right in the eighth and Vernon's single to right with two out in the ninth.

Federal Hill Impresses In Pimlico Test

By LOU PANOS

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Federal Hill, the Kentucky horse with the name of a Baltimore landmark, indicated today he may be harder for favored Iron Liege to catch in Saturday's Preakness than he was in the Derby back home 10 days ago.

The brown son of Cosmic Bomb-Ariel Beauty went a mile on the Pimlico strip in his first extended prep for the $100,000-added Preakness and helped answer a big question for his handlers.

Stanley Reiser, who trains Federal Hill for owner Clifford Lussky, said he was pleased with the workout.

The minute, 39 seconds it took Federal Hill to cover the mile was satisfactory, but what impressed Reiser even more was the manner in which he negotiated Pimlico's sharp turns.

"He stayed in fine," said the trainer, "he didn't go out an inch all the way."

Federal Hill, the early leader in the Derby until he was collared by Calumet's Iron Liege at the top of the stretch and finished fifth, had exhibited a tendency to go wide on the turns.

Besides costing him valuable ground, this trait also could enable challengers to get through along the rail by taking the shorter route around the bend. Willie Hartack almost did it aboard Iron Liege in the Derby, but was shut off and won even though he had to take up and go to the outside.

Berkeley Defeats Warfordsburg, 9-7

BERKELEY SPRINGS, May 14 — Berkeley Springs made a sweep of its two-game series with Warfordsburg High School by beating the Pennsylvanians here today by the score of 9-7. It was the 9th win in 11 starts for Coach Allen Goldstrom's Indians.

Berkeley sewed up the decision early, scoring seven runs in the first inning.

Potomac State Tossers To Play Shepherd Today

Potomac State College will be angling for win No. 10 today when it meets Shepherd College's Rams at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 3 p. m.

Coach John Fox's Catamounts have won nine out of 12 games to date and one of the losses came at the hands of Shepherd early in the season by the score of 14-10.

Potomac State has lost two of seven games in the conference and avenged one of the losses when it won a return game from Davis-Elkins College, 4-1.

Shepherd's mentor is Cletus Lowe who is rounding out his 24th year of coaching.

Akins And Sandy Fight At Capital

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP) — Promoter Goldie Ahearn has matched Virgil Akins, St. Louis welterweight, against Randy Sandy, New York middleweight, for a 10-round bout in Capitol Arena here Friday night.

The bout is a substitute for a lightweight 10-rounder previously scheduled between Paolo Rosi of Italy and Joey Lopes of Oakland, Calif.

Rosi hurt his left hand in San Francisco last week when he fought to a draw with Leo Alonzo of the Philippines.

Nick Shuk Scores With Jet Comet In Pimlico Seventh

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP)—Jockey Nick Shuk brought William L. Huntley's Jet Comet home six lengths in front of the field in the featured seventh race at Pimlico race course today.

Jet Comet was the third winner of the day to be saddled by Don Yates, veteran Baltimore trainer. Shuk brought his mount into the lead at the start and dashed five-and-a-half furlongs in 1:06 3/5 to finish ahead of Alan T. Clarke's Brighton Dam, who was a length and a half in front of Mrs. Eben H. Ellison Jr.'s Sunny Kim.

Jet Comet was never passed over the short route despite a 121 pound impost. Sunny's Kim was the even money favorite.

Jet Comet paid $10.00, $4.20 and $2.80; Brighton Dam $3.60 and $2.80; Sunny Kim $2.20.

Pirates Beat Chicago, 8-6

Game Is Marked By Five Homers

CHICAGO, May 14 (AP) — Lefty Luis Arroyo struck out nine in a hot-and-cold relief job which aided the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

Arroyo struck out Walt Moryn with the bases loaded in the fourth as reliefer for starter Ron Kline and mowed down the Cubs in order until Cal Neeman's two-out homer in the eighth. Then Arroyo was touched for a two-run homer by Jim Bolger in the ninth.

The Pirates crashed two homers—by Hank Foiles and Frank Thomas—and four doubles in an 11-hit attack against four Cub pitchers.

The Cubs thus failed in a try for their first home triumph in seven starts.

Ex-Pirate Dale Long smashed a two-run homer for the Cubs in the first inning. Two newcomers made their Cub debut. Second baseman Bobby Morgan, purchased from the Phils, collected two singles in five trips. Jack Littrell took over at shortstop and went hitless in four trips.

BALTIMORE, May 14 (AP) — A stellar field of 15 fillies, headed by Hal Price Headley's Pillow talk and Dhuvarren Farm's Cousin, was entered today for Pimlico's $20,000-added Black-Eyed Susan Stakes.

Maas Hurls Five-Hitter, Tigers Beat Bosox, 2-0

Sullivan Is Loser; Bertoia Hits Homer

BOSTON, May 14 (AP) — Detroit's Duke Maas, a slender righthander who couldn't win a game for the Tigers in 1956, posted his fifth triumph today by blanking the Boston Red Sox, 2-0, on a sparkling five-hitter.

The 26-year old Maas, struck out six and walked only one while allowing only one Boston runner to reach second base.

Rene Bertoia, the Tigers' brilliant young infielder, scored the first run on Bill Tuttle's sacrifice fly and then accounted for the second tally with his first homer of the year in the seventh.

Frank Sullivan, Boston's 6-7 righthander, was outpitched by Maas in a fine hurling duel. Sullivan allowed only four hits in eight innings while suffering his third defeat. He has won two.

Maas, who has lost only one game in becoming an ace of the Detroit pitching staff, baffled the the Red Sox with his blazing speed and tricky curves.

He hurled hitless ball until Billy Klaus reached first on a slow tap to second to lead off the fourth. Mickey Vernon lined a single to right in the same inning after Ted Williams grounded into a double play.

The only other hits off Maas were Jackie Jensen's single to center in the seventh, pinchhitter Gene Stephens liner to right in the eighth and Vernon's single to right with two out in the ninth.

WIFE PRESERVERS

This adjustable, removable metal range hood keeps grease and fumes from staining the kitchen walls and ceiling. It expands from 24 to 40 inches; is built with keyhole slots for easy attachment to wall or cabinet and to remove for cleaning. It is made of baked enamel finish on steel.

All bricks used in Virginia during the 17th and 18th centuries seem to have been made there and not imported from England, according to some historians.

Dietrich Convicted For Nazi Purge Role

MUNICH, Germany, May 14 (AP)—Former SS Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich today was found guilty of manslaughter charges stemming from a bloody purge of Nazi Storm Troopers 23 years ago.

A German court returned the verdict after a seven-day trial at which Dietrich was accused of assisting in manslaughter in the execution of six officers in 1934.

The court also found Dietrich's codefendant, former SS Col. Michael Lippert, guilty of assisting in the manslaughter through execution of Storm Troop Chief Ernst Roehm himself.

Both men were sentenced to a year and six months in prison.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 14 (INS)—The very first thing Oscar Hammerstein II did when he arrived in Hollywood Monday was to okay Buddy Adler's choice of John Kerr to play Lt. Cable in "South Pacific." John was so good in "Tea and Sympathy" and 'Gaby" that Oscar was as enthusiastic as Buddy and Josh Logan, the director.

I must say I don't envy Rossano Brazzi following Ezio Pinza in the role of "The Wonderful Guy." No one will ever forget Ezio singing "Some Enchanted Evening."

The starting date is in August with Hawaii and Hollywood as the locations. The Brazzis, with their dogs, are now driving cross country. Rossano has a deadly fear of airplanes. Mitzi Gaynor, who will play the Mary Martin role is already working every day, studying the score.

Pilot, pilot, who's got the pilot, is Hollywood's newest game but I must say that Hal Roach, Jr., and his partner, Jerry Stagg, seem to have three promising properties. The first is the Bette Davis show in which bounding Bette will do just about everything—commentating, acting and sometimes directing while portraying what happens to a schoolteacher.

The next Roach-Stagg enterprise stars Joe DiMaggio in a show of the same name, but Miss M. Monroe's ex-husband won't act, contenting himself with acting as M. C., on a sports anthology which will be told in terms of drama behind the sports scenes. Add to this, a show called Ben Blue's brother and you can see the boys have quite a lineup. Ben Blue's Brother is actually about four brothers, all Ben and all Blue, I presume.

In a chatty letter Kirk Douglas writes me, "I am a little annoyed in talking with foreign journalists. I tell them my next picture will be 'The Vikings' and they seem surprised that the Americans know anything about them. Maybe some of them feel that our studies in school history are confined solely to the battles between the cowboys and Indians.

"Aside from eating too many potato pancakes and drinking too much beer in Munich, all is going well. In about two weeks my menu will change drastically when we go to Norway for 'The Vikings'," says Kirk.

On the subject of "The Vikings," Germany's leading fan magazine, Bella, has just completed its first poll and Tony Curtis, who is in Kirk's picture, won it. Kirk is letting Tony off from "The Vikings" long enough to go to the Berlin film festival and personally accept his award.

You might moralize over the tragic death of the playboy Marquis Alfonso De Portago, whom Linda Christian wanted so much to marry. Linda rushed from Rome to Brescia, Italy, where young De Portago died as a result of a racing accident.

In her short and glamorous life Linda has left a long trail of broken hearts behind her from Turhan Bey to Tyrone Power and Edmund Purdom.

Now Linda knows what it means to be deeply hurt. She gave up all her other attachments to be in Italy near De Portago. The marquis seemed equally entranced with her, but it isn't as easy to get a divorce in Italy as it is in the U. S. A., and Alfonso was still married to Carol McDaniel, an American, when he died.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There's trouble brewing in the home of one of our top actors and the story could break any day.

Shelley Winters has, at long last, bought a house for herself and her bridegroom Anthony Franciosa. It's on Crescent Drive in Beverly Hills.

John Barrymore, Jr., is refusing to do "Good Night, Sweet Prince" unless the ending is changed. He wants his father, John Barrymore (and so do all of us who loved him) glorified.

Bobbe Sutton writes from Mexico that she's visiting Ava Gardner and seeing lots of Tyrone Power.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe
Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.
To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.
And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.
Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.
It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

W. Va. To Buy $476,638 Worth Of Road Equipment

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 14 (AP)—The Department of Purchases announced today the award of contracts for purchase of $476,638 worth of equipment and vehicles for the Road Commission and said it is calling for bids on a new contract for hauling liquor.

The hauling contract will be for transporting liquor from the Liquor Control Commission warehouses here to stores and agencies around the state. Bids on the new contract, which is to go into effect July 1, will be opened June 12.

Holder of the expiring contract, which calls for a hauling cost of 17½ cents per case, is Point Express of Point Pleasant.

On the Road Commission contracts, bids were opened March 21 on 10 graders and 40 mowers and April 30 on 30 passenger automobiles and 100 trucks. Purchasing Director George B. Vieweg Jr. said there were between 20 and 25 bidders on the graders and mowers, 89 bidders on the automobiles and 61 on the trucks.

Rish Equipment Co. of Charleston won the contract for 10 tandem drive motor graders. Vieweg said Rish's price of $15,367 each for model 7-600 Galion graders was the lowest bid meeting specificati ns.

The state will buy 40 tractor mowers from Hash and Hatfield Inc. of Huntington under a contract calling for a price of $1,962.95 each and a parts discount of 15 per cent below list price.

The home room mothers in the first grade rooms of Miss Barbara J. Henry and Miss Mary J. Smith will be hostesses for light refreshments.

Mass Feeding Class Is Planned Tonight

An emergency mass feeding class will be held this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at Mt. Royal School.

The program, sponsored jointly by the Allegany County chapter of the Red Cross and county Civil Defense organization, is under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias of public schools in the county.

This evening discussions will include temporary feeding facilities as well as improvising facilities for indoor, outdoor and mobile feeding.

WIFE PRESERVERS

This adjustable, removable metal range hood keeps grease and fumes from staining the kitchen walls and ceiling. It expands from 24 to 40 inches; is built with keyhole slots for easy attachment to wall or cabinet and to remove for cleaning. It is made of baked enamel finish on steel.

All bricks used in Virginia during the 17th and 18th centuries seem to have been made there and not imported from England, according to some historians.

Lions Club To Hold Election Of Officers

John Weber, immediate past president; James Garland, director for 1958 and Howard Buchanan and Earl Grim, directors for 1959.

Members of the club also will discuss last-minute plans and instructions for the Sports Car races Sunday at today's meeting.

Nelson Suggested For County Board

Harry Nelson of Roberts Place, employment manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, was suggested yesterday by County Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson as his nominee for the new Allegany County Civil Service Board.

A Civil Service Board will be created when the county merit system becomes effective in June. No action has yet been made for appointment of a board.

All three commissioners yesterday signed a resolution commending three health department employes who retired effective May 1. The resolution praised Miss Anna Hardy and Mrs. Rose D. Loible, both health nurses, and Walter E. "Pat" Kline, a sanitary inspector.

Dietrich Convicted For Nazi Purge Role

MUNICH, Germany, May 14 (AP)—Former SS Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich today was found guilty of manslaughter charges stemming from a bloody purge of Nazi Storm Troopers 23 years ago.

A German court returned the verdict after a seven-day trial at which Dietrich was accused of assisting in manslaughter in the execution of six officers in 1934.

The court also found Dietrich's codefendant, former SS Col. Michael Lippert, guilty of assisting in the manslaughter through execution of Storm Troop Chief Ernst Roehm himself.

Both men were sentenced to a year and six months in prison.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 14 (INS)—The very first thing Oscar Hammerstein II did when he arrived in Hollywood Monday was to okay Buddy Adler's choice of John Kerr to play Lt. Cable in "South Pacific." John was so good in "Tea and Sympathy" and 'Gaby" that Oscar was as enthusiastic as Buddy and Josh Logan, the director.

I must say I don't envy Rossano Brazzi following Ezio Pinza in the role of "The Wonderful Guy." No one will ever forget Ezio singing "Some Enchanted Evening."

The starting date is in August with Hawaii and Hollywood as the locations. The Brazzis, with their dogs, are now driving cross country. Rossano has a deadly fear of airplanes. Mitzi Gaynor, who will play the Mary Martin role is already working every day, studying the score.

Pilot, pilot, who's got the pilot, is Hollywood's newest game but I must say that Hal Roach, Jr., and his partner, Jerry Stagg, seem to have three promising properties. The first is the Bette Davis show in which bounding Bette will do just about everything—commentating, acting and sometimes directing while portraying what happens to a schoolteacher.

The next Roach-Stagg enterprise stars Joe DiMaggio in a show of the same name, but Miss M. Monroe's ex-husband won't act, contenting himself with acting as M. C., on a sports anthology which will be told in terms of drama behind the sports scenes. Add to this, a show called Ben Blue's brother and you can see the boys have quite a lineup. Ben Blue's Brother is actually about four brothers, all Ben and all Blue, I presume.

In a chatty letter Kirk Douglas writes me, "I am a little annoyed in talking with foreign journalists. I tell them my next picture will be 'The Vikings' and they seem surprised that the Americans know anything about them. Maybe some of them feel that our studies in school history are confined solely to the battles between the cowboys and Indians.

"Aside from eating too many potato pancakes and drinking too much beer in Munich, all is going well. In about two weeks my menu will change drastically when we go to Norway for 'The Vikings'," says Kirk.

On the subject of "The Vikings," Germany's leading fan magazine, Bella, has just completed its first poll and Tony Curtis, who is in Kirk's picture, won it. Kirk is letting Tony off from "The Vikings" long enough to go to the Berlin film festival and personally accept his award.

You might moralize over the tragic death of the playboy Marquis Alfonso De Portago, whom Linda Christian wanted so much to marry. Linda rushed from Rome to Brescia, Italy, where young De Portago died as a result of a racing accident.

In her short and glamorous life Linda has left a long trail of broken hearts behind her from Turhan Bey to Tyrone Power and Edmund Purdom.

Now Linda knows what it means to be deeply hurt. She gave up all her other attachments to be in Italy near De Portago. The marquis seemed equally entranced with her, but it isn't as easy to get a divorce in Italy as it is in the U. S. A., and Alfonso was still married to Carol McDaniel, an American, when he died.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There's trouble brewing in the home of one of our top actors and the story could break any day.

Shelley Winters has, at long last, bought a house for herself and her bridegroom Anthony Franciosa. It's on Crescent Drive in Beverly Hills.

John Barrymore, Jr., is refusing to do "Good Night, Sweet Prince" unless the ending is changed. He wants his father, John Barrymore (and so do all of us who loved him) glorified.

Bobbe Sutton writes from Mexico that she's visiting Ava Gardner and seeing lots of Tyrone Power.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

CONSTIPATED?
New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe
Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.
To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.
And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.
Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.
It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

The Orgy Of Self-Revelation

If you ask me what — in the words of John K. M. McCaffrey—kind of a year this has been, I should be forced to say that this is the year of confession and self-analysis for show business. This took two forms. Either "Confidential" pointed the finger at an actor and declared: "He is a dirty rat." Or the actor pointed a finger at himself — usually in "Look" magazine — and declared: "I am a dirty rat—but it's not really my fault. It's because I had a miserable childhood."

If I were seeking an opening in the magazine dodge, I would start a magazine called "Confession." It is the logical successor to "Confidential." It has been discovered that an actor blowing the whistle on himself has about five times the impact of an article in which somebody else blows the whistle on him.

There's money in them hills, as Lillian Roth discovered with "I'll Cry Tomorrow." But the hills are getting eroded. I hate to sound prudish but it seems to me that the quality of personal confession has deteriorated terribly since "I'll Cry Tomorrow" which was a few years back. In "I'll Cry Tomorrow," Miss Roth rolled about in the gutter for awhile but finally she discovered both religion and sobriety and pulled herself together. And the book had a fairly positive ending.

But that was the old-fashioned kind of personal reminiscence. The modern kind of confession is exemplified by Diana Barrymore's "Too Much, Too Soon":

"The doctor diagnosed it as neuritis. I had to stop drinking. But I didn't. I lay in bed in a nether world of alcohol and nembutal, while the numbness climbed like an evil vine until it reached the base of my knees.

And so forth. If there is a lesson in "Too Much, Too Soon," it is that it is wrong to drink twenty-one martinis, that your really sensible person would stop after only seventeen martinis. Or, to put it another way, that it is wrong to pick up strange young men in St. Patrick's Cathedral, that a well-bred girl ought to pick up her strange young men in saloons like the other girls.

I realize I'm laying myself wide open to the accusations of square or even cube, but I don't think this is enough moral lesson for a book. I'll go even further: I think it is an improper conclusion to put into the minds of the young or even the middle-aged.

I also feel strongly that this sort of philosophy is injurious to young playwrights, or TV writers. Already, the limited reform of no reform at all has entered into backstage drama and it is doing grave damage to that age-old art form. In the old backstage drama, the star gets too big for his breeches or he takes to drink or to blondes and it is ruining him. But then faithful old Bella (who has got to be an even bigger star) gets him out of the gutter and dusts him off and as the final curtain goes down, he is at least fighting the booze (or the blondes) and you are left with the feeling he is going to try to behave.

But in "The Comedian" this year, the hero is a heel when the curtain gots up and still a heel when it comes down. Not only has there been no change in him but there is no prospect of any. And this was a change in dramatic custom and also it was a change from the original story wherein the comedian hero, far from winding up triumphant, is faced with ruin. There were several more of these backstage dramas that had the same fault; there were "The Hollywood Complex" on "Studio One," a gritty little story about how Hollywood perverts human values and "Let It Be Me," a downright nasty expose of the popular music business. In neither of them did anything actually happen—either to the industry or to the individuals in it. Things were deplorable and they stayed that way.

This isn't drama; it is pure expose with dialogue. I blame it all on the mania for confession which is sweeping over all the actors—especially the comedians. It's too much to hope that this orgy of self-revelation has run its course. It hasn't. A great many actors are standing in the wings, waiting to Tell All. But isn't it possible that there's an actor around who had a childhood that resembled, say, that of the kids in "Little Women"? I bet a personal memoir like that—if "Look" could locate one actor who had a normal childhood—would sell a hell of a lot of magazines by virtue of the sheer novelty of the thing.

Stock Market's Advance Halted By Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — The stock market's drive to new 1957 highs tripped on profit-taking today.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 70 cents to $182.90 with the industrials down $1.40, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities up 10 cents to a new 1957 high.

Volume totaled 2,580,000 shares compared with 2,720,000 yesterday.

Olin Mathieson was the most active stock, up 4 at 52¼ on 54,000 shares. Second was United Cigar-Whelan, up ⅜ at 6 on 44,300 shares. Third was Getty Oil (new) off 1⅛ at 28⅜ on 37,600 shares.

Olin Mathieson became the day's favorite apparently on a published report that it has developed a new chemical that may lead to new speeds, range and efficiency for jet aircraft fuels.

National Steel had a sudden 2-point spurt near the close, making a net gain of 2½ to close at 74½ as word came that Treasury Secretary Humphrey plans to become chairman of the company around July 1. Western Maryland Railway added 1⅜ in continued response to good earnings.

Losers included Lukens Steel ½, Goodrich 1⅜, Douglas Aircraft 1⅜, Radio Corp. ⅞, and Johns-Manville ⅞.

The Orgy Of Self-Revelation

If you ask me what — in the words of John K. M. McCaffrey—kind of a year this has been, I should be forced to say that this is the year of confession and self-analysis for show business. This took two forms. Either "Confidential" pointed the finger at an actor and declared: "He is a dirty rat." Or the actor pointed a finger at himself — usually in "Look" magazine — and declared: "I am a dirty rat—but it's not really my fault. It's because I had a miserable childhood."

If I were seeking an opening in the magazine dodge, I would start a magazine called "Confession." It is the logical successor to "Confidential." It has been discovered that an actor blowing the whistle on himself has about five times the impact of an article in which somebody else blows the whistle on him.

There's money in them hills, as Lillian Roth discovered with "I'll Cry Tomorrow." But the hills are getting eroded. I hate to sound prudish but it seems to me that the quality of personal confession has deteriorated terribly since "I'll Cry Tomorrow" which was a few years back. In "I'll Cry Tomorrow," Miss Roth rolled about in the gutter for awhile but finally she discovered both religion and sobriety and pulled herself together. And the book had a fairly positive ending.

But that was the old-fashioned kind of personal reminiscence. The modern kind of confession is exemplified by Diana Barrymore's "Too Much, Too Soon":

"The doctor diagnosed it as neuritis. I had to stop drinking. But I didn't. I lay in bed in a nether world of alcohol and nembutal, while the numbness climbed like an evil vine until it reached the base of my knees.

And so forth. If there is a lesson in "Too Much, Too Soon," it is that it is wrong to drink twenty-one martinis, that your really sensible person would stop after only seventeen martinis. Or, to put it another way, that it is wrong to pick up strange young men in St. Patrick's Cathedral, that a well-bred girl ought to pick up her strange young men in saloons like the other girls.

I realize I'm laying myself wide open to the accusations of square or even cube, but I don't think this is enough moral lesson for a book. I'll go even further: I think it is an improper conclusion to put into the minds of the young or even the middle-aged.

I also feel strongly that this sort of philosophy is injurious to young playwrights, or TV writers. Already, the limited reform of no reform at all has entered into backstage drama and it is doing grave damage to that age-old art form. In the old backstage drama, the star gets too big for his breeches or he takes to drink or to blondes and it is ruining him. But then faithful old Bella (who has got to be an even bigger star) gets him out of the gutter and dusts him off and as the final curtain goes down, he is at least fighting the booze (or the blondes) and you are left with the feeling he is going to try to behave.

But in "The Comedian" this year, the hero is a heel when the curtain gots up and still a heel when it comes down. Not only has there been no change in him but there is no prospect of any. And this was a change in dramatic custom and also it was a change from the original story wherein the comedian hero, far from winding up triumphant, is faced with ruin. There were several more of these backstage dramas that had the same fault; there were "The Hollywood Complex" on "Studio One," a gritty little story about how Hollywood perverts human values and "Let It Be Me," a downright nasty expose of the popular music business. In neither of them did anything actually happen—either to the industry or to the individuals in it. Things were deplorable and they stayed that way.

This isn't drama; it is pure expose with dialogue. I blame it all on the mania for confession which is sweeping over all the actors—especially the comedians. It's too much to hope that this orgy of self-revelation has run its course. It hasn't. A great many actors are standing in the wings waiting to Tell All. But isn't it possible that there's an actor around who had a childhood that resembled, say, that of the kids in "Little Women"? I bet a personal memoir like that—if "Look" could locate one actor who had a normal childhood—would sell a hell of a lot of magazines by virtue of the sheer novelty of the thing.

Stock Market's Advance Halted By Profit-Taking

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP) — The stock market's drive to new 1957 highs tripped on profit-taking today.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 70 cents to $182.90 with the industrials down $1.40, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities up 10 cents to a new 1957 high.

Volume totaled 2,580,000 shares compared with 2,720,000 yesterday.

Olin Mathieson was the most active stock, up 4 at 52¼ on 54,000 shares. Second was United Cigar-Whelan, up ⅜ at 6 on 44,300 shares. Third was Getty Oil (new) off 1⅛ at 28⅜ on 37,600 shares.

Olin Mathieson became the day's favorite apparently on a published report that it has developed a new chemical that may lead to new speeds, range and efficiency for jet aircraft fuels.

National Steel had a sudden 2-point spurt near the close, making a net gain of 2½ to close at 74½ as word came that Treasury Secretary Humphrey plans to become chairman of the company around July 1. Western Maryland Railway added 1⅜ in continued response to good earnings.

Losers included Lukens Steel ½, Goodrich 1⅜, Douglas Aircraft 1⅜, Radio Corp. ⅞, and Johns-Manville ⅞.

Sewer Change Will Clear Canal Drainage

Mayor Roy W. Eves said yesterday a drainage condition in the C&O Canal near the new sewage treatment plant will result in a temporary change in a sewer connection.

Water, he said, has been backing up in the canal and the connection change will take drainage direct to the river.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear daughter, Hilda V. (Walker) Spriggs, who passed away 3 years ago today, May 15, 1954.
Her life a beautiful memory,
Her absence a silent grief,
But she sleeps in God's beautiful garden.
In sunshine of perfect peace.
To think you couldn't say good-bye,
Still in memory you are with us,
As always before dear daughter.
Sadly missed by

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear daughter, Hilda V. (Walker) Spriggs, who passed away 3 years ago today, May 15, 1954.
Her life a beautiful memory,
Her absence a silent grief,
But she sleeps in God's beautiful garden.
In sunshine of perfect peace.
To think you couldn't say good-bye,
Still in memory you are with us,
As always before dear daughter.
Sadly missed by
Mother, Father & Brother
Mr. and Mrs. Jake Walker

Pathologist To Visit Orchards In County

Allegany County orchards will be visited by Dr. C. O. Weaver, plant pathologist at the University of Maryland, on Thursday.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, said Dr. Weaver will check with orchardists on problems they have encountered and will also inspect spray work done so far this season.

Wallace Harding, extension entomologist at the university, visited the county yesterday to recheck the infestation of alfalfa weevil on various farms. He will also visit several farms which have used a spray against the weevil to determine the effect of the insecticide.

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 spade	5 diamonds	Double
Pass	4 spades	Double	2 clubs
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of spades.

South exhibited a flawless display of dummy technique to land a vulnerable game for his side in today's hand.

East opened the bidding with one spade, though the preferred call in the upper strata would have been a preemptive bid of four spades. With a hand almost completely lacking in defensive strength it is a good policy to interpose the greatest possible obstacle to enemy communications.

Actually East ran into such a concentration of power in the South hand that barricading methods would not in this case have prevailed. South doubled, but West's bid of two clubs is doubtful procedure. North was pleased to be relieved of acting and East leaped into game in spades.

West's double of the five diamond bid is not far fetched after East's opening bid. South might well have been acting under pressure.

West led his singleton spade. East won and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed with an honor as West signalled with a high club. South then cashed the two high hearts. From West's behaviorior it appeared that he held the ace and jack of clubs. An effort must therefore be made to compel him to lead clubs in the end play. This may be accomplished by stripping out the hand.

A diamond to the nine put dummy in the lead and a heart was ruffed in the closed hand. Another low trump was led to dummy's ten and the last heart trumped away.

Trumps were now drawn. At this point, South played the queen of clubs and West found himself in a helpless position. If he chose to duck, declarer would simply lead another club toward dummy's king. So, he won with the ace and returned a low club. Declarer permitted it to run to his ten which produced the 11th and fulfilling trick.

Mt. Savage Boosts Cancer Donations To Over $8,500

Allegany County's 1957 Cancer Crusade went over the $8,500 mark yesterday with receipt of $262.20 from Mount Savage where the house-to-house canvass was conducted under the direction of Mrs. Gregory A. King.

Yesterday's campaign total, representing donations secured by the women's division in the canvass of homes and other donations — including memorials to persons who have been victims of cancer in recent months, amounted to $8,688.78, according to Mrs. Regina Cioni, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division, Inc., American Cancer Society.

A check for $50 was received from Cumberland Local 616, International Hod Carriers and Common Laborers, the second largest donation received so far fram a labor union organization.

Another report yesterday was that from Willis Smith, of Vale Summit, who collected $50.75 in a canvass of 40 homes in that area, making his calls after first distributing considerable American Cancer Society educational material.

Hospital Is Surveyed

FROSTBURG — Dr. Warren G. Atwood, Md. field representative of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals for the Amreican Hospital Association, made a survey of the facilities, equipment and plant of the Miners Hospital yesterday morning, and will submit his report, with recommendations, to his home office this week.

Dr. W. Oliver McLane, chairman of the medical staff at the hospital; Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, Dr. Hilda Jane Walters, Dr. Leslie R. Miles, Dr. Frank T. Harratt, members of the staff, James E. Bangerd, administrator, Mrs. Darrell Zeller, supervisor of nursing services, and Walter E. MacKay, vice-president of the board of directors held a conference with Dr. Atwood in regards to having the hospital fully accredited.

Dr. Atwood stated that he was well pleased with the physical plant at Miners, and that the equipment was up to date and more complete than that found in most hospitals of similar size. He commended the doctors upon the efficiency of their medical staff and promised to submit a copy of his findings to the local group as soon as it has been completed.

A serious outbreak of vandalism at Cumberland Airport over the weekend brought this warning from Charles F. Heller, maintenance superintendent, yesterday:

Heller said he has taken the matter up with West Virginia authorities and they have promised full cooperation in an effort to stop the vandalism. The City of Cumberland Police Department has also promised to send a cruiser to check airport property at intervals he added. Any one apprehended destroying airport property will be turned over to West Virginia authorities for prosecution.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 spade	5 diamonds	Double
Pass	4 spades	Double	2 clubs
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Deuce of spades.

South exhibited a flawless display of dummy technique to land a vulnerable game for his side in today's hand.

East opened the bidding with one spade, though the preferred call in the upper strata would have been a preemptive bid of four spades. With a hand almost completely lacking in defensive strength it is a good policy to interpose the greatest possible obstacle to enemy communications.

Actually East ran into such a concentration of power in the South hand that barricading methods would not in this case have prevailed. South doubled, but West's bid of two clubs is doubtful procedure. North was pleased to be relieved of acting and East leaped into game in spades.

West's double of the five diamond bid is not far fetched after East's opening bid. South might well have been acting under pressure.

West led his singleton spade. East won and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed with an honor as West signalled with a high club. South then cashed the two high hearts. From West's behaviorior it appeared that he held the ace and jack of clubs. An effort must therefore be made to compel him to lead clubs in the end play. This may be accomplished by stripping out the hand.

A diamond to the nine put dummy in the lead and a heart was ruffed in the closed hand. Another low trump was led to dummy's ten and the last heart trumped away.

Trumps were now drawn. At this point, South played the queen of clubs and West found himself in a helpless position. If he chose to duck, declarer would simply lead another club toward dummy's king. So, he won with the ace and returned a low club. Declarer permitted it to run to his ten which produced the 11th and fulfilling trick.

Another report yesterday was that from Willis Smith, of Vale Summit, who collected $50.75 in a canvass of 40 homes in that area, making his calls after first distributing considerable American Cancer Society educational material.

Rain Brings Some Relief In Dry Spell

Forest Fire Danger Eased

Refreshing rain, the first real "drink of water" in the past two weeks in Cumberland and area, fell last night accompanied by a slight electrical storm which had been promised by the weatherman.

The rain, welcomed by foresters, firemen and farmers, resulted in immediate relief for the district and will cut back the potential of serious forest fires and aid growing crops.

William H. Johnson, district forester, pointed out that much more rain would be necessary to end the fire danger, which has reached the serious stage.

Earlier in the day a heavier rain soaked other parts of the state.

No additional forest fires were reported by Mr. Johnson yesterday.

Meanwhile the U. S. crop and weather reporters at the Department of Agriculture in College Park said that some soil was "dry to very dry" at the end of last week.

But yesterday's rain which fell sometime during the day in most of the state, will bring some relief, although quite a bit more rain is required.

The temperature dropped about six degrees during an early downpour last night at about 7:50. Later in the evening another downpour came.

Yesterday afternoon the temperature unofficially rose to 83 degrees and most residents agreed that officially or unofficially the weather was "hot."

The Weather Bureau predicts cloudy skies today with scattered thundershowers this afternoon and evening, and the mercury is expected to soar again to the high 80s.

Judge Defers His Decision In Car Dispute

Orders Action On Law Docket

After hearing evidence involving the alleged illegal sale of an automobile, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday afternoon deferred his decision and ordered the case transferred from the equity to the law docket in Allegany County Circuit.

He requested the three attorneys involved in the case to file the necessary replevin papers in the law docket in the next few days.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams Walters of Grahamtown, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, on February 25 filed the equity action against William Gulick, trading as Gulick's Auto Exchange, this city. In her bill of complaint she asserted that her husband, Charles Dewey Walters, forged her name to a certificate of title for her 1955 model automobile and sold the car to Gulick for $1,000 and a 1951 automobile with which he drove to Florida.

Husband Sentenced

Walters pleaded guilty to a criminal information charging him with forgery in Circuit Court March 6 and Chief Judge George Henderson sentenced him to four years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Gulick, through Attorney John M. Robb, filed a petition in court March 15 requesting the court to make Walters and the First National Bank of Frostburg third party defendants in the case.

Walters had obtained the car's title from Mrs. Walters' safe deposit box in the Frostburg bank.

Six witnesses were heard at yesterday's all-day hearing. They included Gulick, Mrs. Walters, Paula Chidester, teller at the Frostburg National Bank; Walters, who was brought back to the court from the House of Correction; John J. Robinson of the Liberty Trust Company, who testified concerning the usual banking procedure involving safe deposit boxes, and David R. Willetts, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank.

Attorneys Argue

Then the three attorneys argued their positions before Judge Harris concluded the session by ordering the case removed to the law docket, where he said it properly belongs.

Mr. Robb argued that his client had purchased the car in good faith. He contended that Mrs. Walters was partially responsible for the acts which followed by allowing her husband use of her automobile, by signing a new lease to her safe deposit box and by giving her husband a key to the safe deposit box which enabled him to get the title.

W. Earle Cobey, who appeared in the case as attorney for the bank, argued that the bank had done nothing wrong in allowing Walters access to the safe deposit box because his name was on the new lease to the box along with his wife's. He said the bank was following customary banking procedure.

Mn. Ryan contended in his closing argument that Mrs. Walters had not allowed her husband general use of the automobile but only to take her to and from work at Celanese. She allowed her husband to use the safe deposit box, but only for storing of his own valuables and not to remove anything belonging to her.

Statewide Fire, Rescue Exercise Set This Month

Allegany and Garrett county Civil Defense officials are winding up preparations for their part in "Operation Flame," the largest statewide fire and rescue exercise ever held in the nation.

Aimed at testing the operational readiness of fire and rescue units, the target date has been set for the latter part of this month.

It is anticipated that at least 400 pieces of apparatus will be moved when most of the fire departments in Maryland participate in the drill.

Cromwell C. Zembower, of La-Vale is one of four fire coordinators throughout the state and is in charge of the western section of Maryland. Other coordinators are James A. Jarman, Eastern area, Easton; F. Lee Cockey, Baltimore area, Towson, and Ralph N. Small, Washington area, Hyattsville.

Will Be CD-Controlled

Actual fires will be fought in a series of incidents that will be scattered throughout the state. Ultimate control of the exercise will rest with the State Civil Defense Control Center in Pikesville in charge of W. A. Chenoweth, acting CD deputy for fire, and R. E. Creaghan, training officer for the Maryland CD Agency.

Simultaneously with the fire exercise a series of rescue incidents will be held. CD rescue squads will be required to remove live "casualties" from debris. The members of the rescue units will render first aid at the scene and "casualties" will then be removed to hospitals by ambulance.

A "fill-in" system will assure that no locality is without fire protection. The entire state will be tied together by the state-wide CD radio network with Pikesville as control point. A secondary radio network has been provided by the H. C. Buckingham, state forester, by making available the radio net of the State Department of Forests and Parks.

Mass Feeding Planned

In this area plans are being made for an emergency mass feeding program sponsored by the Allegany County chapter of the Red Cross and the county CD organization.

Participants in the field exercise are now getting instructions in the program under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias of Allegany County public schools.

Allegany County fire coordinator is Assistant Fire Chief Alvey Poole of the Cumberland Fire Department, while George Comp of Deer Park is coordinator for neighboring Garrett County.

William G. Barger is Allegany County Civil Defense director.

15 More Men Charged In Morals Case

Others Will Be Questioned Today

Preliminary hearings for setting bonds for their appearance before the October grand jury were given 15 Allegany County youths yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on charges resulting from a morals case which came to light in April and has been growing ever since.

Thirteen of the men, ranging in ages from 18 to 25, were charged with statutory rape by the state's attorney's office, which has been conducting the investigation. The other two boys, both 17, have been charged with being delinquent juveniles.

The case broke April 23 with the arrest of a 13-year-old girl at the city's bus terminal for loitering, and resulted in two 20-year-old youths being charged with statutory rape involving her and another 13-year-old girl. The youths are Harvey C. Linn, Oldtown Road, and Dewey Emerick, Valley Street. Both have been released on $2,500 bond in the case.

Bonds Are Set

The 15 others who were charged yesterday also have been involved with the two girls over the past six months, the state's attorney's office said.

Ten of the group, all single, had their bonds set at $500 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick. These included the two juvenile boys.

The remaining eight are Richard E. Smith, 24, of 209 Bedford Street; Paul W. Fetters, 20, Corriganville; Gary L. Fuller, 20, Corriganville; Raymond Fuller, 18, Corriganville; William Crosten, 19, Valley Road; Samuel L. Lepley, 18, Homewood Addition; Robert W. Cross, 20, Bedford Road; and Wilbert G. Lavin, 23, of Mt. Savage.

Only Lavin and one of the juveniles have posted bonds, authorities said.

The remaining five married men had their bonds set at $1,000 each by the magistrate. They are Edgar W. Smith, 25, of 209 Bedford Street; Joseph J. Riley, 18, Corriganville; Charles Deans, 24, Barrelville; Charles E. Jenkins, 1c, Corriganville; and John W. Winner, 21, of Frostburg. Riley posted his bond immediately after the hearing, officials said.

More To Be Questioned

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya represented the state at the hearings. They indicated that there will be several more men questioned with regard to the case today.

Officials at the County Jail said last night that five of the men are in custody there. They are Paul Fetters, Gary Fuller, Charles Deans, Charles Jenkins and Robert Cross.

Several of the men already have indicated they will ask the state's attorney's office to arrange for immediate trial on criminal information instead of awaiting action of the grand jury in October.

Legislative Council Plans Meeting Today

Del. Hughes Will Represent County

Del. George R. Hughes Jr. will attend the first 1957 meeting of the Legislative Council in Baltimore today.

The council, which carries on the work of the General Assembly between sessions, will meet at 10:30 a. m. in the Baltimore City Hall.

Business will include a review of the actions of the 1957 Legislature on bills recommended by the Legislative Council.

Committee appointments will also be made, and as a minority floor leader Del. Hughes will probably be reappointed to the Budget and Finance Committee of the Council.

The Council today will also list new matters referred to it during the recent session, and several persons are slated to appear to make recommendations in person.

As minority floor leader, Del. Hughes is an ex-officio member of the Council and will be the only Allegany County legislator on the 20-member study group.

It is expected that several county legislators, however, will be appointed to serve on special sub-committees set up by the Council to study legislative suggestions.

The Council meets in the interim between regular sessions of the General Assembly to study previously enacted laws with the view of suggesting any needed amendments, recommends a program of legislation in the form of proposed bills and studies and makes suggestions to expedite the work of the Legislature.

Much of the business of the Council comes from recommendations made by the Assembly itself, from state agencies, bar associations and state groups and individuals.

Contact Basin Testing Begins At Filter Plant

Preliminary testing of the city's new contact basins at the Lake Gordon filtration plant got underway yesterday, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

He said the big concrete basins were filled as Edward A. Kidd and William H. Marean, members of the staff of Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the project, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, turned valves letting water flow into the tanks.

Mr. Edwards said the water will be left in the basins long enough to test for leaks and that if they pass that test, the city will authorize operating tests of the equipment.

The city has advised the firm which supplied equipment that the units will be ready for final adjustments and tests.

Testing of the units was made possible by a pipe connection completed at the plant last Friday which bypassed the old raw water basin, where water from Lake Gordon was allowed to settle to remove some of the sediment.

The basin, Mr. Edwards said, will soon be used as the clear well for storage of filtered water. He said this concrete basin has been drained and is being examined.

After any necessary repairs, the basin will be placed into operation.

The new contact units are combination mixing, flocculation and settling basins of circular upflow contact type, and will remove sludge from water before it is filtered.

One of the benefits of the equipment is that it will reduce the load on the filters and save precious water during dry spells by cutting down on the amount of water needed to backwash filters.

Keegan Says Police Need New Cruisers

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday the Police Department is badly in need of four new cruisers.

He said one of the four cruisers owned by the department is out of service all the time for repairs, and suggested that the vehicles be traded in each year.

At least two cruisers are in routine operation on each shift and all four are needed in emergencies, the commissioner said.

Local Jaycees Prepare Plans For Road-e-o

Written Test Due Saturday

Members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce are completing preparations for the fifth annual Teen-Age Road-e-o, a safe driving contest to determine the most skilled young driver in the Cumberland area.

William Hill, committee chairman, said that the first portion of the road-e-o will be a written test at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in Room 1 of Central YMCA. This is to determine that all of the drivers are well versed in the rules and regulations for safe driving.

The driving test is scheduled for Sunday, May 26, on the Wineow Street A&P's parking lot, where the road-e-o has been conducted annually since 1953.

Winners in the local contest will compete in the state championship road-e-o in June.

Chairman Hill said that most boys and girls between the ages of 16 through 19 who have drivers' licenses or temporary learners' permits are eligible. The exceptions are those drivers who have been found guilty of a moving traffic violation in the last six months.

Road-e-o applications may be obtained from Hill's Toy Store, North Centre Street, or from a driver education teacher at one of the high schools. Young drivers from the Cumberland area and Frostburg are eligible.

Those living in the lower portion of the George's Creek Valley will be eligible for the road-e-o sponsored by the Tri-Towns Jaycees.

VFW Drum Corps Schedules Two Night Rehearsals

The reorganized drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will conduct rehearsals Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. in preparation for participation in two May parades.

Harry Reiber, junior vice commander, who is spearheading the drive to reorganize the musical unit, urged all past members of the corps, buglers and drummers, to attend the rehearsals.

The drum and bugle corps has been invited to participate in the Armed Forces Day parade Saturday morning and in the Memorial Day parade May 30. Unless there is sufficient response Thursday and Friday nights the reorganization plans will be dropped.

County Education Leaders Begin 3-Day Workshop

Some 13 hand-picked leaders for parent-child study groups in the Allegany County public schools attended the opening session of a three-day leadership workshop at the Board of Education building on Washington Street between 10 a. m. and 2:45 p. m. yesterday.

Sessions will continue during the same hours today and tomorrow, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

Direction for the workshop is being provided by Dr. John Kurtz of the Child Study Institute at the University of Maryland; Kenneth Weisbrod, director of pupil personnel in Riverside County, Calif., now on leave under a fellowship at the Child Study Institute; Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel; Miss Esther Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Eugene J. Hopkins, all visiting teachers in the county pupil personnel department, and Mr. Higgins.

Mr. Higgins observed that the parent-child study groups are now completing their fourth year of operation. There are now 22 functioning groups with a total of about 375 participants. The group membership ranged between eight and 30. Some 112 meetings were held during the year, each group meeting between three and eight times.

Now the pupil personnel department believes these leaders, being trained in the current workshop, will be better able to direct all of the parent-child study groups as they discuss the growth and development of children. They will strive to get an average group membership of about 25 parents.

During the 1957-58 school year the parent - child study groups will be concerned with the relationship of children to each other. A number of specific questions were raised yesterday and will be brought to the attention of the various groups next fall. Why are some children popular? Why are other children not liked? What makes children overlooked or ignored? These are some of the questions.

Parents interested in these study groups will be registered in September and an attempt will be made to encourage regular attendance at the group meetings.

The leaders attending the three-day workshop are Mesdames Clara Mae Vogtman, Hill Street School; Herbert Natale, East Side School; Florence Snelson, Midland; Ruby Adams, Cresaptown; Ruth Gates, Parkside; Raymond McFarland, Hill Street; Calvin Keiter, Gephart; Ralph Isiminger, West Side; Catherine Kyle, Flintstone; Elizabeth Pfeiffer, Columbia Street; Arthur Howard, Centre Street; Margaret Wolfe, Oldtown, and Kathleen Kave, East Side.

Parents who never have attended these discussion groups and would like to, come September, are advised to contact the principal at the school their child attends.

William Walsh, president of the local chapter and co-chairman with J. Glenn Beall Jr. of the fund raising drive, said this was one of the largest contributions received to date. He also stated he was pleased with the response to the Cancer Society's appeal, and he hoped the drive would reach a successful conclusion soon.

Portable Telephone Equipment Is Now Being Installed For Sports Car Races

Because communications are one of the most important factors in high speed sports car races, William Carscaden, general chairman of the Cumberland National Sports Car Races, has requested the local C&P Telephone Company to install the communications system for the races here May 19.

Equipment for the intricate system has been readied during the past few days and actual installation began at the Cumberland Municipal Airport on Monday.

Harry Larrick, foreman in charge of installing the telephone equipment and keeping it in working condition, said it will take five to eight men the remainder of this week to put in the 16 miles of wire, switchboard, telephone poles, and associated equipment required.

Work is being done according to the standards required by the safety directors of the sports car races, telephone company officials said.

A safety circuit will be installed consisting of 14 telephones located at various points along the race course, in the car pits, the start-finish line, and at fire and ambulance stations. All of these telephones will be controlled by a master coordinator in a race control tower.

J. L. Catherman, commercial representative, stated yesterday that in addition to the safety circuit and its associated equipment, a switchboard will be installed in the tower with telephone extensions located at concession stands, entrance gates and at the first aid stations.

According to Mr. Catherman, all telephone equipment located in the field will be portable and can easily be disconnected and removed in case of emergency.

It is expected that the work of placing the lines and erecting the poles and equipment will be completed by 5 p. m. Friday and will be ready for inspection by the sports car races directors.

Rain Brings Some Relief In Dry Spell

Forest Fire Danger Eased

Refreshing rain, the first real "drink of water" in the past two weeks in Cumberland and area, fell last night accompanied by a slight electrical storm which had been promised by the weatherman.

The rain, welcomed by foresters, firemen and farmers, resulted in immediate relief for the district and will cut back the potential of serious forest fires and aid growing crops.

William H. Johnson, district forester, pointed out that much more rain would be necessary to end the fire danger, which has reached the serious stage.

Earlier in the day a heavier rain soaked other parts of the state.

No additional forest fires were reported by Mr. Johnson yesterday.

Meanwhile the U. S. crop and weather reporters at the Department of Agriculture in College Park said that some soil was "dry to very dry" at the end of last week.

But yesterday's rain which fell sometime during the day in most of the state, will bring some relief, although quite a bit more rain is required.

The temperature dropped about six degrees during an early downpour last night at about 7:50. Later in the evening another downpour came.

Yesterday afternoon the temperature unofficially rose to 83 degrees and most residents agreed that officially or unofficially the weather was "hot."

The Weather Bureau predicts cloudy skies today with scattered thundershowers this afternoon and evening, and the mercury is expected to soar again to the high 80s.

Contact Basin Testing Begins At Filter Plant

Preliminary testing of the city's new contact basins at the Lake Gordon filtration plant got underway yesterday, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

He said the big concrete basins were filled as Edward A. Kidd and William H. Marean, members of the staff of Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the project, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, turned valves letting water flow into the tanks.

Mr. Edwards said the water will be left in the basins long enough to test for leaks and that if they pass that test, the city will authorize operating tests of the equipment.

The city has advised the firm which supplied equipment that the units will be ready for final adjustments and tests.

Testing of the units was made possible by a pipe connection completed at the plant last Friday which bypassed the old raw water basin, where water from Lake Gordon was allowed to settle to remove some of the sediment.

The basin, Mr. Edwards said, will soon be used as the clear well for storage of filtered water. He said this concrete basin has been drained and is being examined.

After any necessary repairs, the basin will be placed into operation.

The new contact units are combination mixing, flocculation and settling basins of circular upflow contact type, and will remove sludge from water before it is filtered.

One of the benefits of the equipment is that it will reduce the load on the filters and save precious water during dry spells by cutting down on the amount of water needed to backwash filters.

Keegan Says Police Need New Cruisers

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday the Police Department is badly in need of four new cruisers.

He said one of the four cruisers owned by the department is out of service all the time for repairs, and suggested that the vehicles be traded in each year.

At least two cruisers are in routine operation on each shift and all four are needed in emergencies, the commissioner said.

Local Jaycees Prepare Plans For Road-e-o

Written Test Due Saturday

Members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce are completing preparations for the fifth annual Teen-Age Road-e-o, a safe driving contest to determine the most skilled young driver in the Cumberland area.

William Hill, committee chairman, said that the first portion of the road-e-o will be a written test at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in Room 1 of Central YMCA. This is to determine that all of the drivers are well versed in the rules and regulations for safe driving.

The driving test is scheduled for Sunday, May 26, on the Winegeow Street A&P's parking lot, where the road-e-o has been conducted annually since 1953.

Winners in the local contest will compete in the state championship road-e-o in June.

Chairman Hill said that most boys and girls between the ages of 16 through 19 who have drivers' licenses or temporary learners' permits are eligible. The exceptions are those drivers who have been found guilty of a moving traffic violation in the last six months.

Road-e-o applications may be obtained from Hill's Toy Store, North Centre Street, or from a driver education teacher at one of the high schools. Young drivers from the Cumberland area and Frostburg are eligible.

Those living in the lower portion of the George's Creek Valley will be eligible for the road-e-o sponsored by the Tri-Towns Jaycees.

VFW Drum Corps Schedules Two Night Rehearsals

The reorganized drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will conduct rehearsals Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. in preparation for participation in two May parades.

Harry Reiber, junior vice commander, who is spearheading the drive to reorganize the musical unit, urged all past members of the corps, buglers and drummers, to attend the rehearsals.

The drum and bugle corps has been invited to participate in the Armed Forces Day parade Saturday morning and in the Memorial Day parade May 30. Unless there is sufficient response Thursday and Friday nights the reorganization plans will be dropped.

County Education Leaders Begin 3-Day Workshop

Some 13 hand-picked leaders for parent-child study groups in the Allegany County public schools attended the opening session of a three-day leadership workshop at the Board of Education building on Washington Street between 10 a. m. and 2:45 p. m. yesterday.

Sessions will continue during the same hours today and tomorrow, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

Direction for the workshop is being provided by Dr. John Kurtz of the Child Study Institute at the University of Maryland; Kenneth Weisbrod, director of pupil personnel in Riverside County, Calif., now on leave under a fellowship at the Child Study Institute; Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel; Miss Esther Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Eugene J. Hopkins, all visiting teachers in the county pupil personnel department, and Mr. Higgins.

Mr. Higgins observed that the parent-child study groups are now completing their fourth year of operation. There are now 22 functioning groups with a total of about 375 participants. The group membership ranged between eight and 30. Some 112 meetings were held during the year, each group meeting between three and eight times.

Now the pupil personnel department believes these leaders, being trained in the current workshop, will be better able to direct all of the parent-child study groups as they discuss the growth and development of children. They will strive to get an average group membership of about 25 parents.

During the 1957-58 school year the parent - child study groups will be concerned with the relationship of children to each other. A number of specific questions were raised yesterday and will be brought to the attention of the various groups next fall. Why are some children popular? Why are other children not liked? What makes children overlooked or ignored? These are some of the questions.

Parents interested in these study groups will be registered in September and an attempt will be made to encourage regular attendance at the group meetings.

The leaders attending the three-day workshop are Mesdames Clara Mae Vogtman, Hill Street School; Herbert Natale, East Side School; Florence Snelson, Midland; Ruby Adams, Cresaptown; Ruth Gates, Parkside; Raymond McFarland, Hill Street; Calvin Keiter, Gephart; Ralph Isiminger, West Side; Catherine Kyle, Flintstone; Elizabeth Pfeiffer, Columbia Street; Arthur Howard, Centre Street; Margaret Wolfe, Oldtown, and Kathleen Kave, East Side.

Parents who never have attended these discussion groups and would like to, come September, are advised to contact the principal at the school their child attends.

Judge Defers His Decision In Car Dispute

Orders Action On Law Docket

After hearing evidence involving the alleged illegal sale of an automobile, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday afternoon deferred his decision and ordered the case transferred from the equity to the law docket in Allegany County Circuit.

He requested the three attorneys involved in the case to file the necessary replevin papers in the law docket in the next few days.

Mrs. Myrtle Williams Walters of Grahamtown, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, on February 25 filed the equity action against William Gulick, trading as Gulick's Auto Exchange, this city. In her bill of complaint she asserted that her husband, Charles Dewey Walters, forged her name to a certificate of title for her 1955 model automobile and sold the car to Gulick for $1,000 and a 1951 automobile with which he drove to Florida.

Husband Sentenced

Walters pleaded guilty to a criminal information charging him with forgery in Circuit Court March 6 and Chief Judge George Henderson sentenced him to four years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Gulick, through Attorney John M. Robb, filed a petition in court March 15 requesting the court to make Walters and the First National Bank of Frostburg third party defendants in the case.

Walters had obtained the car's title from Mrs. Walters' safe deposit box in the Frostburg bank.

Six witnesses were heard at yesterday's all-day hearing. They included Gulick, Mrs. Walters, Paula Chidester, teller at the Frostburg National Bank; Walters, who was brought back to the court from the House of Correction; John J. Robinson of the Liberty Trust Company, who testified concerning the usual banking procedure involving safe deposit boxes, and David R. Willetts, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank.

Attorneys Argue

Then the three attorneys argued their positions before Judge Harris concluded the session by ordering the case removed to the law docket, where he said it properly belongs.

Mr. Robb argued that his client had purchased the car in good faith. He contended that Mrs. Walters was partially responsible for the acts which followed by allowing her husband use of her automobile, by signing a new lease to her safe deposit box and by giving her husband a key to the safe deposit box which enabled him to get the title.

W. Earle Cobey, who appeared in the case as attorney for the bank, argued that the bank had done nothing wrong in allowing Walters access to the safe deposit box because his name was on the new lease to the box along with his wife's. He said the bank was following customary banking procedure.

Mn. Ryan contended in his closing argument that Mrs. Walters had not allowed her husband general use of the automobile but only to take her to and from work at Celanese. She allowed her husband to use the safe deposit box, but only for storing of his own valuables and not to remove anything belonging to her.

Bid Submitted For Widening US 40 Bridge

The George Construction Company of Cumberland yesterday submitted the only bid for widening and paving one of the original stone arch bridges in the National Road (US 40) just west of Frostburg.

The State Roads Commission opened the $22,530 bid at noon yesterday in Baltimore.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said the limestone arch, built in the early 1830s, is twelve feet wide and six feet high. He said a concrete box will be added to each end of the arch, and the top will be paved.

The bridge is located at the foot of Big Savage Mountain on a curve just west of Frostburg.

Statewide Fire, Rescue Exercise Set This Month

Allegany and Garrett county Civil Defense officials are winding up preparations for their part in "Operation Flame," the largest statewide fire and rescue exercise ever held in the nation.

Aimed at testing the operational readiness of fire and rescue units, the target date has been set for the latter part of this month.

It is anticipated that at least 400 pieces of apparatus will be moved when most of the fire departments in Maryland participate in the drill.

Cromwell C. Zembower, of LaVale is one of four fire coordinators throughout the state and is in charge of the western section of Maryland. Other coordinators are James A. Jarman, Eastern area, Easton; F. Lee Cockey, Baltimore area, Towson, and Ralph N. Small, Washington area, Hyattsville.

Will Be CD-Controlled

Actual fires will be fought in a series of incidents that will be scattered throughout the state. Ultimate control of the exercise will rest with the State Civil Defense Control Center in Pikesville in charge of W. A. Chenoweth, acting CD deputy for fire, and R. E. Creaghan, training officer for the Maryland CD Agency.

Simultaneously with the fire exercise a series of rescue incidents will be held. CD rescue squads will be required to remove live "casualties" from debris. The members of the rescue units will render first aid at the scene and "casualties" will then be removed to hospitals by ambulance.

A "fill-in" system will assure that no locality is without fire protection. The entire state will be tied together by the state-wide CD radio network with Pikesville as control point. A secondary radio network has been provided by the H. C. Buckingham, state forester, by making available the radio net of the State Department of Forests and Parks.

Mass Feeding Planned

In this area plans are being made for an emergency mass feeding program sponsored by the Allegany County chapter of the Red Cross and the county CD organization.

Participants in the field exercise are now getting instructions in the program under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias of Allegany County public schools.

Allegany County fire coordinator is Assistant Fire Chief Alvey Poole of the Cumberland Fire Department, while George Comp of Deer Park is coordinator for neighboring Garrett County.

William G. Barger is Allegany County Civil Defense director.

Hudson Nix, secretary of the fund committee, said the committee made no attempt to break down the donations to neighboring areas, although the money in the fund was contributed by employes in the nearby section.

William Walsh, president of the local chapter and co-chairman with J. Glenn Beall Jr. of the fund raising drive, said this was one of the largest contributions received to date. He also stated he was pleased with the response to the Cancer Society's appeal, and he hoped the drive would reach a successful conclusion soon.

15 More Men Charged In Morals Case

Others Will Be Questioned Today

Preliminary hearings for setting bonds for their appearance before the October grand jury were given 15 Allegany County youths yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on charges resulting from a morals case which came to light in April and has been growing ever since.

Thirteen of the men, ranging in ages from 18 to 25, were charged with statutory rape by the state's attorney's office, which has been conducting the investigation. The other two boys, both 17, have been charged with being delinquent juveniles.

The case broke April 23 with the arrest of a 13-year-old girl at the city's bus terminal for loitering, and resulted in two 20-year-old youths being charged with statutory rape involving her and another 13-year-old girl. The youths are Harvey C. Linn, Oldtown Road, and Dewey Emerick, Valley Street. Both have been released on $2,500 bond in the case.

Bonds Are Set

The 15 others who were charged yesterday also have been involved with the two girls over the past six months, the state's attorney's office said.

Ten of the group, all single, had their bonds set at $500 by Magistrate J. Milton Dick. These included the two juvenile boys.

The remaining eight are Richard E. Smith, 24, of 209 Bedford Street; Paul W. Fetters, 20, Corriganville; Gary L. Fuller, 20, Corriganville; Raymond Fuller, 18, Corriganville; William Crosten, 19, Valley Road; Samuel L. Lepley, 18, Homewood Addition; Robert W. Cross, 20, Bedford Road; and Wilbert G. Lavin, 23, of Mt. Savage.

Only Lavin and one of the juveniles have posted bonds, authorities said.

The remaining five married men had their bonds set at $1,000 each by the magistrate. They are Edgar W. Smith, 25, of 209 Bedford Street; Joseph J. Riley, 18, Corriganville; Charles Deans, 24, Barrelville; Charles E. Jenkins, 1., Corriganville; and John W. Winner, 21, of Frostburg. Riley posted his bond immediately after the hearing, officials said.

More To Be Questioned

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty and County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya represented the state at the hearings. They indicated that there will be several more men questioned with regard to the case today.

Officials at the County Jail said last night that five of the men are in custody there. They are Paul Fetters, Gary Fuller, Charles Deans, Charles Jenkins and Robert Cross.

Several of the men already have indicated they will ask the state's attorney's office to arrange for immediate trial on criminal information instead of awaiting action of the grand jury in October.

Voting Lists Are Being Copied

Names and addresses of the city's registered voters are being secured at City Hall.

The task of typing data on the some 12,758 voters listed on registration records was begun Monday in the City Hall office by Miss Margaret Lancaster, and Mrs. Sara Rank.

The latter told a reporter they were asked to come in and make up the lists by R. L. Spiker.

Mr. Spiker was one of the backers of a petition which asked a referendum on the proposed $500,000 Urban Development Bond issue and is supporting petitions sponsored by Albert A. Doub, local attorney, asking a vote on the proposal to boost the operating tax limitation 25 cents to $1.50.

Portable Telephone Equipment Is Now Being Installed For Sports Car Races

Because communications are one of the most important factors in high speed sports car races, William Carscaden, general chairman of the Cumberland National Sports Car Races, has requested the local C&P Telephone Company to install the communications system for the races here May 19.

Equipment for the intricate system has been readied during the past few days and actual installation began at the Cumberland Municipal Airport on Monday.

Harry Larrick, foreman in charge of installing the telephone equipment and keeping it in working condition, said it will take five to eight men the remainder of this week to put in the 16 miles of wire, switchboard, telephone poles, and associated equipment required.

Work is being done according to the standards required by the safety directors of the sports car races, telephone company officials said.

A safety circuit will be installed consisting of 14 telephones located at various points along the race course, in the car pits, the start-finish line, and at fire and ambulance stations. All of these telephones will be controlled by a master coordinator in a race control tower.

J. L. Catherman, commercial representative, stated yesterday that in addition to the safety circuit and its associated equipment, a switchboard will be installed in the tower with telephone extensions located at concession stands, entrance gates and at the first aid stations.

According to Mr. Catherman, all telephone equipment located in the field will be portable and can easily be disconnected and removed in case of emergency.
